Senior History

WE, the senior class, wish to summarize briefly the facts concerning our short stay at Humboldt.

Most of us entered this Utopian Institution of intellectual instruction and social development in the fall of '31. From the first day our extremely aggressive and undying spirit was evident.

With the assistance of our modern Minerva, Queen Ramona Sherman, we immediately began to take an important part in the affairs at Humboldt. Our first meeting was held to elect class officers. We chose Mildred Johnson, president; Kent Phelps, secretary; and Valerie Rochon, treasurer.

This was only the beginning, only the beginning to the high and lofty achievements that we accomplished as seniors. The next step toward our climax, the commencement, was the junior year, in which we again demonstrated our unusual ability in promoting the Junior-Senior Prom.

Kent Phelps was elected president; Helen Henderson, secretary; Dorothy Goldberg, treasurer; and Arnold Goin, vice-president. These officers and Loretta Guertin, Valerie Rochon, Thomas Gaffy, Jerry LaValle, William Rea, and a host of others were chiefly responsible for the success of the Junior-Senior Prom.

To raise funds for the affair, we dispersed candy at the annual operetta, and gave several dances. After careful consideration, we chose the University Club as the place for this greatest social event of the season, and held it on the night of May 29. Kent Phelps and his partner, Virginia Lanoux, led the grand march. The prom proved a big success; everyone had a wonderful time.

And we now enter the final stages of our stay at Humboldt. Again we chose our officers; and this time we elected William Rea as our president; Kent Phelps, vice-president; Helen Henderson, secretary; and Jerry LaValle, treasurer.

Mr. Wauchope called us together for the purpose of considering many important questions, including whether or not we were to have an annual or a year-book and the amount of the dues. We finally decided that because of limited finances we would have merely a year-book, and not the customary large annual. At a later meeting, we met to consider our graduation clothes, and decided that we would introduce an innovation in St. Paul commencement exercises by wearing caps and gowns.

Still later we were convocated to nominate a boy to run for king of the spring carnival, Russel Rau being chosen. The seniors constituted an important part of this spectacle, much of the important work and leadership being in charge of seniors. Rau won from Robert Leger, the junior nominee for king, and some of the most attractive candidates for queen were seniors, including Dorothy Goldberg, Marian Penschuck, and Loretta Guertin.

And now in the closing days of our high school career, our faces are turned toward our supreme climax. Commencement, which will be held at the St. Paul Auditorium on June 12, with Ethel Link delivering the valedictory address, and Lucille Mourer giving the salutatory address. This final exercise will end our happy and extremely beneficial careers at Humboldt and will be, for most of us, the beginning of a new and broader life.
Last Will and Testament

We, the class of 1934 of Humboldt High School of city of St. Paul of Ramsey County of the State of Minnesota, being sound of mind, memory and discretion, according to our free will and under the influence of no narcotics or alcoholic liquors, do hereby establish this, our last will and testament.

To our principal, faculty and student body we bequeath our most sincere good wishes for the growth, prosperity, development, immortality, and the continued tranquility of this memorial hall of instruction, our alma mater.

To Mr. Nash we donate another toupee. We understand that due to numerous gifts of this character, he has now enough material to restuff a mattress.

We leave Miss Whaley an uneducated but ambitious collection of future engineers. Keep striving, children, . . . you may sometime reach the coal, er, goal.

To Miss Fanning's future classes we give the unlimited pleasure of memorizing the majority of History of the United States by Beard and Beard. We can assure them that the knowledge will prove invaluable.

The senior class donated its calm, orderly meetings conducted with such celebrated decorum to the junior class, who, we hope, will have as much fun exasperating their adviser as we have had.

To Mr. Powles we leave numerous innocent students to impress with his awesome dissertations on the electro-magnetic theory of the composition of matter. We hope they learn it as well as he thinks we did.

We generously donate a large leather bound edition of Webster's International unabridged dictionary to Mr. Ramstad. His enunciation of the word "imagine" moves us to take this supreme measure of suggestion. We also suggest that for the benefit of his rather deaf students he raises his voice to a more audible pitch in the future.

To Miss Marshall we leave that colossal collaboration of crazy curiosities, namely, the class of 1935. The poor dears will soon realize the grim reality of things.

In giving the juniors Chaucer's Canterbury Tales and Milton's Paradise Lost may we suggest diligent study. We have found that studying and an aspirin tablet go a long way in making the successful graduate.

To new shop students we recommend Mr. Peterson's sugar bowl hair cut as a perfect model for those who endeavor to emulate this most useful of all coiffures. It never has to be combed, you can cut it yourself, it doesn't get in your eyes, and it doesn't hold the dirt. (Adv.)

Having established this document, and being aware of the necessity of venturing farther on in life, we hereby close. In testimony undersigned witnesses we affix our seal on this first day of June in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four.

The Class of 1934.

Witnessed:

The faculty.
The student body.
Thomas Jefferson Franklin Waters—
The Janitor.
For your patience, Miss Sherman, your loyalty, your ever helpful advice and sympathetic understanding, we, the class of 1934, sincerely express our thanks.

The Prognostication

Warren Kilbourne, gaunt and big,
With Katherine Asfeld, sweet and trig,
Sauntered into Madame's booth
To hear her tell the untold truth
Of what the world will hold in store
For their classmates of '34.
Now, Madame—with a look so wise
Said, 'Would you really be surprised
To learn that some day Ruthie Hart
Will make a name for herself in Art;
Carolyn Henning and Yvonne DeMers
Will travel far in the next few years.
Helen and Valerie, the inseparable two,
Will teach their little ones a thing or two
Of the nursery rhymes that can be found
In Zoe Maker's column, renowned.
Over the air you'll hear Jack Rose;
Immortal music he will compose.
While Lucille Mourer is to edit a paper
Whose headlines scream of Thul's latest caper.
Arthur Schletty will span the ocean;
Pfeiffer will invent a lotion;
Wilson and Lang as salesmen will swing
The sale of a Ford to a cannibal king.
The teacher. Dave Racer, will frown on horseplay,
Eigenmann will be all-American some day.
Harvey Stiefel and Martin Capp
Crooked politics will snap.
A talented artist Streit will be.
And his partner is Thomas Gaffy.
Harold Flavin will enter marriage
And wheel up the walk a baby carriage.
Not far up the street in a house with green shutters

Nat Hurley with twins in the garden putters.
Soon by the house goes Virginia McCoy
To give singing lessons to Arlyne Bovee's boy.
Dorothy King is to acquire her fortune
By teaching her students the "laws of proportion."
A grand private secretary will Pettis be
For big business men like Thomas Benke.
While Ethel Mae Smith will be taking dictation
Of Attorney Phelps who directs the nation.
Four young girls at typing will hurry—
Martheler. Weigenant, Brink, and Murray.
An opera singer LaValle will be.
And Francis Specter will run a fact'ry.
While William Diehl's modest ambition
Will be realized in a doctor's position.
In business Cohen will make a success
Nor will William Kaiser of it make a mess.
Florence Price will be a fine cook.
Curtis Sampson at your teeth will look.
Razalie Edelman to Washington will go
While Fyhrie's golfing will make him a pro.
Link and Kuehn as teachers will train
Grerer's girls to develop a brain.
Cartoons will Englebretson and McNeely draw
While Bunny Johnson will study at law.
Ernestine Kogl, seven red heads will rear.
Judges Penschuck and Mathes will rouse culprits' fear.
Menke will build a skyscraper tall;
Ruhnau and Richter will teach children small;
Harriet Comstock will dish out the pills.
Ivy will still be the smallest of Hills.
Ardyce will smooth the sick man's bed.
In "Who's Who"—will Neilsen's name be read.
HUMBOLDT LIFE

A good druggist will Herbert Liedberg make.
While Russel Rau a wife will take,
Sisters Fedeli abroad will live.
As a teacher, Bahner knowledge will give.
To Egypt will Lola Pomper travel.
As president will Broderson handle the gavel.
Hardwick will design the smartest of dresses.
Marti will wave a movie star's tresses.
Binder and Gerelick will be plump rosy matrons;
Doyle and Ernst will be symphony patrons;
Into Phi Beta Kappa will Miss Gourley go;
Dorothy Eheim will own a chateau.
Ed Busch to Alaska will undoubtedly go;
George Doelle will dance as a gigolo;
Scoffing at all that is foolish, nonsensical;
Smith will delight in labors forensical;
In a plane Dorothy Blume will circle the earth;

A silhouette of Roosevelt will Evans cut.
Rutzick will father the "homeless mut."
Haberkorn will live in a melon patch.
Arnold Falb will watch his chickens scratch.
A second Bob Jones will Herman Schmitz be.
Norbert Monzel the men of Mars will see.
Hamlet will Staples act on the stage.

Bill Rea's orchestra will be all the rage.
Neihart will be a circus clown.
Galyath will knock the champion down.
Triviski will play the piano with joy.
Pedersen will mother the most-brilliant boy.
Bergh will write books of side-splitting mirth.
Exley will play baseball, a second Babe Ruth;
Comford and Stiff will expound the test of truth;
Muriel Kunert will be a pianist great;
Whitefield to his office will never be late;
Larsen will decorate beautiful homes;
Carpender will work among ponderous tomes;
The world's best dancer will be Lillian Velat;
Max Miller at college will get double A;
Lorch will be lofty in gown academic;
Schlampf will teach women wiles strategemic;
Grace Lifschitz will be the fanciest diver;
Of a huge car will Zamansky be driver;
Metry will be typing catalog cards
While Pagel is singing the merriest of bards;
As an author will Betty Pechersky gain fame;
Above a fur store will shine Albert's name;
Mel Lipschultz will shun whatever is secular.
Jim Taplin will study matter molecular,
While just round the corner from Guertin's Hot Shoppe
Bob Kuehn stationed, the world's finest cop.
Kraus will make fashionable long black cheroots
And Kurtz for exploring will gather recruits.
Jordan, Kzaley, and Mauer and Day
Will study each star in the wide Milky Way.
Last of all Lasch, ever respectable;
Will delete from this tale whatever's susceptable.

HUMBOLDT LIFE

Senior Diary

SEPTEMBER
11—Mary Bisciglia, Robert Carlton, Helen Colbeth, and Ione Dak trudge slowly down Baker Street on first day of school.
18—Arlene Bovee, Verna Aga, Rose Hafiz, Gladys Brink, and Dorothy Blume solve locker combinations with aid of sophomores.
25—Lucille Mourer announced as editor of "NEWS," Humboldt's newest offspring.
26—Marian Penschuck maneuvers mallet at first meeting of "Reserve Girls."
27—Natalja Hurley elected Dramatic Club president, with Ruth Hart, secretary, and Clarence Staples, treasurer, to share responsibilities.
28—Pep assembly peppered by peppy leader, Jerry LaValle.
29—Mitchell Kaminsky tries holding physiognomy still for senior sample pictures.

OCTOBER
3—Oh. Mr. Powles, your new suit!
5—Girl Reserve Treasure Hunt. Carolyn Henning dashes through graveyard. Why?
7—Humboldt skins Central 14-0 at Highland. Captain Rau makes beautiful kicks "good" and Louis Eret, Warren Kilbourne, Herbert Ricketts, and Melvin Plummer do "darnest" on gridiron.
11—HUMBOLDT NEWS born. Miss Kees' triumph and staff's.
14—Dorothy King makes buoyant debut as hero knight in tragic comedy assisted by toots of James Day and by black kitten.
20—Ma's and pa's entertain "us kids" at P. T. A. dance. Vernon Niehart and Rudolph Galyath help decorate to heart's content.
23—Robert Wehrle elected Latin Club secretary and Ethel Link, keeper of "pecunia."
24—Fedeli sisters, Gemma and Louise, and Marcella Ernst "ride goat" at Dramatic Club initiation.
29—School enrollment announced: 462 boys and 398 girls. Now's your chance, girls.

NOVEMBER
8—Gertrude Johnson shows beautifully studded "pearls" to smiling dentists at Dental Clinic.
10—Quivering Garbos and Arlisses mount platform for annual play tryouts.
22—Marie Birch becomes "P. T. A.'er" from Student Council. (It's a long way to Day's, eh, Marie?)
24—Marie Nielsen plays "teach" for chemistry students.
27—Catherine Doyle and Elizabeth Murray suddenly become Puritan ladies and entertain with Richard Streit at Thanksgiving assembly.

DECEMBER
5—Albert Peterson and June Grossmann exchange smiles.
14—Razalie Edelman and five other damsels trip triumphantly across stage in basketball queenship contest. Martin Capp juggles cigar in pre-Skidding assembly.
15—Thomas Gaffy delights audience with paternal maneuvers in Skidding.
20—Carolers carol through halls; school house emptied for Christmas vacation.

JANUARY
3—Harold Flavin has usual difficulty in getting his legs started so soon after New Year's Eve.
8—Bunny Johnson and Helen Marthaer obligingly dust off Baker Rink for their friends.
12—Johnson becomes aware of Katz's striking resemblance to greased lightning in opening basketball game.

16—Mae West’s curves ring up another sale in senior recreation questionnaire.

18—Seniors fuss and fume and tear their hair (and other people’s too) after emerging from lengthy squabble over the annual.

19—Perfect man must be football hero Humboldt girls decide. To arms, team!

23—Miss Sherman heaves a sigh as Wilbur Lauer vacates his front seat in civics for the last time.

26—Art Greengard and Warren Kilbourne see red again—report cards out today.

29—Simon Lasch gives some of his excellent advice to awed sophs searching vainly for Room 313.

FEBRUARY

6—Nat Hurley persuades seniors (with Loretta Guertin’s aid) to up and do it—don caps and gowns for graduation.

9—Golling Studio mystified at cracking of new lens. Reason—Martin Capp and Harold Smith have pictures taken.

14—Why is Arnie Goin’s pocketbook flat today? You guess.

16—Paul Triviski and Clarence Staples murmured, “—dance—prance—romance—” No, not crazy—just writing poetry.

19—Jerry La Valle and Zoe Maker become so enthusiastic over a sociology debate that—they win!

22—Arnie Goin (7:00 A. M.) hurls a pillow at his alarm clock and resumes his hibernation.

26—What! Phil Broderson and Jud Wilson on milk diet? Oh, our mistake—only a chemistry experiment.

MARCH

1—“A cold, clammy hand will grab you, and—” Melvin Plummer, Herman Schmitz, and Karl Kurtz look furtively over their shoulders. Carnival is coming!

7—Helen Henderson and Catherine Doyle demand the secret ballot as they cast votes for blushing candidates for senior kingship.

9— Trumpets sound! The queens of Humboldt’s crop make their bows.

13—P. T. A. Style Show. Loretta Guertin in yellow pajamas brings down the house.

17—June Grossmann and May Funck adjust green ribbons in their hair for St. Patrick’s shindig at Carolyn Henning’s.

20—Walter Bergh’s vocal chords vie with and triumph over all others in shouting for his queen.

23—Robert-Wehrle arranges his little used books neatly in his locker for over Easter vacation.

31—Russ Rau anxiously goes to bed early so the Easter Bunny won’t miss his house. (Remember he doesn’t know the awful truth yet.)

APRIL

2—Back to classrooms after Easter holidays.

4—College Entrance Exams cause much dismay among graduating seniors.

5—Groans and pains an aftermath of school-wide M. R. test.

11—Lola Pomper’s forgetting to make a wish at the water fountain in the cafeteria during lunch time puzzles numerous students.

15—Canine visitor in Miss Sherman’s fifth period civics class causes much laughter among pupils. Valerie Rochon sings. “Get along, little doggie, get along, get along.”

18—Green newspapers instead of pencils and books seen in halls and classrooms. No wonder! Eight-page Carnival Edition of Humboldt News!

19—Gay time, hilarious comedy, noise-makers, handsome lads, beautiful girls—all at the Spring Carnival.

ACT 8
A tragic skit featuring Mr. O. Billing and Myron Katz and entitled "The Officer and the Truant."

ACT 9
The entire Manual Training Chorus chizzeling out their songs with Ray Gferrer giving the solo.

ACT 10
Closing with motion pictures showing the touching drama of a stude approaching his enrollment room on report card day, a triumph of facial expression.

Music by the German Band.
Graduating seniors who have received Humboldt "H" awards for athletics.

Brodersen, Phil
Swimming, '33, '34; Manager, '34.
Handicapped by illness, Phil did not try out for the tank squad in his sophomore year. As a junior, however, he became the star dash man of the team, capturing first in the 40-yard free style and second in the 100-yard free in the city championship meet. In 1934, he repeated his stellar performance by again gaining all-city in the 40, remaining undefeated in city high school competition.

Eigenman, Fred
Football, '30, '31, '32.
In his first year of high school competition, Fred earned a letter. In '31 he was right end on the city championship football squad. Anyone capable of making the all-city high school team two years in succession must be good.

Eret, Louis
Football, '33.
Before becoming a senior, Eret was inexperienced in major football contests. Although handicapped by his light weight, Louis' superior running and headwork enabled him to hold his position as end against several heavier contenders. He proved to be invaluable in the Indian's defense.

Evans, Albert
Swimming, '32, '33, '34.
Boo (don't get frightened, it's only his nickname) Evans swam breast stroke and did the fancy diving for the Indian swimmers in '32. Due to sinus trouble he was forced to vacate his breast stroke position, although his speedy performance was quite helpful to the team. In '33 and '34 Boo won several diving events by steadily improving his form on the board.

Fyhrie, Lambert
Golf, Captain, '33, '34.
Fyhrie's one hundred and eighty pounds of solid flesh, combined with a natural instinct for rhythm, is probably what gives him those two hundred and seventy-yard drives. Lambert hasn't lost a match in his two years of St. Paul high school competition.

Goin, Arnold
Swimming, '34.
Evidently Arnie never realized his swimming ability. At least it wasn't until his senior year that he took up the position of anchor man on the relay team. Although he did not succeed in earning letters in football and basketball, he was active on these squads. He is a skillful first baseman, but was not eligible for softball in '33, the only season it was carried on.

Greengard, Arthur
Swimming, '33, '34; Football, '33.
Art's plucky performance in the crawl stroke, dashes, and relays always put the zest to win in the hearts of Humboldt swimmers. At center on the gridiron this 165 pounds of fighting wildcat keeps the opposition back on their heels.

Greengard, Eli
Swimming, '33, '34.
Due to perseverance and hard work Eli increased his prowess sufficiently to gain the needed ten points for a swimming letter in '33, when he swam the crawl stroke in the relay. During the summer he changed his style to breast stroke. By practicing constantly he improved himself enough to secure a letter in '34 without difficulty.

Granberg, Max
Boxing, '32, '33; Basketball, '34; Tennis, '34.
Max, besides being official questionnaire of Mr. Powles, has several accomplishments in his favor. He upset all pre-schedule dope by winning the fly-weight championship in '32. In '33 he defeated Mitchell Kaminsky for the bantamweight title in a close fought match. Max, being light on his feet makes a speedy man on the basketball floor and the tennis court.
JOHNSON, ROBERT
Hockey, '31; Baseball, '32; Softball, '33; Football, '32.

On the ice Bob is a tricky player; flying about on the rink, his elusive tactics are hard to follow. He can handle himself as well on the diamond and the gridiron. Bob's inherent grace is just one of the qualities that makes him a natural athlete.

KATZ, MYRON
Boxing, '32; Basketball, '33, '34.

In '32 Myron overcame all opposition to win the featherweight boxing championship of the school. Katz, as his name implies, is a virtual cat on his feet, as quick as lightning. On the basketball floor he dazzles all opponents by his flashing speed and experienced ball handling. He was chosen all-city guard in '33 and was the nucleus of the Indian defense when ineligibility forced him from the team in the latter part of the season of 1934.

KAMINSKY, MITCHELL
Boxing, '32.

Mitchell's shifty footwork and dodging combine to make a hard target for his bantamweight opponents. Unfortunately he found someone's jaw too hard in a '33 ring tilt and the result was a broken hand which put him out of the race.

KILBOURNE, WARREN
Softball, '33; Football, '32; '33; Basketball, '33, '34.

Warren had quite a time getting control of his long legs, but when he and they got together, things happened. His stellar performance as a first bagger, his fighting courage at tackle, and his natural ability to make a basketball fly through the hoop, all combine to make a wonderful athlete. In '34 Warren tied for third high point man of the city high school basketball league. He intends to enter basketball competition at the University of Minnesota.

KREUSCHER, FRANK
Football, '33.

Humboldt's 1933 football team profited much by receiving Frank from the St. Paul Vocational School. From the very first game he smashed his way for runs up to sixty yards in length. His blinding speed, shifty open field running, and crushing line bucking secured an all-city fullback position for him in his first and only year of high school competition.

LORCH, HOWARD
Golf, '34.

Howie has always been an ardent golf fan. In 1932 and '33 the competition was a little too stiff for him. However, when he began to practice a little more earnestly, it wasn't long before he, too, was playing in the low eighties, and he obtained a birth on the team.

MICKELSEN, ARNOLD
Football, '33.

Arnie, modest and lovable, is a changed man on the gridiron. He tackles hard and is always there when he is needed to smash a hole in the opponent's line. On defense he is a stone wall. He is an unassuming fellow who well deserves his all-city guard rating.

NEIHART, VERNON
Football, '30, '31, '32; Baseball, '32; Manager Football and Baseball, '33.

Vernon has much to do in operating and supervising Humboldt High School. When he can find time from these duties, he lends himself to football and baseball. His undying loyalty to both sports is evident by the fact that when he was ineligible for football and baseball in '33 he, nevertheless, in being manager, gave his time and support to them.

PLUMMER, MELVIN
Track, '32, '33; Football, '32, '33.

Mel's long legs make him an ideal track man. From the crack of the starter's gun to the snap of the tape at the finish, he displays the finished form of a trained athlete. In 1932 and '33, he played end with the football team, and has several touch-downs to his credit.
RAU, RUSSEL
Football, '31, '32; Captain, '33.
Fighting Russ was a member of that memorable squad, the championship team of 1931. He starred as an irresistible linesman in his three years of playing and was rewarded in '33 by the most envied goal of all, the captaincy. His superior generalship enabled the Orange and Black squad to secure second place in the city conference.

REU, WILLIAM
Golf, '33, '34.
Handsome, curly haired Bill is a product of Cretin Military Academy, which he left after his sophomore year. His consistent low golf scores enabled Humboldt to go through two years of undefeated city high school competition. Bill also tried out for the tennis team, but was nosed out in a hard fought match.

SAMPSON, CURTIS
Tennis, '33, '34; Track, '34.
Curt has a serve that’s hard to receive and a choppy return that is yet harder to get. He was a valuable member of the tennis team for two years, and was elected co-captain of the '34 squad. He ran the 880-yard dash and pole vaulted for the track team in his senior year. He also tried out for the swimming team in '34.

STAPLES, CLARENCE
Swimming, '33, '34.
Clarence is a steady swimmer with plenty of grit. In '33 and '34 he swam the 220-yard free style and the relay for the Indians. His excellent work at guard on the '34 “B” squad enabled them to go through an undefeated season.

VAN DE WALKER, LEO
Football, '33.
Leo’s bulldog perseverance finally succeeded in gaining for him the coveted Indian and “H” awards. He was a member of the “B” squad in '31 and '32. By constantly improving himself he secured a berth as halfback on the football squad of '33.

WILSON, GEORGE
Swimming, '32, '33; Captain, '34.
In 1932, “Jud” went out for football where he made a good showing due to his amazing speed. Unfortunately, a renewed injury to a once broken leg has forced him out of football and track for the rest of his life. Turning to swimming, he proved his worth as a crawl man and a star back stroker. As captain of the 1934 swimming team, he led his men through the most successful season since this sport has been started at Humboldt.

“A handsome lad is Billy Rea,”
That’s what all the sophomores say.
He never does shirk
When there is work
Says he, “To me, all work is play.”

Senior Diary

23—First notice of “Red” Kogl’s hair turning gray. Can Twelve Centuries be at the bottom of it all?

24—Bernadette Johnson munches on candy bar, while Miss Sherman attempts to place blame on Ted Goldberg.

MAY

1—Juniors place fear of Allababba in seniors. What, no J. S.?

8—Miss Graves informs seniors not to be too sure of themselves. “Not marching yet,” says she.

29—Flannel trousered gentlemen—richly gowned ladies—. Ah, blissful Junior-Senior! Ah, night of merriment!

JUNE

1—Seniors turn tables—amuse school at assembly, then celebrate with bliss at Wildwood during remaining hours.

7—Richard Exley prepares for the great day.

12—The great day arrives. GRADUATION!
The Reader’s Corner
(“There is no friend like a good book”)
By WADSWORTH

We found after a careful survey that the book most read by college preparatory seniors was Neihart’s masterpiece “How to Earn Your Way Through School Without Working.” It is a de-luxe, delightful volume in four fascinating chapters.

Chapter 1. How to be Elected to Every Treasuryship in School.—the easiest way of all, written by A. Goin, one who knows.

Chapter 2. How to Chizzel Three Meals a Day. Authors. Miss Marianne Conrady, Bob Johnson, Fred Eigenman, and Harold Flavin.

Chapter 4. Science of Rolling the Bones. How to beat the house, each other, and the innocent bystander with the five little speckled cubes, written by men who devoted the labor of a lifetime to the science.—by Melvin Plummer, Max Aronovsky, Louis De Nardo, and Richard Whitefield.

Embezzling in Business and Politics, by M. Granzberg from its dilapidated condition appears to be the most popular with students having a commercial inclination. This book contains the inside information on the illegal operation of stock and bond markets. It is rumored that the copy almost became lost in the school library when several local business men discovered its presence here. However, it being a very valuable volume, several guards were assigned to its safekeeping, and the loss thereby averted.

Financial Statement

Seniors have probably wondered why there is so much expense connected with publishing a year book. To make things clear our business manager, William Rea, has drawn up a condensed statement of the finances.

FIRST CHOICE

Deep and learned are the reading tastes of seniors. Witness the following tastes:

Temple Bailey is loved by Helen Marthaler. Marian Penschuck, Fern Olson, and Hildegarde Kellgren. The following like to hobnob with Zane Grey's cowboys: George Mathes. Theresa Metry, Anita Pederson, Melvin Plummer, Lola Pomper, Paul Triviski, Millicent Weschke, Dorothy Blume, Harriet Comstock, Margaret Cunningham, William Diehl, May Funk, Roy Comford, Vernon Neihart, Melvin Kaplan, Karl Kurtz, Louise Fedeli.

Leora Schlampp, Rose Hafiz and Russell Rau are loyal to Louisa May Alcott. Marianne Conrady, Ione Dack, Arlyne Bovee, and Helen Ramisch like their Norris. Mary Roberts Rinehart's champions are Marie Nielsen, Bernadette Johnson, Elsie Pettis, and Walter Bergh.

Taking their adventure with Sabatini are Albert Cohen, Edward Busch, Martin Capp, Simon Lasch, Wilbur Lauer, Helen Colbeth. Joining with the critics in their praise of Pearl Buck are Dorothy King, Marie Dehrer, Alvina De Nardo, Ivy Hill.

Jerry LaValle, George Kraus, Robert Menke, all back S. S. Van Dine. Wodehouse is liked by Valerie Rochon and Dorothy Schluebier. Tarkington is the favorite of Carolyn Henning and Razalie Edelman; Sax Rohmer of Leo Van De Walker, Leonard Pfeiffer, Tom Gaffy; Mark Twain of Gordon Pagel, Yvonne De Mers; and Poe of Harold Flavin, Phil Broderson, William Rea and Max Miller.

A few lowbrows like Mary Hafiz and Herbert Liedberg prefer Shakespeare. Clara Kuehn names Kahlil Gabran; Leonard Hirsch. Cooper; Richard Whitefield. Maurice Hindus; Ethel Smith. George McCutcheon; Jack Rose, Galsworthy; Gladys Brink, Damon Runyan; Betty Pechersky, Gairbeau; Norbert Monzel, Morley; Virginia McCoy, Tolstoi; Fred McNeely, Biggers; and Catherine Doyle and Elizabeth Murray, Onions.

Reminiscence

HUMBOLDT must not forget them—those seniors who after June will never again walk through these solemn dignified halls. Especially will the teachers mourn the passing of Vernon Neihart, Kent Phelps, and Richard Whitefield. Their innocent chatter and discussion of all subjects but the one in mind have added much to class interest. Then, what sophomore will ever forget Ernestine Kogl and Marjorie Gourley who provided the "local color" in the senior class?

Who but the patron saint of Baron Von Humboldt himself could have saved Gerald Geror, Edward Bohrer, and Margaret Brown from drowning in a sea of M. R.'s. Anita Pederson as a keeper of books (have you seen the inscription on her English?) . Elsie Pettis, as that great woman who typed 67 words a minute for fifteen minutes with only three errors, and Gladys Brink, the ever famous learner and reciter of Poe's "The Bells" will always be dear to the hearts of true Humboldtians.

When Francis Abbott, who raced about getting up a trigonometry class, is first assistant to Einstein, and when Walter Bergh writes the successor to "Ulysses," former seniors will whisper with forgivable pride, "I used to copy their test papers." Then there are Max Granzberg who deems himself official questioner of Mr. Powell; Roy Comford, smiling News agent; tall Melvin Plummer and Bernard Pirkl, and the bakers, Monzel and Gfrerer.

Of course, one cannot forget those infants of the class, Razalie Edelman, June Pepin, and Margaret Cunningham. Dramatists, Martin Clapp and Clarence Staple; Rudolph Galyath, the fourth Napoleon; golfer, Lambert Fyhrie, and the heroes, Elmer Guldberg and Arnie Goin—not one of these will ever be forgotten, not even by himself.

What of Carl Kurtz who writes poetry, Arnold Falb and Robert Wehrle, the honor students, and Leonard Lang who left school for two years and still graduates at eighteen? Prize German students, Martha Wekel, Hildegard Wimmer, and Ethel Link are numbered among this illustrious class. Then there are the musicians, Jeanette Binder, Caroline Marti, Dorythe Goldberg, and John Rose.

What teacher will not set up as examples to all following classes, Sally (of the green ink) Carpenter, Cecilia Fusco, who puts pep into poetry; and the artists, Thomas Gaffy, Ruth Hart and Robert Engelbreton?

The Hafizs are well represented this year by the sisters, Mary and Rose. Also there are Eli and Arthur Greengard and Louise and Gemma Fedeli as well as Aunt Alvina De Nardo and nephew Louis.

The queens, Loretta Guertin, Marion Penschuck, Razalie Edelman; Herbert (Peter Pan) Liedberg, King Rau, and the swimmers, Broderson and Wilson have done much to make the last three years unforgettable.

What of the flowers that bloom in the senior class—Rose Hoffmann, Ivy Hill, Sylvia Tomash, Hildegarde Kellgren, Hazel Hardwick, Dale Baker, May Funck and June Grossmann?

No, there is no doubt of it. This graduating class, as every graduating class before and to come, will always be remembered.
