syaworski@ican.family.org

Brief Program Description: Kids Herkimer Detention Diversion Program (KHDDP) was designed to prevent children from entering out-of-home detention and reduce the need for children to enter detention while they are engaged in court proceedings. The Detention Diversion Coordinator makes an assessment of the child's current circumstances including current service interventions, protective factors, and safety concerns to determine level of risk in the community and help determine if the child in question is in need of supplemental services in conjunction with program. These supplemental services may include respite, electronic monitoring or rise and shine. Intensive services are provided to the child and family at the home, in school and in the community until a long term plan is made for the child through a family court disposition.

Target Population: Youth in Herkimer County ages 12-17 who are at risk of entering a Non-Secure Detention via a Family Court Petition for PINS for JD.

Eligibility Requirements: The youth is presenting behaviors and mental health concerns that indicate he/she is at imminent risk of out of home placement if a service intervention is not provided. Youth should have received prior intervention from the PINS Unit or community based mental health services before being referred.

A Family Service Coordinator (FSC) works with the family to identify their strengths and needs, assisting them in developing goals (treatment plan) that can help them be successful. A wraparound approach to treatment is utilized as the FSC coordinates a team of established providers to provide supports and services to the child and family in an attempt to empower them to meet their goals. Services include, but are not limited to, behavior management, parent aide, mentoring and crisis intervention.

Target Population: The Intensive Preventive Program serves children, male and female, up to age 18, that are at risk of residential or foster care placement outside the home due to either the child's behavioral/mental health needs (i.e. truancy, incorrigibility, PINS) or neglect and abuse issues occurring within the family (i.e. CPS involvement).

Brief Program Description: The Return Home Early Program was created in response to the skyrocketing out of home placement numbers and increased financial strain on Herkimer County. The RHE program was tasked with independently assessing all children in institutional care for their appropriateness of returning home prior to their court expiration date with the appropriate level of services for supports. The program manager uses the Child Readiness Assessment, a tool that is completed on every child to rate their readiness to return to their home environment. Each child is provided a face to face interview with their treatment team and program manager quarterly to address the discharge planning process and help process any barriers that exist to the child returning home. All placement and demographic information as well as outcomes and readiness are tracked through a proprietary software program called Client Tracker which can generate reports regarding children in placement.

Target Population: Children in residential or group home settings, up to age 18, with some resource to return home to (i.e. children freed for adoption or with plan for independent living after placement would not qualify for this program).

Eligibility Requirements: children in residential placement facilities
