

Beliefs

We believe:

- academic excellence is a continual work in progress.
- students, teachers, parents, and administrators hold high achievement expectations.
- respect is the foundation of the education process.
- consistent policies and discipline are critical to the success of our school.
- parental involvement is vital to student learning.
- Technology integration is essential to student learning.
- all involved in the learning environment must be accountable for their actions.
- in collaborative decision making.
- all students must be taught “how to think” not “what to think”.
- extra-curricular activities play a significant role in our student’s educational experience.
- in the use of creativity and imagination, as well as hands-on.
