

Cardinals show RESPECT!

During the month of August, RLW students will be learning about respect through our social emotional curriculum, Character Strong. Throughout the month of August, please have intentional conversations with your child about what respect looks like and sounds like at home, at school, and in the community. Be on the lookout for a respect newsletter coming home digitally from your child's teacher. View the graphic below for a quick peek into what specific skills each grade is working on with the overarching trait of respect.

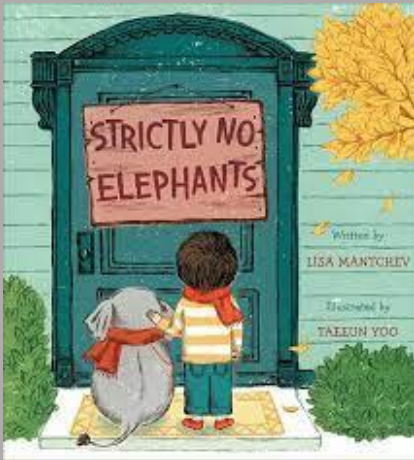

Listen to a book read by Mrs. Scott!

Click directly on the cover image or on the blue title to hear our principal, Mrs. Scott, read one of her favorite books!

Cardinals show RESPECT!

As a family, listen to the following stories & discuss how the characters show respect to one another, themselves, and their surroundings. Click on the cover image or title directly to reach the stories.

"Strictly No Elephants"
By: Lisa Mantchev

"Mean Jean, the Recess Queen"
By: Alexis O'Neill and
Laura Huliska-Beith

"Baditude!"
By: Julia Cook

What would YOU do?

As a family, discuss the following social situations. How would a PurposeFull Person handle the situation? How can you resolve these conflicts in a respectful way?

Someone in your class says your new shoes are ugly.

Mrs. Scott says "hello" to you in the hallway.

Someone is on the swing you want so you push them off.

