Lucky seven

Dr. Thomas Powell, President

Mr. Marc Minsker, Principal

Mr. Daryl Hayes,
Vice Principal

dr. powell mr. minsker

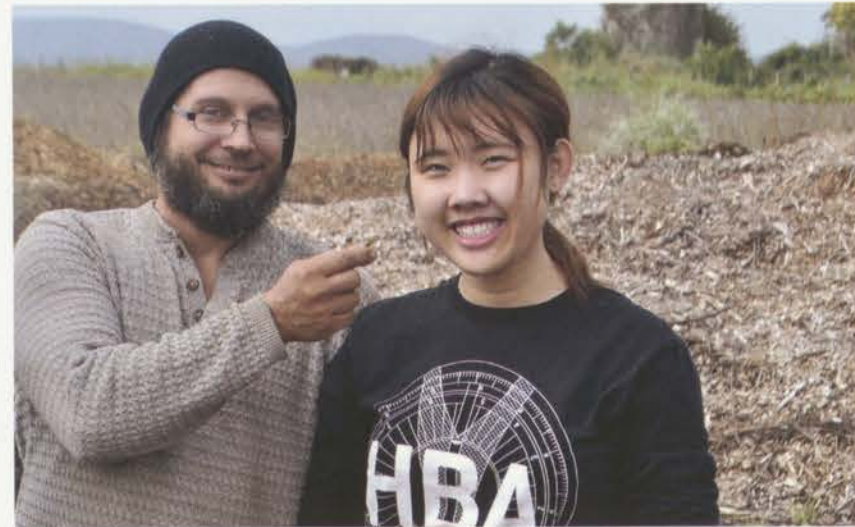

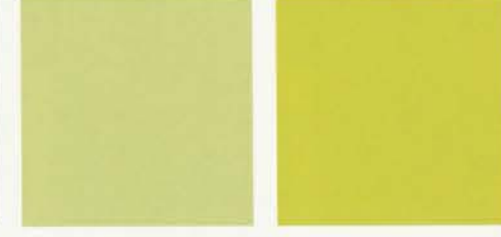

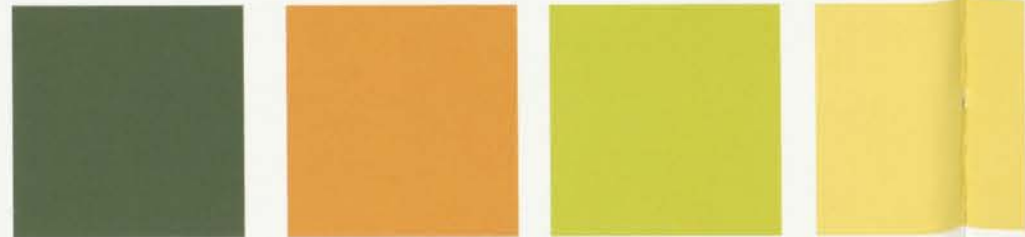

Every year, the Yearbook staff comes up with a relevant theme for the SJCP Yearbook. Often the theme references certain trends or changes occurring in the school or in society. For instance, the 2013 yearbook was titled DEFINING MOMENTS which highlighted the school's historic move from Prospect Hall to Buckeystown. This year's theme, LUCKY 7, was chosen because of the significance of 'seven' in our school year (2017) and in our history (187 years old).

From ancient times, seven is a significant and symbolic number. In Judaism, the number 7 is the greatest power number, representing good fortune, creation, and blessing. Indeed the Hebrew word for luck, gad, is equated with seven. In the Bible, seven is considered a number of completeness and representative of divine perfection: God made the world in seven days. Jesus is quoted in the Gospel of John as saying "I am" seven times. There are seven letters to seven churches, as well as seven trumpets, in the Book of Revelation...and the list goes on. In numerology, seven is identified as the "seeker number" that doesn't take anything at face value; it is always trying to penetrate the surface of things to discover hidden truths.

All of these representations of seven relate to the Mission of SJCP. We are blessed with a loving and caring community of educators and students. And although we cannot claim divine perfection, we do value and strive for completeness: educating the mind, body, and spirit and fostering completeness as "one in Christ". Lastly, we are instilling in our students an intellectual curiosity that prompts a deeper investigation into academic subjects and philosophies.

Dr. Powell and I are indeed lucky to be a part of such a vibrant and nurturing community and hope the school's legacy continues for many years to come. ~Mr. Marc Minsker

My sweet Emily, Congratulations on your graduation! I am so incredibly proud of you with this great accomplishment and excited about what your next chapter brings. You might not know what the future holds, but I'm pretty sure I can make a few predictions. I believe you will continue to soar and grow. You will remember the lessons of your childhood and apply them as needed. You will contribute to your community, and you will fulfill your responsibilities to the best of your ability. You will stay true to who you are and you will continue to treat others with kindness. Because of that, you will find success, no matter how it is measured.

Good kids still exist. Thank you for being one of those kids. Thank you for staying the course. Thank you for teaching me and for being you. Enjoy your graduation and please allow me to take all the pictures I want. I know it annoys you, but it's my job. :) Some things will never change.

Love always, Mom
