Connecticut's Largest Earth Day Celebration

This year will be Woodbury's 30th Annual Earth Day Celebration!

Like the original Earth Day celebrated in America in 1970, Woodbury's version of Earth Day has evolved over time. Celebrating Earth Day in Woodbury is a tradition that began 30 years ago in the New Morning Market parking lot in Middle Quarter Mall.

After hosting an annual celebration in the parking lot for two decades, New Morning Market worked with the town and community partners to move the event to Hollow Park in 2012 as it had grown to attract upwards of 5,000 attendees and more space was needed.

Since then, Woodbury's Earth Day has grown to become the largest Earth Day Celebration in Connecticut.

With more than 120 Vendors including Food Trucks, Instructors and Artisans, there will be something for everyone!
