

Concurrent Credit Psychology

2021-2022 School
Year

Concurrent Credit Psychology is the first exposure that many students have to the field of Psychology while others have already taken Intro to Psychology. The class is intended to introduce students to the broad range of topics that Psychology encompasses. Students who successfully complete the course will receive college credit from UAFS (which usually will transfer to other institutions) for Psychology 101.

Topics covered in the course are at the discretion of UAFS and the instructor. They include such material as:

- Research Methodology
- Biology
- Psychological Theories
- Development
- Clinical Psychology
- Motivation
- Personality
