years. This constitution was ratified by the student body. Calvin Wojahn, their first president, deserves a great deal of credit for the success of this very much alive organization.

Sports Highlights

The 1947 football season was not too bright, in spite of the fine playing of All-City Joe Altendorfer, Bob Schaffer, and Jerry Johnson. Injuries and bad breaks plagued the team all season. Although the Indians finished ninth in the city standings, fans were always assured of a hard-fought game . . . The hockey team, paced by All-City Jimmy Yackel and Louie Saad, finished in third place in city team competition. Goalie Vernon Firnstahl showed a remarkable game-to-game improvement . . . The basketball team wound up in a third-place tie with Marshall and Central. Jim Fritsche set a new city scoring record of 154 points. Guards Johnny Santos and Bob Schaffer were also outstanding . . . The cross country team, composed of a small but eager group of freshmen and sophomores, was captained by Don Desch. The boys met on Friday afternoons, and ran over a hilly course at the Highland Park Golf Links . . . Coach Aga has set some sort of a record for himself with three straight championship teams to his credit in the past year; namely, tennis, golf, and gymnastics. Paced by such outstanding performers as Larry Rothi, Gordie Mischler, and Ed Ritchie, the 1948 gym team captured All-City honors in the "C" division; then took top honors in the Northwest Meet . . . The golf team, led by George Bremmer, walked away with the city title. Bremmer, Don Holmgren, and Bernie O'Neil finished close to the top in the individual city championships, also . . .

 Below: He's up! He's got it! and Jim Fritsche snags another one.

Sparked by the brilliant playing of Bill Gerberding, the tennis team finished first in the St. Paul Public School League. Gerberding was named one of the outstanding tennis players of the city . . . The track team of '47 offered some stiff competition to opponents. Millard Gieske was outstanding in the 220 yard dash. Warren Greenbush, Vernon Firnstahl, and Bob Lewandoski were constant threats to opponents in the mile and 440 yard dash, and Len Simones did very well in the weights . . . The 1948 swimming team met some of the finest swimmers in the city, but their fine determination was overcome by their inexperience . . . Although the 1947 baseball team finished seventh in the conference, letter winners Finn, Gauthier, Shaffer, Webb, and All-City man Theno were outstanding.

“Ready to go to press!”

Just push a button and watch the printed pages roll by. At North Central the printed pages may be from a yearbook, a newspaper, a direct mail promotion folder—the forms are as varied as the appeals. The final OK that sets the presses in motion means layout and editorial specialists have helped printing buyers work out copy and layout problems while skilled craftsmen translate typewritten words and instructions into quality printing.
