Clare Long '16 and the entire Long family (including her uncle Chris Long '91 and father David Long '86) are shaping the next generation of leaders! Following a special Veterans Day Chapel service this fall featuring remarks from Brigadier General Kyle B. Ellison, Clare and her family helped organize and sponsor a trip to Marine Base Quantico for twenty students as part of the Sophomore Leadership and Character Development program. During their visit, they participated in leadership exercises, learned about the Marine Corps, and toured historical sites nearby. This experience was especially significant to Clare, who shared, "I think it's unbelievably important to understand what it means to be a leader. In today's society, it takes a great man or woman to stand up for what they believe. It is crucial that today's youth understand the importance of what it means to stand up and lead by example." FEATURED ALUMNI

Minsoo Kim '99

Minsoo Kim '99 is setting an exceptional example for giving back within the alumni community. As a member of Pennington's Board of Trustees, Kim has exhibited his leadership through generous support and advocacy for the School, including establishing two named scholarship endowment funds. Based in South Korea, Kim played an active role on the planning committee for this past November's Asia Alumni Festival (see event photos here) and has been a resource for international alumni, helping build the School's strong Asian alumni network. Read more about Kim's Pennington experience, current endeavors, and the faculty inspiration for his commitment to student financial aid.

Kenza Idrissi '21

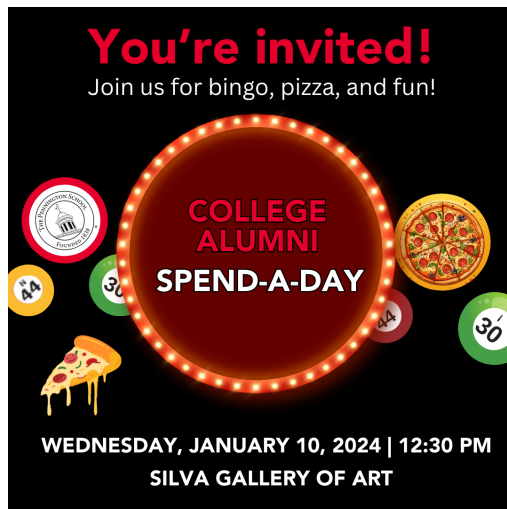

Kenza Idrissi '21 is using her leadership and international experiences to advance the rights of marginalized communities worldwide. Idrissi is a junior at Villanova University studying political science and global interdisciplinary studies. This past summer, she completed an internship with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and currently serves as the vice president of diversity, equity, and inclusion for Villanova's student government association. Her academic focus is on immigration and the concept of home, which she will explore as an exchange student in Morocco this spring. Read more about her leadership experiences, cross-cultural exchanges, and advocacy work.

Jamie Moore '03

Jamie Moore '03 has been a Pennington faculty member since 2007 and currently teaches Middle School social studies. He will travel to France this spring for a faculty exchange program exploring collaboration opportunities between classrooms on a global level. Moore says, "It is going to be a very exciting trip! I will be learning about their middle school programming and connections in the STEM curriculum, exploring museums and sights related to the eighth grade interdisciplinary unit on World War II and the Holocaust, and researching a possible upcoming summer opportunity in the arts." Read more about his Pennington story and artistic pursuits as a printmaking artist and musician in the latest Faculty Spotlight, written by fellow faculty member Peter Chase.
