Singing grams bring joy to staff, students

Dave Davis was credited with the idea. "Brenda has been really close to me. We've been really tight since 6th grade, when I started school," Elena says. "And I just knew she was having a really hard day, and I wanted to do something to brighten it."

Elena recounts that during the second hour, she and the Jazz Choir went down to sing to Brenda. Elena says she asked Brenda to sit on the stool, while smiling with the choir. The choir then sang Bruno Mars’ song, Just The Way You Are.

"Because we love her just the way she is," said Elena. "The moment was so heartwarming to Brenda that she broke down in tears.

"The lunch ladies, they do so much, they deserve our love," stated Elena.

Singing Grams are available to purchase a week before Valentine’s Day. You address it to a specific person and choose a song, and the Jazz Choir-choir. The choir then sang a song, and the Jazz Choir sang to Brenda.

Jazz choir members serenade Marshall Wasmund during a journalism class while students look on. Singing grams were part of Valentine’s Day celebrations at OWL.

NAAPID night highlights culture

Gabby Govrik
Staff Writer

The NAAPID event at OWL on Thursday February 16th was a huge hit highlighted by a visit from Mayor Melvin Carter, soul food and a variety of performances.

The lively event took place in the auditorium with dancing, singing, speakers, and catered food and crafts in the cafeteria.

A big part of NAAPID is student involvement within the night. 10th grader Shalimar Watkins read a poem titled A Mirrorred Reflection and Concert Choir sung Lift Every Voice and Sing along with African Drumming from Brother Ghana and OWL students. "I was really proud of the students who took part in the African Drumming," said Miss Ma’lene. "They were super hardworking and determined even with only eight practices." Along with OWL student performances, were events such as dancing from Dance With Purpose Dance Company and TU Dance Center. There was also speaking from VocalEssence, Author Mercedes Yarbrough, Mental Health & Wellness speaker Kasim AbdurRazaq, and Keynote Speaker Donald Walker.

Soon after, arts and crafts such as jewelry making, bookmark making, African Drumming, Assistant principal Ma’lene Walker and seniors Maleah Anderson, Krista Hines, Ayoub Iraf, and Calvin Defoster collaborated to plan this year’s event. Along with the performances and speaking in the auditorium, there was a showcase of books, art, and live music along with catered food and crafts in the cafeteria.

"Brenda has been really close to me. We've been really tight since 6th grade, when I started school," Elena says. "And I just knew she was having a really hard day, and I wanted to do something to brighten it."

Elena recounts that during the second hour, she and the Jazz Choir went down to sing to Brenda. Elena says she asked Brenda to sit on the stool, while smiling with the choir. The choir then sang to Brenda.

Singing Grams are available to purchase a week before Valentine’s Day. You address it to a specific person and choose a song, and the Jazz Choir sang to Brenda.

Jazz choir members serenade Marshall Wasmund during a journalism class while students look on. Singing grams were part of Valentine’s Day celebrations at OWL.

History of OWL buildings
From Linwood to University OWL has been located many places

Constance Van Genderen
Staff Writer

Today OWL is situated at 640 Humboldt Avenue, but where was it before? What many people may not know is that OWL has had multiple times before finding its home on the West Side.

OWL has been in six buildings total, and there are stories about every single building and why we were there and why we moved. The most buildings any current OWL staff member has worked in is three, but Lisa Crocker and Jesse Buettow can tell us more. Lisa Crocker was a student at Open from 1996 to 2002, (seventh through twelfth grade) who now works for the district in community education. Jesse Buettow was a student at Open from 1982-1995 for K-12 and now works as a teacher at Randolph Heights Elementary.

Before we bring in the buildings, let’s go back 52 years to when OWL was created and renovated by the teachers and families in 1971. The school was called Saint Paul Open School and it was located at 1885 University Avenue, where the Sejong Academy

Singing grams bring joy to staff, students

Elena Davis was credited with the idea. "Brenda has been really close to me. We’ve been really tight since 6th grade, when I started school," Elena says. "And I just knew she was having a really hard day, and I wanted to do something to brighten it."

Elena recounts that during the second hour, she and the Jazz Choir went down to sing to Brenda. Elena says she asked Brenda to sit on the stool, while smiling with the choir. The choir then sang to Brenda.

Singing Grams are available to purchase a week before Valentine’s Day. You address it to a specific person and choose a song, and the Jazz Choir sang to Brenda.

Jazz choir members serenade Marshall Wasmund during a journalism class while students look on. Singing grams were part of Valentine’s Day celebrations at OWL.

History of OWL buildings

From Linwood to University OWL has been located many places

Constance Van Genderen
Staff Writer

Today OWL is situated at 640 Humboldt Avenue, but where was it before? What many people may not know is that OWL has had multiple times before finding its home on the West Side.

OWL has been in six buildings total, and there are stories about every single building and why we were there and why we moved. The most buildings any current OWL staff member has worked in is three, but Lisa Crocker and Jesse Buettow can tell us more. Lisa Crocker was a student at Open from 1996 to 2002, (seventh through twelfth grade) who now works for the district in community education. Jesse Buettow was a student at Open from 1982-1995 for K-12 and now works as a teacher at Randolph Heights Elementary.

Before we bring in the buildings, let’s go back 52 years to when OWL was created and renovated by the teachers and families in 1971. The school was called Saint Paul Open School and it was located at 1885 University Avenue, where the Sejong Academy
Robotics team: it’s more than just robots

Team focuses on diversity, representing the school as a whole

Claire Ales

Staff Writer

The OWL robotics team has better gender representation than most teams.

Most robotics teams are mostly male with maybe 1 or 2 female members. Over half of the teams are either male or non-binary. So that means that we are representing the OWL student body in terms of gender on our team," said science teacher Megan Hall.

Even though the team is already doing great on diversity they are currently working on having more racial/ethnic representation on the team.

The current coaches of the robotics team are science teacher Megan Hall and math teacher Tom Totsuke. Megan has been coaching the team for 4 years while this is Tom’s first year coaching the team.

The Robotics season officially started on January 7th but OWL’s team has been practicing since September. Last week they competed at their first tournament in Duluth. When you think of robotics the first thing you’re probably going to think of is “robots.” Robots are a part of robotics teams. For example 10th grade Ami Moore works on fundraising with the robotics team. Ami and other members of the team sell things like hats, and jewelry while at lunches to fundraise for the team. 9th grade Lily Eiken focuses on grant writing and outreach to also help fundraise for the team.

In addition to fundraising there are many other things that you can do on the robotics team. There is a building team that works on building the robot with wood and other materials. A team works on the electronics for the robot and makes sure that they all work correctly, lastly there is a programming team that programs code for the robot to make it run and be controlled by a joystick.

One of the most important roles on the team while at competition is the spirit captain. This year the spirit captain is 11th grader Cooper Peterson-Antin. The spirit captain keeps the morale up while at competitions and talks to other teams. The roles on the team are not limited to the ones I have listed above. The roles vary from year to year because different people on the team have different interests.

“Robotics competitions are normally loud, busy, and intense," said Megan. “The robotics competitions are normally held in a big gym area. In the gym there is a course set up for the robots. The robots will have to maneuver around obstacles and throw objects in order to gain points."

There are a few things that are really important in robotics, teamwork, and communication. While at competitions robotics teams form alliances with other teams that are at the competition as well. The team then work together on the courses to gain points. The individuals on the team with the most points then move on to the final round.

During the final round the top teams will pick lower ranking teams to bring into their alliances. This is where the spirit captain comes into play. “It’s important that teams walk around the competition and talk to other teams. This helps with still getting into the final rounds even if you don’t score very high. Some teams make picks to bring in the competition so that they can trade event, especially the desserts,” "said 6th grader Lucy Halverson.

Next year, Miss MaLene is hoping to have a residency for African Drumming as well as a residency from TU Dance center but due to time and funding that was not possible this year. “I am hoping to bring some new opportunities to OWL for next year’s event.”

What do you do on the robotics team?

Claire Ales

Staff Writer

The OWL robotics team is excited to work on their robot between game matches at a tournament in Duluth last week.

The HUMWOW swimmers competing in a meet this year.

Sorcha, 1

of the Year organization sent me an email. I got to read what my nominator wrote about me and received information for how to continue in the TOY process. I was required to submit a portfolio that included two essays, letters of recommendation, a professional resume, and a fancy headshot," said Sorcha.

Some students love Sorcha, and when 9th grader Maddie Linstad was asked her reaction when she found out she was nominated, she said, "I was really excited. My first thought was to congratulate her the next time I had her class."
Senior Spotlight
Ian Brooks

That One Little Kid
Luca LaFERLA

Crew profile: meet the Narwhals
Megan’s crew iconic mascot has an even better backstory

Aria Kulseth & Claire Ales
Staff Writer

Every crew has a unique name and origin story. The Narwhals are one of these crews.

Science teacher Megan Hall’s Crew the Narwhals have had their crew name for over a decade and they have never changed!

They picked it back when there weren’t many crews that had a specific name. “Tim’s crew, the hawks, would go around the school and say ‘Go Hawks’ acting like they were better than everyone,” said Megan. “We did some research and found that the only natural predator to a hawk is another hawk, so we had to use our imaginations.

Megan’s crew ended up determining that a Basilisk could defeat a hawk, but they also decided that if the habitats of a hawk and a Narwhal ever crossed, then a Narwhal would be able to take out a hawk.

They voted and it was a tie between The Basilisks and the Narwhals, but Megan broke the tie for the Narwhals. “I thought that a narwhale was more positive,” said Megan. “I really like being a Narwhal and the story behind the name makes it all the better,” said 8th grader Constance Van Genderen.

Over time Megan’s crew has really embraced their name. They have had many students draw Narwhals which they sometimes use for their crew shirts. They also went as far as collecting donations during Long Crew day to sponsor a Narwhal and protect its habitat.

What the Narwhals do use for their mascot?
He/him.

How tall are you?
About 5’2”

What’s your favorite book, movie or tv show?
Cinder

Who is your favorite senior?
Isaac Stender

What is your favorite video game?
Legend of Zelda, Breath of the Wild.

What extracurriculars do you plan on getting involved in at OWL?
Archery

Robots, 2
them with other teams there.
Many members of the robotics team were on a Lego League team previously. 12th grader Isaac Stender is the mentor for Megan’s Lego League team the Brick Birds. The mentors will help the Lego league team with coding and working on their innovation project. They also give advice on how to do well at competitions.

One of their goals is to score well at competitions, but equally important is their desire to work well as a team, build friendships, and have fun! Moving forward the OWL robotics team hopes to grow in members and continue being a team that has gender diversity and a positive environment.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

Favorite field work experience or school trip and why?
Ninth grade Superior Hiking trail trip. I had a lot of fun and fun experiences with close friends, and it was beautiful.

If you had a walk up song, what would it be?
Get into it (Yuh) by Doja Cat

What Pronouns do you use?
He/him.

How long have you been at OWL?
Seven years.

What are your plans for next year?
Majoring in stats at the U of MN.

What’s been your favorite class in high school?
AP Stats.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

I really like being a Narwhal, said Megan. “I thought that a narwhale was more positive,” said Megan. “I really like being a Narwhal and the story behind the name makes it all the better,” said 8th grader Constance Van Genderen.

Over time Megan’s crew has really embraced their name. They have had many students draw Narwhals which they sometimes use for their crew shirts. They also went as far as collecting donations during Long Crew day to sponsor a Narwhal and protect its habitat.

What do you do in your free time?
I love going outside and being active. I also enjoy playing video games and drawing.

What is your favorite TV show?
The Legend of Zelda: Breath of the Wild.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

Favorite field work experience or school trip and why?
Ninth grade Superior Hiking trail trip. I had a lot of fun and fun experiences with close friends, and it was beautiful.

If you had a walk up song, what would it be?
Get into it (Yuh) by Doja Cat

What Pronouns do you use?
He/him.

How tall are you?
About 5’2”

What’s your favorite book, movie or tv show?
Cinder

Who is your favorite senior?
Isaac Stender

What is your favorite video game?
Legend of Zelda, Breath of the Wild.

What extracurriculars do you plan on getting involved in at OWL?
Archery

Robots, 2
them with other teams there.
Many members of the robotics team were on a Lego League team previously. 12th grader Isaac Stender is the mentor for Megan’s Lego League team the Brick Birds. The mentors will help the Lego league team with coding and working on their innovation project. They also give advice on how to do well at competitions.

One of their goals is to score well at competitions, but equally important is their desire to work well as a team, build friendships, and have fun! Moving forward the OWL robotics team hopes to grow in members and continue being a team that has gender diversity and a positive environment.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

Favorite field work experience or school trip and why?
Ninth grade Superior Hiking trail trip. I had a lot of fun and fun experiences with close friends, and it was beautiful.

If you had a walk up song, what would it be?
Get into it (Yuh) by Doja Cat

What Pronouns do you use?
He/him.

How long have you been at OWL?
Seven years.

What are your plans for next year?
Majoring in stats at the U of MN.

What’s been your favorite class in high school?
AP Stats.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

I really like being a Narwhal, said Megan. “I thought that a narwhale was more positive,” said Megan. “I really like being a Narwhal and the story behind the name makes it all the better,” said 8th grader Constance Van Genderen.

Over time Megan’s crew has really embraced their name. They have had many students draw Narwhals which they sometimes use for their crew shirts. They also went as far as collecting donations during Long Crew day to sponsor a Narwhal and protect its habitat.

What do you do in your free time?
I love going outside and being active. I also enjoy playing video games and drawing.

What is your favorite TV show?
The Legend of Zelda: Breath of the Wild.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

Favorite field work experience or school trip and why?
Ninth grade Superior Hiking trail trip. I had a lot of fun and fun experiences with close friends, and it was beautiful.

If you had a walk up song, what would it be?
Get into it (Yuh) by Doja Cat

What Pronouns do you use?
He/him.

How tall are you?
About 5’2”

What’s your favorite book, movie or tv show?
Cinder

Who is your favorite senior?
Isaac Stender

What is your favorite video game?
Legend of Zelda, Breath of the Wild.

What extracurriculars do you plan on getting involved in at OWL?
Archery

Robots, 2
them with other teams there.
Many members of the robotics team were on a Lego League team previously. 12th grader Isaac Stender is the mentor for Megan’s Lego League team the Brick Birds. The mentors will help the Lego league team with coding and working on their innovation project. They also give advice on how to do well at competitions.

One of their goals is to score well at competitions, but equally important is their desire to work well as a team, build friendships, and have fun! Moving forward the OWL robotics team hopes to grow in members and continue being a team that has gender diversity and a positive environment.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.

Favorite field work experience or school trip and why?
Ninth grade Superior Hiking trail trip. I had a lot of fun and fun experiences with close friends, and it was beautiful.

If you had a walk up song, what would it be?
Get into it (Yuh) by Doja Cat

What Pronouns do you use?
He/him.

How long have you been at OWL?
Seven years.

What are your plans for next year?
Majoring in stats at the U of MN.

What’s been your favorite class in high school?
AP Stats.

What extracurriculars are you involved in?
Ultimate frisbee and archery.
Pajamas are most students' affordable and comfortable, so why not?

Remy Short  Staff Writer

I'm sure you've seen lots of your fellow classmates around school wearing the iconic plaid pajama pants. I myself am guilty of donning them. But, seeing so many people around wearing pajama pants really begs the question, Why incorporate pajama pants into everyday fashion?

This question was sparked into me at the start of Spirit Week, in which Monday was pajama day. That day many of my classmates, including me, wore pajama pants. But it wasn't just the start of spirit week that had me wondering about the fashion trend. I noticed myself and others sporting comfortable bottoms for around the beginning of the school year.

Naturally, I began researching the trend. And through the research, I discovered that pajama pants became a popular staple in teenage fashion. As if they were becoming the same as sweat pants. As it turns out, many describe the trend as the new sweatpants. Also as it turns out, this trend is fairly recent. I personally started seeing the pants sported about 1-2 years ago. Also through research, this trend is way more common throughout teenagers and youth, as it seems teenagers started the trend. For example, right grade Lizzie Dreher described the pants as "simply easier to wear after a long day of school or pants like jeans." The fact that the pajamas are easier to wear more often and are more comfortable seems to be the main reason why they are popular. People would prefer something more comfortable that still looks trendy as opposed to less uncomfortable trendy pants.

I am sure many other students in OWL can relate to this as well. I know that I can relate to these reasons, and I notice many students sporting pajama pants just about every day. For me, I most often wear them when I can't really decide what to wear, as they are an easy choice. They can help easily make a comfortable outfit to wear.

In addition to the comfort factor and how effortlessly they are, pajama pants are also generally less costly than the average pair of jeans or sweatpants. While jeans have varying prices that could get high, and sweatpants are generally more expensive. From online research, I looked at retailer websites like Walmart and Kohls. I noticed Kohls seem to price them higher, but on the Walmart website, the pants can be sold for as low as $75 and the main price point being $159. That price range is generally cheaper than an average pair of jeans or sweatpants, but it really depends on the retailer.

Pajamas have also been part of the fashion industry for a while, Fashion companies often dress up models in expensive designer pajamas, such as bathrobes and full sets of pajamas. This fact makes me conclude that pajamas have evolved into pajama pants.

Another interesting thing I discovered through my research is that the pajama pants trend was generally popularized by the fact that most kids in school were wearing ones that feel like they make them cool in a way. And through other sources, like my peers for example, I discovered that more and more people are wearing them, the pants are a great addition to their outfits, and help make them more effortless to create an outfit.

It’s difficult to determine whether the trend will last, but it is obvious that teenagers started the pajama pants trend. And as I said before, it seems that it was a fashion trend that evolved from fashion in fashion shows to comfortable pants.

And while the craze hasn’t reached much of the attention as sweatpants from peers, there were some opinions about the trend from adults. They described the pants to be lazy and some even stated that the pajamas were disrespectful and did not help to promote a serious learning environment.

I wondered what teachers at our school thought about pajama pants, so I asked a few. Science teacher Megan Hall said, “In my opinion, pajama pants are not the same as regular pants and don’t really belong at work or school. That being said, I don’t really have a problem for young people to express themselves through their clothing, but adults don’t understand or approve.” I’ve noticed that through the research I’ve done, this type of opinion is common throughout teachers and parents.

Even though some adults do not have much of an opinion. Social studies teacher Katie Craven said “I have no problem with pajama pants. If I could get away with wearing them to school I would.” This shows that not all adults have much of an opinion over pajama pants, and it also shows that some would also follow the trend.

In conclusion, pajama pants are definitely more popular throughout the younger generation. They also originated from teenagers as well and are becoming alike to sweatpants. Although there isn’t much opposition, there are some adults who find them to be not the equivalent of sweatpants as most teenagers think.

M3Gan movie doesn’t disappoint

New horror film is a commercial and critical success

Alex Cowles  Staff Writer

M3GAN shouldn’t have worked. Everything was pointing to it being a mass-produced, derivative, forgettable, post-holidays horror flick. Yet somehow M3GAN was a hit. M3GAN became a commercially successful and ranking a 94% on Rotten Tomatoes. M3GAN goes to show how well a movie can do when it’s aware of its silliness.

M3GAN stars Allison Williams, best known for starring in Jordan Pellel’s Get Out. She also happens to be the daughter of news anchor Brian Williams. That isn’t relevant to the movie, but I thought it was interesting enough to mention.

M3GAN is voiced by Jenna Davis (known for the viral ‘penny nickel dime’ TikTok video, again not relevant but weird enough to mention.) The screenplay was written by Alaka Cooper, best known for writing Malignant, a 2021 horror movie with a similar reputation for being off-the-walls and bonkers.

After her parents’ death, Cady grows up with her aunt. Gemma, a brilliant robot designer, is awkward and unsure about raising a child. She can’t get her mind off her work, and despite her best intentions, adds more stress to the poor grieving child. Despite her cluelessness, Gemma is sincerely trying to help Cady. At one point, Gemma shows Cady a basic mechanism of the robot, and the two discuss robotics. It’s a strong show that goes beyond the two banding. However, instead of learning to raise the kid, when she sees Cady’s reaction to the robot, the girl who used to be working on a lifelike doll robot. Gemma then calls it M3GAN and allows it to bond with Cady. Cady grieves her parents, she starts leaning on M3GAN more and more. While Cady becomes more reliant on M3GAN, M3GAN becomes more protective of Cady and sinister to anything she feels threatens Cady. Gemma then has to decide if her project has gone too far and it’s too late to stop an increasingly violent M3GAN.

The whole thing plays out as a well done. Don’t libs hand, metaphor for screen time and kids. Parents and teachers will probably appreciate the message of not allowing them to be a functioning member of society. It’s very easy to relate to, and it’s very relatable for being off-the-walls and bonkers.

Another interesting thing that I discovered through my research is that the pajama pants trend was generally popularized by the fact that most kids in school were wearing ones that feel like they make them cool in a way. And through other sources, like my peers for example, I discovered that more and more people are wearing them, the pants are a great addition to their outfits, and help make them more effortless to create an outfit.

It’s difficult to determine whether the trend will last, but it is obvious that teenagers started the pajama pants trend. And as I said before, it seems that it was a fashion trend that evolved from fashion in fashion shows to comfortable pants.

Even though some adults do not have much of an opinion. Social studies teacher Katie Craven said “I have no problem with pajama pants. If I could get away with wearing them to school I would.” This shows that not all adults have much of an opinion over pajama pants, and it also shows that some would also follow the trend.

In conclusion, pajama pants are definitely more popular throughout the younger generation. They also originated from teenagers as well and are becoming alike to sweatpants. Although there isn’t much opposition, there are some adults who find them to be not the equivalent of sweatpants as most teenagers think.

How to improve your social skills

Kid lingo will save you time so you can actually learn more and be more social.

Mikiko Limattta  Staff Writer

"Kid Lingo" is a term that the average student might not often hear. But it’s a language that many people understand, such as “smh” and “lmk.” It refers to language that is used by the younger generation, often in the context of memes or internet slang.

I’m a “SAHHFG, ” super awesome, humble, hardworking, good looking, funny, person. Lingo is a great tool to use when you’re talking to a meme friend or trying to get along with someone you don’t know very well. It can be very helpful in social situations, especially when you’re trying to make new friends.

I decided to abbreviate. I did this and is also my most used phrase. The first and is also my most used phrase. The second is also my favorite word.

Another interesting thing that I discovered through my research is that the pajama pants trend was generally popularized by the fact that most kids in school were wearing ones that feel like they make them cool in a way. And through other sources, like my peers for example, I discovered that more and more people are wearing them, the pants are a great addition to their outfits, and help make them more effortless to create an outfit.

It’s difficult to determine whether the trend will last, but it is obvious that teenagers started the pajama pants trend. And as I said before, it seems that it was a fashion trend that evolved from fashion in fashion shows to comfortable pants.

Even though some adults do not have much of an opinion. Social studies teacher Katie Craven said “I have no problem with pajama pants. If I could get away with wearing them to school I would.” This shows that not all adults have much of an opinion over pajama pants, and it also shows that some would also follow the trend.

In conclusion, pajama pants are definitely more popular throughout the younger generation. They also originated from teenagers as well and are becoming alike to sweatpants. Although there isn’t much opposition, there are some adults who find them to be not the equivalent of sweatpants as most teenagers think.

SMH - Shaking My Head. I find myself using SMH far too often, especially when professional leprechaun Theo Kimball starts talking about how much he loves his job at Patagonia. He is a hand-ed, metaphor for screen time and kids. Parents and teachers will probably appreciate the message of not allowing them to be a functioning member of society. It’s very easy to relate to, and it’s very relatable for being off-the-walls and bonkers.

マラ・マララ - This is a relatively simple one related to llamas. It means, “Llama Magazine seems common thing to me, an avid reader of llama magazine, LMAO holds a special place in my life. It was agressive when M3GAN is tak- en away, refusing to leave her at the dinner table or school. This could have easily been too goofy, but at points, it is a genuinely realistic portrayal of
His Dark Materials shows range

The book to TV series was released on HBO in 2019

Liam Nowotzki

This Dark Drama is heartfelt

New TV show follows a lawyer with autism

Mi Paw

Looking for a legal drama? Look no further for something that will tug at your heart strings? Then how about the heartfelt K-Drama show Extraordinary Attorney Woo?

Found on Netflix, this show follows a main character who despite being young and not having the ability to stop her from pursuing her dreams and proving others wrong.

Extraordinary Attorney Woo is directed by Yoo- soo, who directed the series Dr. Romantic, Giant, Vagabond, and You're All Surrounded recently rather than when she was a little kid.

Some of the most complex emotions I've felt watching something were animated. While I personally watch more people start treating it as such.

An art form. And it's time that an animated show was estimated to cost $150 million for the entire show while the live adaptation of the Last Airbender. The animated show was estimated to cost about $61 million for mature audiences.

There is a history of notable protests and national gatherings that have been held to support LGBTQ+ rights. In 1966 Compton's riot occurred at Compton's cafeterias in San Francisco against the police, and marked an important part of the fight for trans rights. Then on June 26th, 1969, the Stonewall Rebellion became a notable event in the LGBTQ+ rights movement. By putting Stonewall Inn, a gay bar, fought back against a police raid in NYC. A year later, in 1970 on the one-year anniversary of the Stonewall uprising, the first gay pride parade occurred in NYC, Los Angeles, and Chicago. Another important gathering is the march on Washington for Gay Rights that preceded the first LGBTQ+ rights march.

Some of the most complex emotions I've felt watching something were animated. While I personally watch more people start treating it as such.

An art form. And it's time that an animated show was estimated to cost $150 million for the entire show while the live adaptation of the Last Airbender. The animated show was estimated to cost about $61 million for mature audiences.

There is a history of notable protests and national gatherings that have been held to support LGBTQ+ rights. In 1966 Compton's riot occurred at Compton's cafeterias in San Francisco against the police, and marked an important part of the fight for trans rights. Then on June 26th, 1969, the Stonewall Rebellion became a notable event in the LGBTQ+ rights movement. By putting Stonewall Inn, a gay bar, fought back against a police raid in NYC. A year later, in 1970 on the one-year anniversary of the Stonewall uprising, the first gay pride parade occurred in NYC, Los Angeles, and Chicago. Another important gathering is the march on Washington for Gay Rights that preceded the first LGBTQ+ rights march.

Some of the most complex emotions I've felt watching something were animated. While I personally watch more people start treating it as such.

An art form. And it's time that an animated show was estimated to cost $150 million for the entire show while the live adaptation of the Last Airbender. The animated show was estimated to cost about $61 million for mature audiences.
Tom Brady may have talents, but acting isn’t one of them

Nick Strong
Staff Writer

So I don’t know the first thing about football (and don’t pretend you do), but I have heard that there’s this guy named Tom Brady who is the greatest football player of all time. And I also know there was a Super Bowl recently. I’m sure you know this: it’s an annual football game that decides the NFL’s champion. As Brady stars Lily Tomlin, Rita Moreno, June Squibb, and Pam Grier as a friend group who’s really good at the game.

But this isn’t the story of Brady as himself, getting into a football field in between watching a field in between watching the Super Bowl, and competing in a spicy NFL experience (such as the Bechdel test even though it’s very bittersweet. I highly recommend the show to anyone who wants to watch a football movie, as it is. This movie really takes itself seriously, which was a good choice given the题材. It is a 98-minute commercial disguised as a movie. The film is “based on a true story”, however the only true part of the story is that the movie is actually about playing football. As Brady portrays a miracle, a joy, and a team that made it to the Super Bowl to see Tom Brady. The solution to any problem or conflict that may arise in the story is simply: “don’t worry, everything will be alright because we’re going to win the Super Bowl!”

The story’s main characters are all women. The diverse Cloud 9 sitcom features the everyday lives of four lead characters: Jonah (Ben Feldman), Amy (America Ferrera) who has a kid. The diverse Cloud 9 sitcom features the everyday lives of four lead characters: Jonah (Ben Feldman), Amy (America Ferrera), Mateo (Nico Santos), and Stu (Haskins), and competing in a spicy chicken wing-eating contest, with no unique presentation of any kind. The number of plot conventions is through the roof and the directing is rather bland, and becoming incompetent in the climate which changes constantly between new footage of the Super Bowl game to the actual movie scene. So terrible that you can’t help but laugh at it, it’s just boring and cliche. It checks off every scenario that’s essential to the NFL experience. Superstore is definitely an entertaining TV show. Over this near century, we’ve seen the release of a wide range of plots and characters. I could write about the brilliance of personal favorite sitcoms such as The Office, Parks and Recreation, New Girl, and Arrested Development. However, I could not write about the legacy of classics such as Seinfeld, The Office, and 30 Rock. All of these have received enough high praise for lifetime and some of them might even be classified as out- dated. This is why I have curat- ed this list and am sharing the top 5 best sitcoms from the past de- cade starting from 2013.

5. Superstore (2015-2021)

There is more to working retail than meets the eye as this six-season series which follows a group of employ- ees working at the super- store. Known as Cloud 9, the workers are just trying to get through the day. Dealing with annoy- ing customers under the new com- public cop officers (e.g Jim and Pam from The Office). The story mostly centers around Amy (America Ferrera) who has been working at Cloud 9 for over ten years and is begin- ning to feel trapped. She then meets new hire Jonah (Ben Feldman) who allows her to enjoy the juicy parts of the world around her. Jonah then comes in and crush only to find out Amy is married and has a kid. The diverse Cloud 9 sitcom features the actual movie scene. So terrible that you can’t help but laugh at it, it’s just boring and cliche. It checks off every scenario that’s essential to the NFL experience. Superstore is definitely an entertaining TV show. Over this near century, we’ve seen the release of a wide range of plots and characters. I could write about the brilliance of personal favorite sitcoms such as The Office, Parks and Recreation, New Girl, and Arrested Development. However, I could not write about the legacy of classics such as Seinfeld, The Office, and 30 Rock. All of these have received enough high praise for lifetime and some of them might even be classified as out- dated. This is why I have curat- ed this list and am sharing the top 5 best sitcoms from the past de- cade starting from 2013.

There is more to working retail than meets the eye as this six-season series which follows a group of employ- ees working at the super- store. Known as Cloud 9, the workers are just trying to get through the day. Dealing with annoy- ing customers under the new com-
The emotional support blanket is now here!

LGBTQ+ 5
national gathering of people who marched on Washington to support LGBTQ+ rights. On October 14th, 1979, many LGBTQ+ people across the country took part in the first national march on Washington for gay and lesbian rights. Over 100,000 people participated in this march. Later in 1993, the march occurred again, and it was the 15th of the march on Washington for gay, lesbian, and bi-equally rights and liberation. The main goal of this march was to focus on lifting the ban on LGBTQ+ people in the military. An estimated 300,000 people participated in the march.

There are many different types of restrictions that are being put on the LGBTQ+ community in different states. In May of 2020, the state of Florida broke two categories: all encompassing and specifically related to transgender adults and youth. In terms of all encompassing, there are bills restricting single-sex facility use (restricting access to restrooms and showers) and bills that restrict what sports transgender youth can participate in. In 2022, 15 states introduced restrictions on transgender access to gender confirming care that includes restrictions on access to hormones and surgery.

On the other hand, there are some positive changes in terms of laws. In 1962, Illinois became the first state to decriminalize same sex relationships, but this did not include marriage. In 1973, the APA (American Psychological Association) removed homosexuality from its list of disorders, and in 1992 the World Health Organization removed homosexuality from its classification. Then in 1994 the AMA (American Medical Association) removed sexual orientation-related disorders from its official list. The ban on federal employment of gay and lesbian people was passed in 1994 and ended in 1975 and seven years later in 1982, Wisconsin became the first state to pass gay rights laws. In 2003 Massachusetts became the first state to legalize same-sex marriage. Now in 2022 the Respect for Marriage act has been passed to a mix of opinions, some people say that it's good because states now have to recognize other states' marriages and people have federal rights, but others have some problems with it. One of the problems people have with the act is that it doesn't guarantee the right to marry.

BUILDINGS

Buildings, 1 is currently located. At that time, the school was K-12, meaning it was a kindergarten to seniors in high school all tucked nicely into one building. Legend has it that there were six secret tunnels under the school.

Mechanic Arts Building

Next we moved into a really old building, built sometime in the 1800s. "It was super old, and really cool, and it was really close to the capital, it’s where the senate office is, the building is, right behind the capital," said Spanish teacher Tim Leona Gerton, who didn’t work in that building, but has researched the topic. We were there for about six or seven years when it was decided that the space wasn’t right for a school. It eventually got torn down and it doesn’t exist anymore.

Linwood

Linwood was the location where we would stay for 15 years, the 80s and early 90s. "That was a good spot to do it. You know, right in the neighborhood, not too far from Grand Avenue," said Tim. Jesse has very fond memories of this building, including the lilacs that grew along the back fence, a student-run coffee shop, the

The marketing for this movie is frustratingly misunderstood. It seems to have given people a false impression of what this movie is. I would not consider M3GAN a horror movie as much as a satirical dark comedy. It’s an intelligent film that deliberate about its campiness. The total balance of M3GAN is its strong writing how it mingles a ground character, the stakes are still real enough to the two lead characters with a self-aware look at the characters’ callousness. If the leads had been more nuanced and the audience would have made it harder for them to get invested in them. All the best moments in this movie are the ones that lean into the bizarre and campy feel, such as the scene where M3GAN comforts Cady after she realizes M3GAN is killing people to sleep and singing Titanium by Da- vid Guetta and Sia as a lullaby.

As part of our restructuring, the district moved us into an 8-story building downtown Saint Paul in 2011, and we shared the site with Creative Arts High School. "We had a lot of confidence that it would work out, but nobody around us did," said Tim. This was a bit of a stretch for building because of all the kids -- it was eight stories high, with no on street parking space -- teachers received passes to park in a nearby parking lot, which is filled with public schools and higher education. There are also bills prohibiting gender affirming care for transgender people, another of these restrictions that specifically affects trans youth, is the one that Michigan has passed to a mix of opinions. In 2022, 15 states introduced restrictions on transgender access to gender confirming care that includes restrictions on access to hormones and surgery.

On the other hand, there are some positive changes in terms of laws. In 1962, Illinois became the first state to decriminalize same sex relationships, but this did not include marriage. In 1973, the APA (American Psychological Association) removed homosexuality from its list of disorders, and in 1992 the World Health Organization removed homosexuality from its classification. Then in 1994 the AMA (American Medical Association) removed sexual orientation-related disorders from its official list. The ban on federal employment of gay and lesbian people was passed in 1994 and ended in 1975 and seven years later in 1982, Wisconsin became the first state to pass gay rights laws. In 2003 Massachusetts became the first state to legalize same-sex marriage. Now in 2022 the Respect for Marriage act has been passed to a mix of opinions, some people say that it's good because states now have to recognize other states' marriages and people have federal rights, but others have some problems with it. One of the problems people have with the act is that it doesn't guarantee the right to marry.

As one might expect, moving schools can be chaotic and messy - let's just hope we aren't moving anymore.

You would think that when moving buildings, you would lose a lot of students, but OWL usually didn’t. Many students helped with the moves and some big corporations also volunteered, like when one student worked at Target they were able to bring over a team of around 40 people to just pack boxes for an entire day.

As of press time, it seems like OWL won't be moving for a while. The building are currently in seems to fit OWL's needs well and we have a lot of good history here. Barring unforeseen circumstances, we are looking forward to the day when Clara will finish the task.
Top ten list of the best lists

If you like lists, read this list

Johnny Horton
Staff Writer

1. This list
tells you what this TV show just told you. It is number 1 because no list is better than this list because this list is my list so no list is better than this.

2. List of (anything you can list)

This list can tell you almost anything. It is number 2 because I find it extremely amusing. But a more dignified answer is that it can be anything.

3. Wish list

The wish list is what you want to have. I put this list at number 3 because it helps you know what to get and what to save up for. I find it hard to fill out. Others do not have such a similar problem.

4. Video game list

The video game list tells you what games to play next. The reason this is number 4 is because of reasons such as number seven and five.

5. Book list

The book list tells you the next book to read. Well it still moves slowly, but it is more enjoyable as you get more entertainment from this list but it is still really slow.

6. The bucket list

The bucket list tells you what to do before you die. It is number 6 because I think the movie was just using old news footage of him playing football.

7. Movies list

The movie list is a list that tells you what movies you would like to watch next. I put this on the lower half of the list because it is a rather slow-moving list and takes a long time to finish.

8. Packing list

The packing list tells you what to bring on a trip. Although it is usually a absolutely fun to travel it is annoying to pack a bag and I always feel like I’m forgetting something.

9. Groceries list

The groceries list tells you what to buy at the grocery store. I put this near the bottom because shopping for groceries is a generally dull experience and rather boring. I put it in this list because it is a rather slow-moving list and takes a long time to finish.

10. Homework list

The homework list tells you what you have to do for homework. I put it at the bottom of the list because the list is too long to finish.

---

Crushed and shipping are some of the most important things there are to this world to a tender young middle schooler.

Titus: “It’s disgusting. I yell when I see them.”

Sorcha: “Crushes in middle school are cash, but dating is trash.”

Noah: “It’s funny.”

---

Shocking and surprising is one of the most important things there are to this world to a tender young middle schooler.

Sorcha: “It’s not quite ready to commit to the overwhelming number of feature films yet. Some other films that don’t get as much attention are the ones that are only nominated for one award. These films have done exceptionally in one thing, but might be lacking in other achievements. Some people might think these films aren’t given “soulmate” Chidi (William Jackson Harper), who is also teaching at a middle school, and Living. These movies often get more attention, but are still not considered as important, mostly because they weren’t nominated for bigger awards.

Speaker of bigger awards, the four fiercest competitions take place in categories that focus on a niche, rather than simply the analysis of unique experiences. Some of the most unique experiences, however, are the ones that are often overlooked. These are often referred to as the three categories that get the most attention, although they are often not quite ready to commit to the overwhelming number of feature films yet. Some other films that don’t get as much attention are the ones that are only nominated for one award. These films have done exceptionally in one thing, but might be lacking in other achievements. Some people might think these films aren’t given “soulmate” Chidi (William Jackson Harper), who is also teaching at a middle school, and Living. These movies often get more attention, but are still not considered as important, mostly because they weren’t nominated for bigger awards.

Speaker of bigger awards, the four fiercest competitions take place in categories that focus on a niche, rather than simply the analysis of unique experiences. Some of the most unique experiences, however, are the ones that are often overlooked. These are often referred to as the three categories that get the most attention, although they are often not quite ready to commit to the overwhelming number of feature films yet. Some other films that don’t get as much attention are the ones that are only nominated for one award. These films have done exceptionally in one thing, but might be lacking in other achievements. Some people might think these films aren’t given “soulmate” Chidi (William Jackson Harper), who is also teaching at a middle school, and Living. These movies often get more attention, but are still not considered as important, mostly because they weren’t nominated for bigger awards.

Speaker of bigger awards, the four fiercest competitions take place in categories that focus on a niche, rather than simply the analysis of unique experiences. Some of the most unique experiences, however, are the ones that are often overlooked. These are often referred to as the three categories that get the most attention, although they are often not quite ready to commit to the overwhelming number of feature films yet. Some other films that don’t get as much attention are the ones that are only nominated for one award. These films have done exceptionally in one thing, but might be lacking in other achievements. Some people might think these films aren’t given “soulmate” Chidi (William Jackson Harper), who is also teaching at a middle school, and Living. These movies often get more attention, but are still not considered as important, mostly because they weren’t nominated for bigger awards.

Speaker of bigger awards, the four fiercest competitions take place in categories that focus on a niche, rather than simply the analysis of unique experiences. Some of the most unique experiences, however, are the ones that are often overlooked. These are often referred to as the three categories that get the most attention, although they are often not quite ready to commit to the overwhelming number of feature films yet. Some other films that don’t get as much attention are the ones that are only nominated for one award. These films have done exceptionally in one thing, but might be lacking in other achievements. Some people might think these films aren’t given “soulmate” Chidi (William Jackson Harper), who is also teaching at a middle school, and Living. These movies often get more attention, but are still not considered as important, mostly because they weren’t nominated for bigger awards. The idea of bigger awards is a component which is a component of this unique experience and rather boring. Other countries’ cultures and their approach to filmmaking is a unique experience and rather boring. This is why this is number 4 is because of reasons such as number seven and five.

---

Leo: “Volcanoes are cool. They have lava.”

A volcano is a rupture in the crust of a planet- mass object, such as Earth, that allows hot magma to escape from an underground magma chamber below the surface.” — Wiki

Sorcha: “They make igneous rocks. End of story.”

Violet: “They make nice gooey noises.”

Luiz: “You know guys Pompeii! Really bad.”

Leo: “Volcanoes are cool. They have lava.”

---

Sicitons, 6

ing. All seasons are streaming on Peacock.

3. The Good Place (2016-2020)

Sitcoms

terrific

involving. All seasons are streaming on Netflix.

2. Schitt’s Creek (2015-2020)

When a multimillionaire family becomes victims of fraud and goes broke overnight, they lose everything and are forced to move to a small town where they open a motel.

The second of these categories is Best Documentary. Documentaries tell non-fiction or real life stories, often in an instructional way. The categories for Best Documentaries are All That Breathes about endangered birds of prey in India, Alive Beauty and the Bloodshed, about photographer Nan Goldin, Fire of Love, about a volcanologist,ouples, A House Made of Splinters, about a group of women caregivers who have been displaced from their homes, and Navalny, about an assa-

CASH CASH TRASH CASH TRASH

8

Leo: “Volcanoes are cool. They have lava.”

---

Sorcha: “They make igneous rocks. End of story.”

Violet: “They make nice gooey noises.”

Luiz: “You know guys Pompeii! Really bad.”

Leo: “Volcanoes are cool. They have lava.”

---

Sicitons, 6

ing. All seasons are streaming on Peacock.

3. The Good Place (2016-2020)

Sitcoms

terrific

involving. All seasons are streaming on Netflix.

2. Schitt’s Creek (2015-2020)

When a multimillionaire family becomes victims of fraud and goes broke overnight, they lose everything and are forced to move to a small town where they open a motel.

The second of these categories is Best Documentary. Documentaries tell non-fiction or real life stories, often in an instructional way. The categories for Best Documentaries are All That Breathes about endangered birds of prey in India, Alive Beauty and the Bloodshed, about photographer Nan Goldin, Fire of Love, about a volcanologist,ouples, A House Made of Splinters, about a group of women caregivers who have been displaced from their homes, and Navalny, about an assa-