National Honor Society and Student Council came up with the idea to have high school students decorate trees as team building exercise. This activity turned into a friendly competition!

Students were sent to their mentor groups with a 24" tree and a list of guidelines. They had one hour to make ornaments and accessories for their trees using only supplies they could find within the school. We asked the elementary to vote on their favorite tree. The trees were displayed in front of the office up until Christmas break. We plan to make this a yearly tradition!

Congratulations to the 8th grade winners!
