Message from the BOE President...

"In times of change, learners inherit the Earth, while the learned find themselves beautifully equipped to deal with a world that no longer exists. "

– Eric Hoffer (1902-1983), American writer

Michael Collins
Board of Education President

It's interesting to note that Eric Hoffer wrote these words about the nature of learning years before the term "life-long learner" was embraced by educators. His life took a meandering path. He had many jobs: migrant farm worker, longshoreman, prospector, author, newspaper columnist, public speaker and philosopher. In 1983, President Ronald Reagan awarded him the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Eric Hoffer recognized that learning is holistic. It needs to be relevant and connect with the realities we face as a society on local, regional and global levels. As a district, we are using differentiated learning techniques to address the diverse ways our students learn. We are connecting real world examples in the classroom. Teachers are challenging students to achieve their personal best. We are challenging ourselves to maintain the high academic standards and the quality education that our community expects and deserves. We will continue to use our existing resources prudently and efficiently to ensure our students, and the entire community has access to opportunities today and in the future. Opportunity also brings accountability. We are committed to fostering an environment that promotes responsibility and measures success through educational outcomes and quality of life. These aren't lofty goals. They are the filters we use to help us navigate through changing times.

Take a moment to pause and reflect on all of the positive influences that shape our community. Look for ways you can make a difference. Try to learn something new every day. It will be time well spent.

On behalf of the Board, thank you for your support and we look forward to serving the community as we move forward.

"The illiterate of the 21st century will not be those who cannot read and write, but those who cannot learn, unlearn, and relearn."

-- Alvin Toffler, (1928 -) American writer, futurist

Best wishes,

Michael L. Collins, President
WCS Board of Education

Elementary School . . .

When each of us was a child we enjoyed either listening to or reading fairy tales. If I mentioned a glass slipper, a bean stalk or a big bad wolf many of us would get an image in our minds of these popular fairy tales.

Recently, students in Mrs. Newmyer and Mrs. Sharp's second grade classes participated in an in-depth study of fairy tales. In this unit of study students learn about the various elements of a fairy tale that include: royal characters, evil characters, magic or special powers, beginning and ending word choice, presence of a moral dilemma and the repetitive nature of special numbers. Various versions of each fairy tale, including versions from other countries, are read and the students compare and contrast each version. In addition they study the author's purpose, development of characters, separate fact from fiction, recognize that writing serves many different purposes and begin to analyze the use of language through style, purpose and perspective.

While their classroom teachers are busy teaching and reading fairy tales, our physical education teacher, Mr. Minier, is teaching the students how to waltz. As a culminating event, the students celebrate with a fairy tale ball complete with costumes, invited guests, food, dancing, and royalty.

Anne Ressler
Elementary School Principal

Middle School . . .

We have successfully completed our first 10 weeks of the school year and we have witnessed a great deal of growth and development from the Middle School students. The faculty continues to encourage students to stay organized and give their best effort. Our academic and behavioral expectations remain high for all students and they have responded.

Over 63% of the students in the Middle School are on the Achievement, Merit, Honor or High Honor roll for the 1st quarter. Students are proud of their accomplishments and teachers are continuing to work hard to instruct and challenge the students. Students are encouraged to seek assistance if needed and be responsible for their learning. Together with families, we encourage students to put forth their best effort and engage in learning.

Our discipline has decreased significantly over the first quarter of the year. For the month of September disciplinary referrals were down 56%; for October they were down 60%.

John E. Fulmer
Middle School Principal

Activities that have occurred in the first quarter and into the second quarter of this year at the Middle School include:

- Volunteer Club - Various activities are being planned and the group has already raked leaves in Pultneyville.
- Once on this Island - Tryouts and rehearsals have been occurring for the production of the school musical performed February 5th and 6th.
- Student Association – officers have been elected and many activities are planned for the future.
- Book Fair - All students were given the opportunity to purchase discounted books and school supplies. Students purchased over $3500 worth of books this year.
- Educational field trips - 8th grade went to Camp Arrowhead for team building; other grade level trips are planned.
- Immigration Day – 8th graders were “processed” through an immigration station that mirrored Ellis Island.
- Wayne County Youth Conference – Fifteen MS students participated in this leadership and healthy lifestyle conference.
- Red Ribbon Week – A week-long focus on educating a drug free lifestyle school wide including capturing a great deal of school spirit.
- New York State Standardized Testing - Throughout the school year standardized tests will occur in each grade in each of the four curriculum areas. The 5th grade Social Studies Test occurred in November.
- “Gathering at the Core” Brown Bag – One evening enrichment activity has occurred and another is planned for December.
- Modified Athletics - Over 100 students participated in extra-curricular athletics at the Middle School during the fall season.
- Red Robin Kindness Initiative – A student committee formed and have a list of activities planned regarding honesty and kindness to others. A multi-media kick off assembly was very successful.
- Report Card Night –Over 77% of Middle School parents picked up their students report card and had an opportunity to speak directly to classroom teachers.
- MAP (Measures of Academic Progress) Testing – All students in the Middle School participated in this standardized testing that allowed students teachers and parents to immediately know of reading and math ability levels.

Upcoming events...

- 5th and 6th Grade Holiday Concert – December 10th @ 7:00
- 7th and 8th Grade Holiday Concert – December 16th @ 7:00
- Once on this Island - Tryouts and rehearsals have been occurring for the production of the school musical performed February 5th and 6th.

Message from the Superintendent . . .

DIFFERENT YEAR, SAME STORY

Last December Governor Patterson announced that there would be mid-year cuts. He also told districts to prepare for less aid for this school year. The mid-year cuts never materialized and the federal government came forward to fill the gap left in this year's state aid. This meant that although there were no increases in aid, the funding level remained flat. Last month the governor again announced that he is recommending mid-year cuts and has called the legislature back to Albany to work on the deficit.

Maria Ehresman
Superintendent of Schools

There has been much discussion about the deficit and cuts. The governor's proposal takes back a larger share of aid from districts who have more financial resources and less students with needs. It would seem to the observer that this would make his proposal fair. The wealthiest districts would face the steepest cuts. But poorer districts count on state aid to fund a larger share of their budget. Therefore, cuts to the poorer districts represent a larger portion of their total expenditures. In some districts, a cut might mean that they no longer can offer a third (or even fourth) foreign language choice. In districts with fewer resources, it means cutting teachers, larger class sizes and less electives. Based upon a recent study by the Education Trust, the funding gap between wealthy and poor districts in NYS is the worst in the United States.

Last year, the district cut eight positions. It will be difficult to make similar cuts for next year's budget. Considering that, we will continue to work with our staff and our unions to look for solutions. We know that these are hard times and that the burden on taxpayers is an issue that must be addressed. It is our hope that it can be addressed in an equitable way by both the state and the district.

REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDY

Thank you to all that returned your survey on regional high schools. This is one measure that I believe can address some of the issues that we face. A community meeting to share the results of the study is scheduled for January 27, 2010, 6:30 p.m. in the Williamson Middle School cafeteria.
