School Processes & Programs

School Processes & Programs Summary

Teachers received the instructions on the teacher allotment program and many were excited.

Some teachers at FMS are in the middle of receiving their certificate by completing a teacher prep program.

First year teachers are assigned mentors, attend monthly meetings with district personnel, and receive support from the campus instructional coach. They also attend meetings at Central Office to support them.

Teachers meet daily to plan collaboratively, analyze data, and to study the TEKS. Curriculum is aligned with the state standards. All content area teachers utilize the TEKS Resource System to pace and plan their lessons, as well as to create their common summative assessments. Lesson plans are objective and data driven. I Will We Will statements are posted.

Professional development is planned prior to each new school year after campus needs and root causes of low performance are identified. Some professional development is offered during the summer, and the district provides five Professional Development days/student holidays throughout the school year professional learning. In addition to the campus professional development, teachers are able to attend off-site trainings as well.

The campus instructional coach offers ongoing professional development and support that is relevant to teachers' current needs.

A 35-minute advisory class was added this year to address possible gaps, intervene, and provide social-emotional lessons for students. This class period is also used to recruit and coach Academic UIL participants. Also, accelerated instruction occurs in the 35 minute period.

AVID was added to promote College, Career, and Military readiness (CCMR). 8th grade students are presented with information about postsecondary education, career readiness, and exploration activities through their health classes, Skills for Living classes, and online activities with high school counselors. FMS takes 8th grade students on college visits to local universities and colleges.

FMS counselors create and deliver social-emotional lessons to students campus-wide. They provide peer-mediation and support to students needing to resolve conflicts.

Students are supported in their transition from elementary school to middle school and from middle school to high school by the FMS counselors visiting the elementary campuses and the high school counselors visiting the FMS campus to discuss schedules and career goals. Additionally, incoming 6th graders visit and tour the campus when they participate in the 6th Grade Camp in the summer. This camp provides an opportunity to familiarize students with the campus, procedures, expectations, rules, teachers, and overall climate. Transition ARDs and LPACs are held with key members from outgoing and incoming campuses.

FMS hosts a Back to School Night at the beginning of the fall semester.

FMS offers both regular and advanced classes. FMS has open-enrollment for advanced classes in each grade level.

The FMS Intervention Committee meets every 9-weeks to discuss students based on information provided by the grade level teams.

FMS utilized a newly developed discipline management plan. The goal is to build relationships with students and families, provide structure and support to students, and to provide consequences while keeping the relationships in tact.

During the school year, there are assemblies and lessons that focus on social media/online safety, bullying, and vaping. FMS also has a school resource officer who is on campus on a regular basis, interacting with students and providing support.

School Processes & Programs Strengths

FMS provides a data room for teachers to view and assess student academic growth.

FMS has dedicated a period for daily common planning for content area Professional Learning Committees.

Regular administrative walk-throughs, the instructional coach working with individuals and Professional Learning Committees, and the collaborative planning period all provide opportunities for staff feedback and professional growth.

Grade-level intervention meetings.

FMS provides students with opportunities to receive high school credit through CTE classes (Intro. to Culinary and Landscape Design ), as well as Spanish I, Art, and Algebra I.

FMS provides a variety of electives as well as regular and advanced core content classes.

The instructional coach works with teachers and PLCs on a regular basis. Assessment Data is disaggregated in PLC's.

The advisory period which occurs on Tue and Thurs provides a time for grade checks, make-up work, homework, and accelerated instruction.
