Wells Fargo Employees to Engage in Massive Volunteer Effort at Hillsboro High School

More than 100 employees from the bank's Barnhart Center in Beaverton will participate in the six-hour event on 8/2

July 30, 2014, Hillsboro, OR – Employees of Wells Fargo's Barnhart Center in Beaverton will hold their sixth annual Volunteer Day at Hillsboro High School (3285 SE Rood Bridge Road, Hillsboro) on Saturday, August 2, from 9am to 3pm.

Throughout the day, volunteers will be landscaping the grounds, painting, recycling, removing old desks, organizing art and science supplies and library books, and cleaning the buildings inside and out to get them ready for the new school year.

More than 100 employees are anticipated at the event—an estimated person-power donation of nearly $13,000—and will be joined by students, teachers and parents.

Wells Fargo team member Courtney Severson is serving as chair of the Wells Fargo volunteer team. She and Hilhi Principal Arturo Lomeli will be available for interviews.
