Fall Semester 2022

Step Up to STEM at the NC School of Science and Math

Takyra Henderson, a ninth grade student at Bartlett Yancey Senior High School, was selected to attend the Step Up to STEM residential program at the NC School of Science and Math this past summer. Step Up to STEM is “an innovative interdisciplinary academic program that uses exciting real-world subjects to challenge rising 9th and 10th graders across North Carolina and build their skills in science, math, technology, and communications.” (ncssm.edu/stepup)

African-American, Hispanic-American, and Native-American 8th graders who meet grade qualifications may begin applying for Step Up to STEM in January.

The NC School of Science and Math also offers summer programs for all students in grades 4-11. Please visit <https://www.ncssm.edu/summer-programs> for more information. Applications open soon.

Local AIG Plan

The AIG department, AIG chairs, and the AIG district steering committee put in many hours during the 2021-22 school year to review, revise, and rewrite Caswell County Schools’ local AIG plan.

The Board of Education approved the plan in the spring and it was submitted to the NC Department of Public Instruction for review.

The AIG department will receive feedback from the state before winter break.

Survey Results

Students, teachers, administrators, and parents/guardians are surveyed every spring to get their opinions and thoughts about the AIG experience. See what students are saying about the AIG program.

“AIG is fun and pushes me out of my comfort zone.”

“AIG classes are great and I love being in them.”

Being in AIG classes “helps me learn new things and tests my knowledge about different things I know. It also helps expand my vocabulary and knowledge.”

“I’m glad I’m in it!”

Two-Way Partnerships

The AIG department is looking to form two-way partnerships with businesses, non-profits, and community organizations. Please contact the AIG department if you or your organization may be interested in collaborating with AIG students.
