SWPBIS Routines

SCHOOL

Most children thrive when they have routines and structure. Schools set specific routines for students to follow during the day. Schools often post these schedules in classrooms or give them to students at the beginning of the school year or term.

HOME

When schools are not in session, students may have fewer predictable routines, which can increase their anxiety and challenging behaviors. To cut down on behavior problems, families and caregivers can mimic school routines with their children and set up times for learning, exercise, and play.

TOGETHER

It's helpful if these routines are similar to what students are already familiar with from school.

Meet the Houses

The mission of the RASD Middle School House system is to create a middle school community where students work together to support each other as they grow academically throughout their middle school years.
