Students grew in DECISION-MAKING ability as each trimester they PLANNED with parents and counselors the classes they'd take for twelve weeks. Field trips, such as the one to the Minneapolis Aviation Training Center, as well as guest speakers and career consultants, gave further guidance toward wise choices of career goals.

Taking care is part of craftsmanship.

City champs deserve the best of attention.

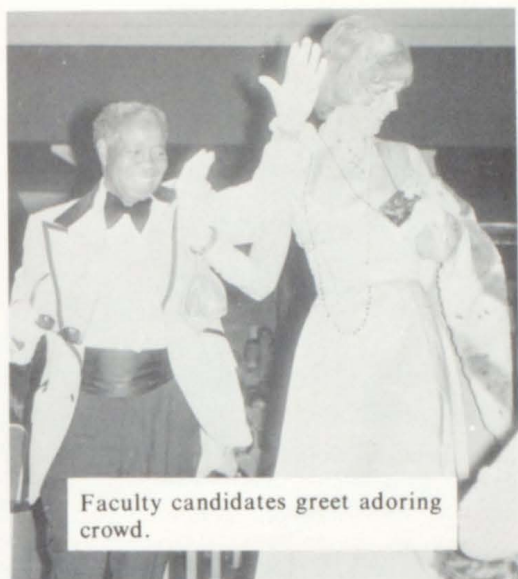

Empathy in a crucial situation.

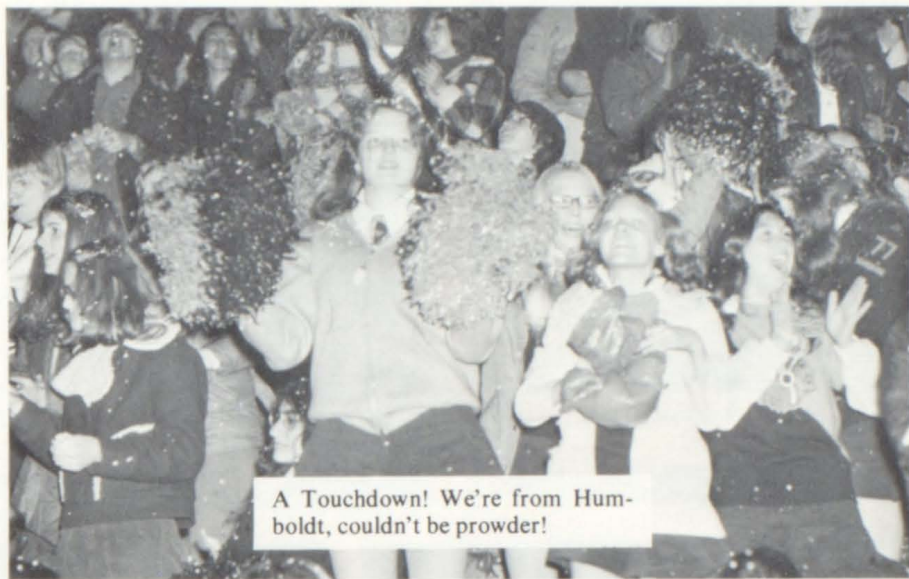

"Now, if I take history first hour . . ."

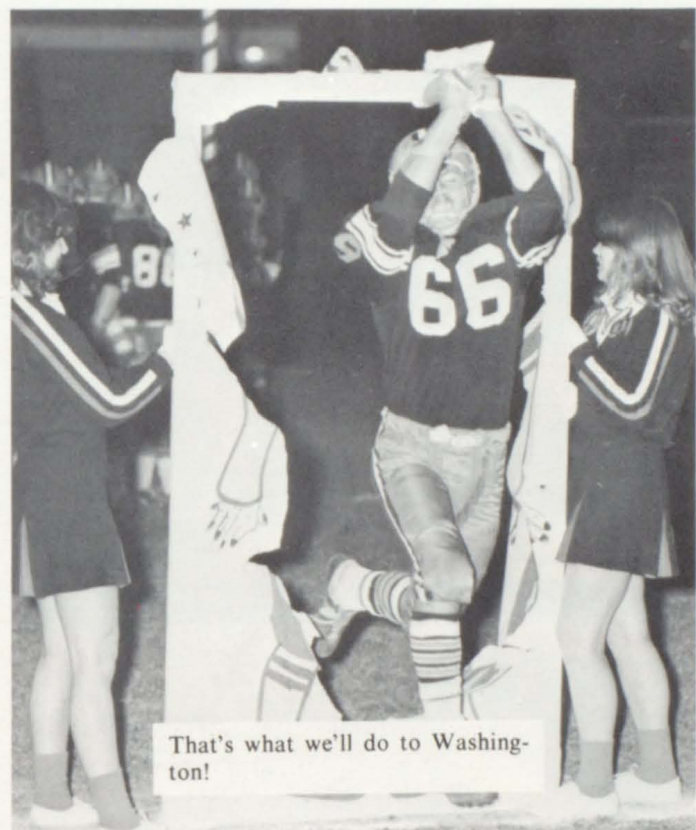

True involvement extends to others. Thoughtful action reflect CARE and CONCERN. Again this year Humboldt helped Santa by collecting food for poor families in the school area. Counselors and teachers helped unsnarl the mazes of trimester scheduling. In sports, fans attended and cheered the teams to victory or lent support even in defeat. Coaches yelled advice from the sidelines or tended strained muscles. Success in the classroom came through attention to detail whether in carefully weighing and measuring a chemistry experiment or finely grinding turtle footstools. Pride and satisfaction in a hard fought game or a project skillfully produced were their own rewards.

Indians tie Harding for city championship

Driving for big yardage against Washington is Don Day, 34. Humboldt won that homecoming game, 22-0, to assure the tie for first place in the city with Harding.

After an initial loss to Harding, the Indians battled upward to win all of the rest of their games to tie with Harding for first place in the St. Paul Conference. Balloting by the city's coaches resulted in Humboldt as their choice to play Minneapolis Southwest for the Twin City title.

Coach Ryan credited the excellent season to offense. "The calibre of our offense has now caught up to the calibre of our defense. We installed a new type of offense four years ago and it is now completely incorporated."

Outstanding in offensive play was Rick Lopez who led scoring with 62 points and gained 556 yards until he was sidelined with a broken ankle late in the Murray game. The Indians won their final game of the season against Washington without Rick and this was convincing enough proof to the St. Paul coaches that Humboldt was championship calibre.

Indians leap for joy at scoring the second and deciding touchdown against arch-rival Central. The win gave Humboldt a share of the conference title, in a tie with Harding. Rick Lopez scored both touchdowns in the decisive game which took Central out of the three-way first-place tie.

Southwest subdues Humboldt in TC game

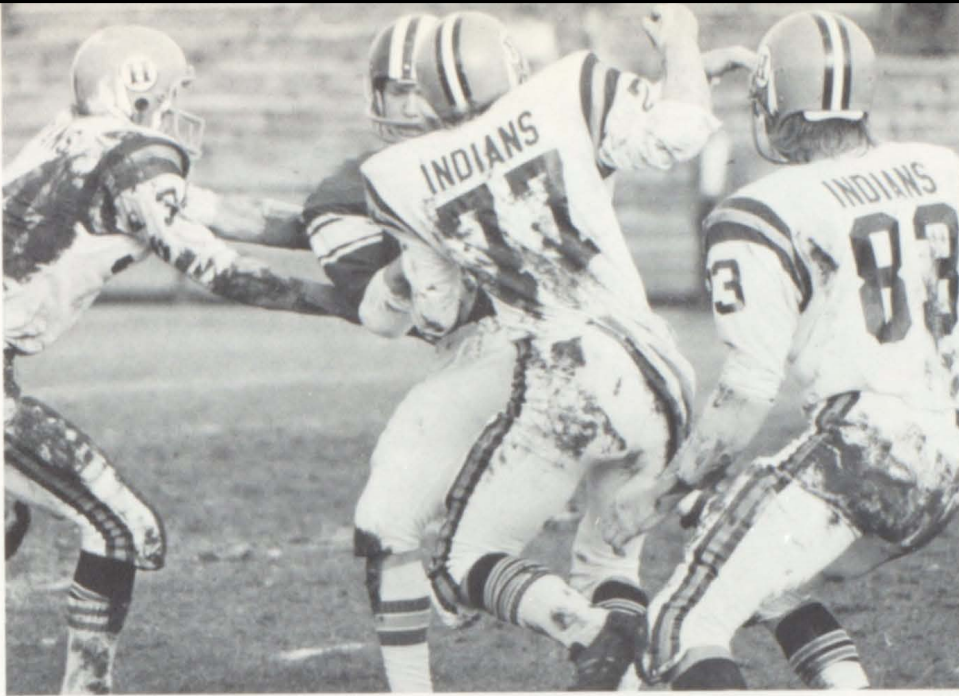

Several hundred hopeful Indian fans gathered under brilliant fall sunshine at Minneapolis Parade Stadium on November 2 to watch the team compete with Minneapolis Southwest for the Twin City title. It was Humboldt's first appearance in the game since 1966 and only the fourth in the school's history.

By the end of the game the team's white and orange jerseys were black with mud from the soggy football field, and the fans' spirits were dimmer after watching the Indian's 20-0 defeat.

Both teams were scoreless for the first two quarters as Humboldt's strong defensive line held. Early in the second half a Humboldt turnover resulted in a quick Southwest touchdown. Another Indian turnover and a later successful drive gave Southwest the final margin of victory.

B Squad has 3-3-1 Season

"Good" was the word Coach Ekbom used to describe the 3-3-1 season for B-squad football. "The team was young but enthusiastic," he commented.

Especially memorable was the game with Mechanic Arts in which Humboldt trailed 14-0 at halftime, but came back to score three touchdowns and two run-in conversions for the final 22-14 victory.

Next year the schedule will include all other city B-teams.

Reflecting the rising interest in girls' athletics, a new tradition began the week of November 2-5 with the first girls' district volleyball tournaments at Highland Park and Phalen Park schools. Humboldt was represented by the team of 15 girls, and they defeated Murray and played one close game with Johnson, who went on to become city champs.

"This year's team had a fifty percent season," said Coach Ziemski. She has high hopes for next year, possibly the state tournaments. The team will be losing four seniors, but this year's most valuable player, Junior Kim Hagen, will be returning.

The team's best games were against Highland, Tartan, and Murray in a come-from-behind win.

Team sets records

These members of the '74 girls' track team set new Humboldt records: Kathy Letourneau ran the 60 yard hurdles at 9:6, and she ran the mile at 6:42.8. Karen Romero ran the 110 yard hurdles at 19:4. Running the 880 Medley Relay at 2:21.2 were: Denise Ferber, Brenda Drinnin, Theresa Abbot, and Mary Bakko. Kathy Letourneau leaped 15 feet $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in the running long jump. Throwing discus at 86 feet $\frac{1}{2}$ inches was Karen Romero.

Award holders were; Kathy Letourneau as the "Most Valuable Runner," and Jean Dwyer, Kathy Letourneau, and Karen Romero, as "Streakers of the Week."

Many of the girls on the track team, were also active in other school functions, or had part time jobs. At the beginning of the season, there were 25 girls at the end of the season, there were only 12 girls left.

Twin City Game

Humboldt 30 - 15 Edison

This year was the fifth year that our powerful wrestling team won the city championship. Our opponent for the Twin City game was Edison. For the first time in 13 years, St. Paul won the Twin City championship. The wrestlers then went on to the Districts and Regions. The only wrestler who got past those tournaments, qualifying for State, was Tom Albrecht.

Named Prep Athlete of the Week by the Minneapolis Star, Ron Otto earned the honor by breaking a school record held by Felix Casillas in the 1971-72 season. He made 19 pins and 130 points. Ron made 15 pins and 134 1/2 points in the 1974-75 season. He and Mike Munos were the two top scorers in this year's team. Mike made 7 pins and 95 1/2 points.

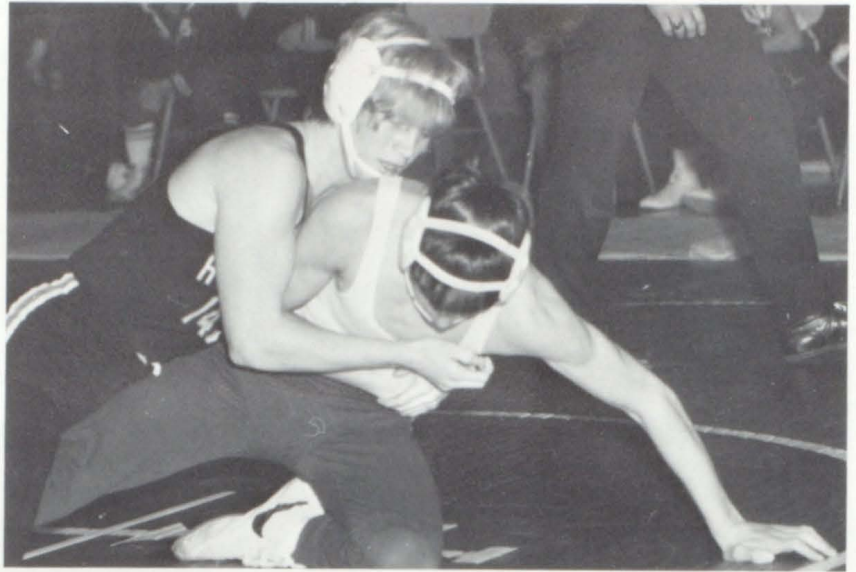

3 unbeaten on B-team; Squad has 7-1 season

B-squad wrestlers finished the season second to Johnson with a 7-1 record. During the regular season Greg Munos, Ron Lissick, Joe Ruiz, and Pete Casillas had unbeaten records, while Rodney Buchite and Tony Mercado had one defeat. Rodney also had three varsity victories.

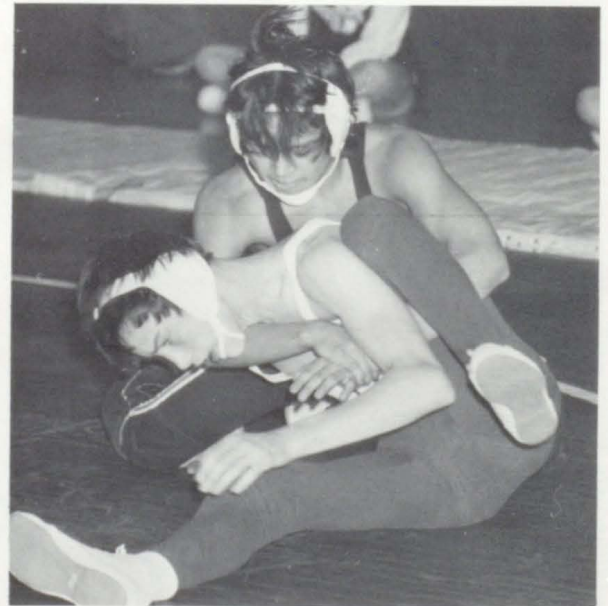

Humboldt was runner-up in B districts. Greg Munos, Ron Lissick, and Joe Ruiz took firsts in their weights.

Three players lettered: Karen Romero, Molly Adamez, and Lisa Martin. "If all the underclassmen return next year, they have had valuable playing experience which will be a great advantage in the seasons to come," stated Coach Mary Haug.

Zigan get All-City, WCCO honors

Although the A-basketball team was unfortunate this year, there were some high spots. "Two of the most exciting games were the second round Johnson and Murray games," states Coach Rynard, "with Humboldt winning the Johnson game in the last quarter by five points. We lost the Murray game in overtime after having a chance to win the game with two seconds left in regular time."

Captain Jim Zigan received "All-City" honors and was named to the WCCO Prep Parade "Team of the Week." Jim was also high scorer with a 15.6 game point average. The next highest scorer was Tom Hernandez followed by Jerry Bandholz and Greg Jenniges.

B-Squad 5 - 11

Ending February 24, the B-squad basketball team had a 5-11 record. High scorer for the team was sophomore Mike Stephenson, who averaged 15 points per game.

“Until the Monroe game, the season had been a bit disappointing,” said Coach Orville Hogan. “I feel we should have played much better in many of the games.

Many of the team members played in both the A and B games, and will benefit the squad next year.

Pucksters early season promise freezes up

At the beginning of the season the pucksters appeared strong by tying Harding in the preview and beating Highland. But the Indians cooled off when several players were injured and untested skaters had to take over.

Captain Don Day and his team struggled for a 8-12-0 record. After this year of experience, the returning team members look forward to a better season. Next year's hockey captains will be Jim Olson and Mike Gentle.

"The Humbolt-Murray game was outstanding due to the excellent pitching both teams received from their starting pitchers," was Coach Rynard's comment on one of the most satisfying games of the 1974 baseball season.

One run in the second inning put the Indians ahead and proved to be enough to beat Murray, though that team threatened several times. Pitcher Paul Hieb was able to maintain the shutout, and a second Humboldt score in the sixth inning put the game in the Indians win column. Both pitchers gave up only two hits each, with the Indians making the most of their opportunities.

Buttons, bakery, paper, pep, raise funds for wide variety of cheerleading activities

"This year's cheerleaders are a great and enthusiastic bunch," said Mrs. Hanson, the girls' advisor. A variety of activities carried out by the group seemed to prove her statement.

The girls earned money for their uniforms and for art supplies from button and bake sales and a paper drive. The supplies were put to generous use after Mr. Ryan's announcement that the team would play in the Twin City game. Between extra practices, the girls found time to decorate halls, the auditorium and even the bus for the team.

Gymnastics team members hosted their first parents' night on February 25. They treated their audience to a 61-55 victory over Mechanic Arts. David Vanderheyden took a first in the floor exercises; Kevin Aeilts placed first in rings. Though the team had a losing season the margins were close. Scores for gymnastics meets were not made available to the LIFE.

Student Council class involves many activities

Members of student council executive board are not elected; they take the class from advisor, Mr. Longsdorf, as an elective to discuss the problems of the school and to plan extra activities to get the student body involved. Some of the activities planned were, Homecoming week, H. H. S. drive, dances, Sno-Daze week, student exchange, picnic, selling buttons, and making sure bulletin boards are up to date.

Valentine's Day was celebrated with the Business Club sponsoring singing valentine exchange. The week culminated with SNO-DAY on Friday. Senior high students went to Owendigo Park for their snowy celebration, while the junior high played and picnicked at Simley Park in Minneapolis.

Finally the crown found Grace and everyone burst into riotous applause.

Indians rip apart Washington's Prexies to share championship with Harding

A powder-puff football tournament, won by the senior girls, was the first event of Homecoming Week which started October 21. Thursday was declared "Humboldt Sweatshirt Day" by the Student Council.

The coronation and dance were both held Thursday night. The Mystics played at the dance, held in the gym. Behind the band was a huge sparkling mural of the moon and the stars.

Friday night was the climax of the whole week. It was Parent's Night as well as Homecoming. The Alumni Band and Cheerleaders performed at the game. Helium balloons, to be set free at the kick-off, were sold. The stands were full of excited fans who got exactly what they wanted — a Humboldt victory. The Prexies were defeated 22-0. After the game parents, team members, coaches, and fans returned to school and to the cafeteria to await the St. Paul coaches' decision, sending the Mighty Indians to the Twin City Game.

Jr. high student council has busy, successful year

The junior high student council has had their best year ever in money raising and in sponsoring many activities.

Some of the activities they participated in are: the orientation lecture, helping seventh graders find their classrooms and lockers, a Halloween movie "The Birds," the Thanksgiving turkey-in-a-basket drive, the teachers' baby picture contest and Sno-Day in February. They also sponsored Santagrams and the honor roll.

For the second year, the Humboldt Helps Santa drive provided fifteen needy families with hams and other Christmas trimmings. Other senior high student council activities included assemblies for the HHS drive, and Old Tyme Dance, and the Homecoming activities, as well as the Sno-Day dress up days and activities at Owendigo Park.

Sponsored by the senior high student council, the Old Tyme Dance was a chance to see how Mom and Dad lived it up as the various fashions and dance steps of the '40's and '50's were on parade. Though not a financial success, the event was pronounced "fun" by the participants.

Theme of 1974 prom "Just You and Me."

One red rose decorated each table, contributing to a romantic atmosphere. The theme of the 1974 Junior-Senior Prom was, "Just You and Me." Although tripping through waltzes and polkas may not conjure up any romantic images, it didn't in any way hinder a couple's enjoyment of the evening. Formal clothes, fancy refreshments, and a very special night on the town made everyone feel festive and worldly.

The prom was sponsored by the Junior Class, advised by Mr. David Hart.

Joie de vivre could well describe the French Club members as they sampled a variety of French. Club officers were: President: Jean Dwyer; Vice President: Julie Norton; Secretary: Amy Langlois; Treasurer: Sue Sura. Activities included a Christmas Variety Show for Cherokee Heights, St. Matthews, Park Elementary. They sang Christmas carols, taught the children several French songs and performed the Can-can dance to the delight and embarrassment of the grade school boys.

The club's director, Dianne Hopen, spent many long hours after school holding fencing and cooking classes for interested students.

Each class took a turn producing a play which they then performed for the other French students. The plays were a success as was another year of French club under Dianne Hopen.

Also performing at the Christmas Concert and Homecoming coronation was the Girls' Ensemble. Though the "B" choir did not perform alone they sang with "A" choir.

Students earn academic credit for services

Stage crew members were always available for plays and other school productions. This year they also met as a regular class to make backstage repairs.

Mrs. Barron had student aides each hour who helped her keep the library running smoothly. Aides wrote out overdue slips, repaired books, and checked out reading materials for students and faculty.

Deadlines for small staffs make life hectic

According to advisor Mrs. Janis Carter, three staffers produced especially high quality writing for the school newspaper, the ARROW. Mike Brue wrote a colorful, accurate sports column; Lisa Corral was an excellent new writer, and Cindy Munkwitz was the most reliable. "Despite the lack of staff members and failure to meet deadlines the staff felt great satisfaction in getting the paper out," said Mrs. Carter.

The few members of the LIFE staff started out into the dark mornings to attend their zero hour yearbook class. Making it a little easier to get up so early was the fact that for the first time staffers earned one trimester English credit for their work on yearbook. But being able to say "I have a page finished" was almost as much reward.

Business Club field trips are career oriented

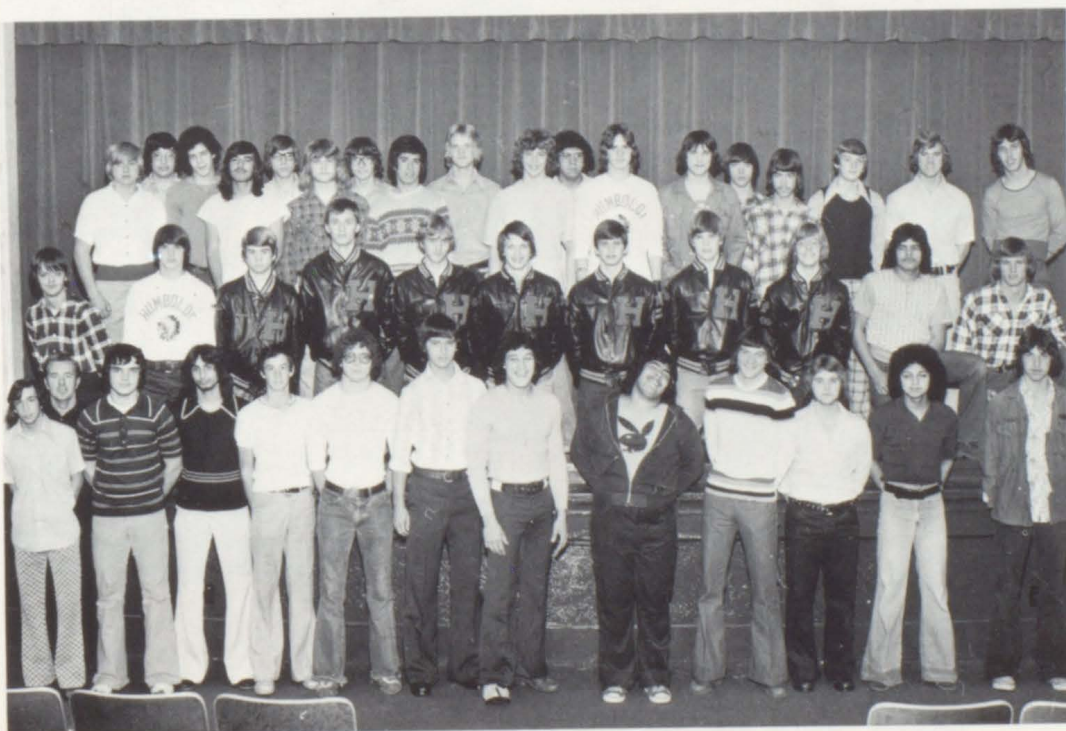

Humboldt High School Business Club is open to any student interested in a career in business. Primarily it is made up of students enrolled in shorthand or transcription classes. These students take field trips to post-high centers such as Rasmussen Business College, Inver Hills Jr. College, with the purpose of looking at what is available for future study. The girls also take field trips to businesses to observe what new facilities they will be working with in the future. Fun is also part of the club, with picnics, bowling, and other recreational activities. Money for business club comes mainly from selling balloons and confetti at the football games, and operating the Valentine Day telegram service. This year's president was Cindy Bakko, and the vice-president was Patty Wallner.

Band takes third place in Winter Carnival Show

Humboldt should be extra proud of its band this year. Under the direction of Mr. Ray Schweizer, the band took third place during this year's Winter Carnival Pre-Parade Show, held on January 27, where they competed with other schools from the city in the St. Paul Civic Center. Not only were they performing before hundreds of people, but the show was also being televised.

Besides the many school functions, the band has put on concerts at Wilder Nursing Home, Riverview and Cherokee Heights elementary schools, the Child Development Center, and the National Major-ette Contest.

"We were really nervous and kind of scared," said some of the girls when they performed with the Band during the Winter Carnival Pre-Parade Show. All the hours of practice paid off because Humboldt took third place in the marching and performing competition.

Usually it isn't quite so scary at other parades, such as the Mexican-American Parade, football games, the Twin City Game, and concerts.

Administration enjoys student contact.

Along with his regular duties as principal, Mr. Arley Ludwig did much of the planning for the new school. Mr. Ettlinger was in charge of organizing courses into a working schedule. After two years at Humboldt, Mr. Rhome said that he would never go back to teaching. He enjoyed dealing with more students than he would have been able to in a regular teaching position.

Mrs. Andersen was the chief clerk in charge of the others. Mrs. Dewall was in charge of attendance; Mrs. Hedin, the school's finances. Mrs. Hilker helped to data process report cards and to schedule students.

Arena scheduling changes jobs of guidance personnel.

The guidance office used to be the place where you went to get scheduled. Now that arena scheduling is used at Humboldt the jobs of a counselor are different. Mrs. Lee helped seniors decide what to do after high school. She also helped with personal and family problems. Mr. Ousdigian worked primarily with ninth and tenth graders; Mr. Featherstone with junior high. In addition to the counselors, students could bring problems to Mr. Costa or Mr. Novak.

Senior social studies classes spent the week of October 4 with various representatives of the armed forces including the Navy, Marines and Army. Seniors heard talks and viewed movies illustrating what these groups do and the jobs available for recruits.

Accounting students work at own speed.

This year Mr. Hogen tried a new approach in his accounting classes, by letting the students work at their own speed. He calls it "individualized instruction." He also started a winter Accounting IA class.

Learning how to use business machines is an important part of a secretary's or clerk's job. Mrs. LaVigne taught a business machines class, and the secretarial class also spent a few weeks, learning how to use such equipment as the ditto machine, calculator, and transcribing machine.

One technique that is necessary to get almost any kind of business related job, is knowing how to type. Mr. Madsen assisted typing students.

'Performance' characterizes music classes

What do music students learn? You could hear the answer to that question at pep assemblies, concerts, and in the halls at Christmas, results of hours of practice in the classrooms and before and after school hours.

From beginners to the more proficient, students found a place in the music program. Concert band students, sixty advanced, serious-minded musicians, could also learn further theory in study band. Mr. Korum's B chorus was the training ground for the A chorus which helped provide music for "Oliver", this year's operetta.

Art classes get Kiln, looms

"Finally!" was the reaction of the jewelry class when their new enameling kiln arrived at the end of second trimester. The kiln is used for copper enameling and for burning out out molds for silver cast jewelry. New this year, the art metals course will expand next fall to include Jewelry I, II, and III.

Art crafts class added four frame looms for more advanced students and will also divide into three sections in fall.

Individualization and reading help to meet every student's needs

Extra help in reading was given to junior high students. Reading aides worked with students to improve speed, comprehension, and vocabulary using tape cassettes, film strips and a variety of reading materials.

Students learn more in small health classes

"With Mr. Reif and Mr. Petschl each teaching a unit of health this year, the classes are smaller and easier to teach," said Mrs. Siegfried, health instructor. Students learn about grooming, personality, diseases, community health, and health careers. Drug education is no longer required, but it is offered as an elective. Because health is such a changing field, much information is taken from current publications.

Physical education is required of grades 7-10. Students work to achieve physical fitness and coordination through exercise and sports. Unfortunately the gym and facilities shared by the boys and girls are becoming outdated and inadequate.

Work world focus of OJT

Zero hour classes of occupational relations and occupational survey were the motivation behind the early morning risers who took part in the OJT (on the job training) programs this year. How to get and keep a job, how to manage money, and how to be a happy and effective person, were subjects of study in the classes.

Besides these classes, students in OJT were required to take one English and one social studies class every trimester. After third hour, members in the program went to their jobs. They worked between 15 and 25 hours a week in manufacturing, sales, food service, clerical work and grocery carry-out.

Math figures come into view

Mathematics courses have gone through a period of change in recent years. This year has seen an even greater use of audio visuals including film, calculators, and the use of computer produced pictured designed by the students.

Language departments offer new courses;

New course offerings this year added variety to the usual English fare. In addition to the regular curriculum, students in the senior high could choose Non-fiction, MASH 2 (Mystery, Adventure, Suspense /Science Fiction, and Horror), Humor in Literature, Drama as Literature, and Everyday English.

Though the paperbacks required to implement the added courses went up by 35¢ each, the English department was able to keep up with such inflation. The junior high, however, was not as fortunate. New textbooks were ordered but had to be held up and only half the order will be filled.

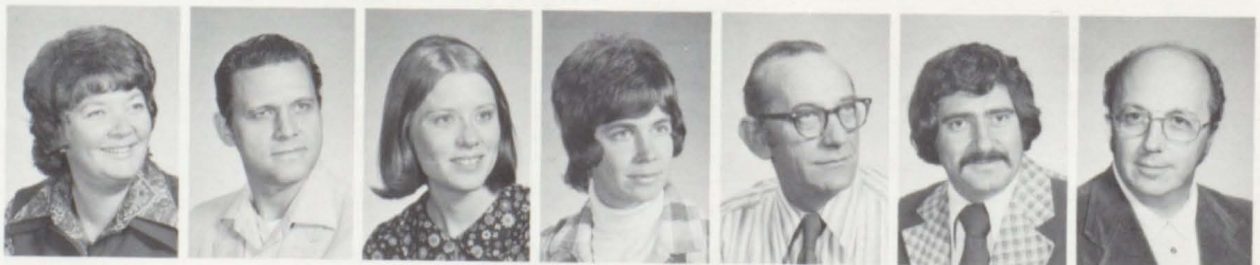

The French department was able to add new grammar workbooks. "They had a mixed reception," said instructor, Mrs. Hopen, "but provide needed practice."

New to the foreign language department this year, Mr. Ruben Soruco speaks Spanish as his native tongue. He has added to the supply of materials in the department a language master and new records and tapes.

Looking over new paperbacks added this year are juniors Kathy Charley, Pat Regan, and Bruce O'Rourke. The books are used in MASH 2, Examining the Media, Minority Literature, and Non-Fiction.

Girls invade wood and metal shops

Combining boys and girls in the wood and metal shops provides new fields of study for all. The students according to Mr. Nordstrom, "Learn by doing".

From constructing basic wood joints, students graduate to individual projects such as lamps. Metal students first learn machine drawing, then go on to foundry work, sheet and art metal.

Boys Enliven Co-ed cooking

"Some boys are more enthusiastic about cooking than girls because it's newer to them," said Mrs. Ritzen, Home Ec. instructor.

Among other things, this year's co-ed cooking classes canned tomatoes, made their annual Thanksgiving dinner, learned how to shop, and sponsored a Foreign Foods Fair.

"The seventh graders enjoy having a Child-Care Nursery school more than some older students since they can think of more things for the little kids to do, because they are closer to their age and have more imagination for that sort of class," said Mrs. Hanson.

'Hands-on' experiments keep scientists involved

Through field trips and experimentation, science students literally reached out for answers to scientific questions. Plant and animal life cycles, the laws that govern velocity, have been subjects of their investigations.

Field trips included the biology class excursion to Belwin and the aviation class trip to Minneapolis Aviation Technical Institute to observe aircraft engines.

Photographers meet challenge of limited space

"Teaching photography in the typing room presents a problem but the class met the challenge," said photography teacher, Mr. Madsen. To develop their pictures, students had to go over to the darkroom located in the new building off the physics classroom.

The class made portraits of themselves and took pictures of glass objects for a still life project. Students went on field trips individually or in pairs. One photographer went to Taylors Falls to take landscapes. Others went to parks and public buildings downtown.

Inflation Hits Lunch

Those hot lunches we consumed in 15 minutes flat were the result of hours of early morning labor. Some cooks arrived as early as 6:30. About 500 lunches were served each day, along with an average of 220 breakfasts. Inflation caused some cutbacks in the spring. Pronto pups and jello weren't served at all due to price increases.
