Title VI News

Hello families! I hope your Spring is off to a nice start and your students are doing well. Our last raffle drawing was another great success. Thank you to the many families who submitted photos. Please check out our Facebook page to see a video with all the photo entries. Our Title VI staff enjoyed seeing all the different and creative ways our Native American students keep their minds and bodies healthy. Our raffle drawing winners were very excited to accept their baskets. Please be on the lookout for future communications on our next raffle drawing in May. We hope to see you participate!

A lot of exciting opportunities for our Native American students are coming up this month. On Tuesday, April 6th, we will be having Aaron Yazzie, a mechanical engineer who works for NASA present to our students and families through Zoom. His presentation is from 3:15-4:00PM. The Zoom link is <https://kyrene.zoom.us/j/81052428626>. We hope you will tune in to learn more about his fascinating story! Also, we are partnering with Phoenix Indian Center to bring you Living in 2 Worlds classes. These classes are geared to middle school aged children. Classes will be every Monday and Wednesday from 3:30-4:30PM. The Zoom link for the first class is: <https://kyrene.zoom.us/j/83992945569>. Finally, we are asking families of our 8th grade students to send in photos and information on their graduate. We would love to recognize their hard work. Refer to the flyer below for more information. We hope you have a great month!
