WELCOME TO THE 2019 YEARBOOK, CONNECTIONS!

Thomas Powell

William Knotek and Jill Seaman

Daryl Hayes

A letter from an editor:

The idea for the theme of this yearbook came after weeks of reflection by the Publications Team. Connections refers to the close friendships made by students of SJCP. At freshman orientation, we make little 'connections' with others that turn into lifelong friendships. The theme also serves to remind us what it was like to grow up in an age of social media: meeting new friends and finding them online, endless talks with your best friends, shared jokes, and more. And lastly, it is a reminder, that today, and always, some of your closest friends will be right at your fingertips. No matter how far we separate after graduation day, we are all connected. We hope you will cherish this book of wonderful memories in whatever chapter follows.

Best Regards,
A senior and the Publications Team

Being involved in sports throughout my life has shaped who I am today. I've been taught extremely valuable life lessons that I live by: always hold your head up high and never let it fall, work smarter and harder than everyone else, and give your best effort one hundred percent of the time, no matter what you are doing.

Sports to me isn't just another activity at the end of the day; it's a time to create new connections with others and it allows me to express myself in endless ways.

All in all, sports gave me the mental toughness and courage to go after anything I want and without it I don't know who I'd be.

Katie Adams

Look how you've grown! As you embark on your next chapter, continue to work hard and follow your dreams. We are so proud! Mom & Dad

Dennis McAfee

It's hard to believe that eighteen years have passed by so quickly and you're now graduating from high school. Words can not express how proud we are of you and what you have accomplished thus far. Your future is in your hands to make of it what you chose.

Know that as you go off to college and begin to create your own path to follow, there will be success and there will be failure along the way. But never forget, we will be here for you to lean on, to confide in, to guide you, and to support you.

We wish you nothing but the best in life!

We love you, and we're so proud to say you are our son.

Love,
Mom & Dad
xoxo

Amelia Scherer

Dear Amelia,

Our dreams came true the moment you entered our lives. We are so proud of you and will love you forever and always. May God's grace continue to guide you through your next adventures in college and beyond. We can't wait to see what comes next! Congratulations!

WORDS OF WISDOM:

A reflection on "Connections" ...

Every day our world becomes more and more connected. Social media, for example, has completely changed the way we communicate and interact with each other. Some of you have "friends" or "followers" that you've never actually met in person. And while social media will remain a powerful communication tool well into the future, it will never replace the true power and meaning of face-to-face human interaction.

Our hope is that you will always cherish the connections you made here at SJCP. Four years of walking the halls, learning in classrooms, participating in extracurriculars, eating in the cafeteria – all involved daily, face-to-face interactions with friends, classmates, teachers, and coaches. These are REAL connections, and they are much deeper than anything you could make through a screen.

All of you will eventually leave our doors and go off to meet new people, travel to new places, and ultimately, make new connections. But we hope you always remember that the connections you have made here at SJCP helped shape you into the person you are today. The future will look different for each and every one of you, but there is one thing that will always connect you – your high school. Once a Viking, always a Viking!

Seniors – we will miss you! Best of luck, and we look forward to the day that we can once again...CONNECT!

-Mr. Knotek & Dr. Powell
