Lodging, Food & Transportation

Sleeping

You will be staying at a local church in Arizona. Your team will be sleeping on hard floors, so mats/air mattresses are essential. Bring your own bedding. It can be cool at night, so a warm sleeping bag is recommended. Teams should plan to share housing with additional teams who may be serving during the same week. Housing is generally not divided by gender but smaller private spaces are available for changing clothes.

Showers

There will be no showers at the church. You will be using rustic, outdoor shower stalls. During spring trips it may be too cold to shower, so wet wipes are recommended.

Bathrooms

The only toilets available will be outhouses.

Water

There is no running water; however fresh drinking water will be made available in coolers.

Electricity

There will be electricity at the church.

Food

Experience Mission staff will prepare your meals each day. The menu includes an ample selection of tasty food! Team members should plan to bring their own plate, bowl, cup and silverware for meals.

Transportation

Your teams transportation to, from and while in the Navajo Reservation is not covered. You will need your vehicles throughout the entire week to transport your team to various locations for work and ministry.

For teams traveling to our Western Navajo communities it is important to note that while The Navajo Nation DOES observe Daylight Savings time, the state of Arizona DOES NOT. During the months when Daylight Savings time is observed there is a 1 hour time difference between the Navajo Nation and the state of Arizona.

*Teams arriving from Phoenix or Flagstaff should expect to lose an hour during travel to Black Mesa.

Using a school bus as your main mode of transportation while in this community is not an option. Our work on the Navajo Reservation can only accommodate standard 15 passenger vans or smaller.
