ORANGEBURG COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT ANNOUNCES THE LAUNCH OF THE "OCSD ARTS" DIGITAL MAGAZINE

ORANGEBURG, S.C. – In line with its strategic plan objectives from last year, Orangeburg County School District (OCSD) is thrilled to announce the launch of the "OCSD Arts" digital magazine. This initiative is set to be released quarterly, celebrating the remarkable talent of students in art, music, dance, and beyond.

"This magazine is not just a representation of art, but a testament to the dedication, passion, and talents of our students. Our strategic plan emphasized our commitment to nurturing the artistic gifts of our students and providing them with platforms to shine. 'OCSD Arts' is a reflection of that commitment," said Dr. Shawn Foster, Superintendent of Orangeburg County School District.

"OCSD Arts" aims to highlight the creativity that thrives within the walls of the Orangeburg County schools, connecting students, educators, parents, and the community at large with the cultural heartbeat of the district.

"Art has the power to move, inspire, and tell stories that might otherwise go unheard. Through this digital magazine, we are amplifying the voices of our young artists and showcasing the diversity and depth of talent in our district," said Deedra Wright, OCSD Related Arts Coordinator.

For those eager to dive into the pages of this artistic showcase, "OCSD Arts" can be viewed on the official Orangeburg County School District website under the "Related Arts" section or by clicking here: https://www.ocsdsc.org/ocsdartsmagazine
