

A wide-angle photograph of a beach heavily littered with plastic waste, including numerous clear and blue plastic bottles, some crushed and some still full. The trash is scattered across the light-colored sand, interspersed with small green coastal plants and pieces of driftwood. In the background, the ocean stretches to the horizon under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds. Distant landmasses are visible on the horizon.

We need to make a difference

Why we are doing this

We are doing this for many reasons. Some reasons are: animals are beautiful and they make earth complete. These animals are unique and precious we need to save them. Do you like to see these beautiful creatures? If we don't save them they will be Gone Forever! We will never see them again and future generations won't be able to see them too. This might sound like such a big idea but, it really isn't. You can help.

This is a video we thought we should show you

Wow! That's a lot of trash. And now it looks amazing in under 3 years! Those people must care about Mumbai's beaches but do we care about ours? That is our goal to do here in California!

Looks like they took the matters into their own hands.

Ways You Can Help

- Not eating meat for one day a week
- Not using plastic bags because that's just going in the sewers, so we are going to be teaching others to use containers.
- Create awareness
- Picking up trash (main idea) This is something easy that almost everybody can do without any effort.

Awareness posters

We have made about fifteen posters. With these posters, we were thinking that we could put them around the school. This will help make people aware that this is important. We want to make this fun but also make people care. Just a little helps.
