

Scan QR code to view my channel

Lea Bochtler Class of '18

Lea was born and raised in Beijing, and is German Chinese. Lea holds a bachelor's degree from a Dutch university in International Business, and completed her Masters degree in adult learning and leadership from Columbia University, Teachers College.

Lea is a time Mastery Coach, and started a 8 week coaching program helping teens and adults eliminate procrastination, social media addiction/wasting time, sleep deprivation, etc. and to build effective daily habits to improve performance and achieve their dreams.

Lea encourages students to view new videos and livestreams she creates on 视频号 every day to become high performers. Scan to become a better you! 💪🌟

Rovan Yu Class of '09

Rovan started her pursuit of career in design with ISB's IB Art, then moved on to Savannah College of Art and Design where she graduated with a BFA degree in Advertising. Rován has extensive experience as in advertising agencies, such as Ogilvy and Wunderman, across various markets. She is currently the Creative Director at Deloitte Digital in Tokyo.

Amélie Wen Zhao Class of '10

Amelie is a Senior Vice President at Citibank's Treasury and Trade Solutions group, specializing in liquidity and investments for institutional clients in the eCommerce, technology, and communications sector. She is also the New York Times and internationally bestselling author of Chinese fantasy novels, including the critically acclaimed Song of the Last Kingdom duology, which has been translated into fourteen languages worldwide and featured on the National Public Radio, PopSugar, BuzzFeed, and Paste Magazine. She graduated ISB in 2010 and New York University's Stern School of Business in 2014 with a B.S. in Finance and General Accounting.

Lalith Wijedoru Class of '97

Lalith is a wellbeing consultant who focuses on emotional wellbeing: www.behindyourmask.co. His strategy is the use of storytelling to improve human connection in the workplace, for individuals, and communities. Lalith creates psychologically-safe, reflective spaces with boundaries for true personal stories to be shared in front of others. The aims are to promote authentic leadership, create compassionate workplaces, foster human connection, and ultimately improve team performance.

Lalith is a former paediatric doctor with UK national award-winning work in staff engagement (Health Services Journal Awards) and storytelling facilitation (Point of Care Foundation).

Eric Wang Class of '11

Eric came to ISB in second grade and graduated with the Class of 2011. He went on to Princeton University, worked as a paralegal in New York for two years, and then attended NYU Law School. He is currently a lawyer in a New York law firm. At ISB, Eric played violin in orchestra, swam on the swim team, and participated in MUN. He did the full IB program, and still hangs out with many of the ISB friends he grew up with.

Stephanie Du Class of '17

Hi everyone, my name is Stephanie and I was a student at ISB for 8 years. I graduated from ISB in 2017 and went to Scripps College to pursue a bachelor's degree in Biology. After graduating college, I received a research grant and worked with a previous professor on a national research project. We studied infectious disease dynamics in bank voles and I was in charge of most of the laboratory experiments. After my contract ended, I worked as an EMT in California to gain patient care experience. I am currently a graduate student at the University of Washington pursuing a Masters in Nutritional Sciences. My goal is to become a dietitian and work in clinical and private practice.

Nicole Ng Class of '14

Nicole Ng graduated from ISB in 2014 and is now a 4th year medical student at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) School of Medicine. After majoring in molecular and cellular biology at UCLA, she worked in a research lab before attending medical school. Throughout her undergraduate and graduate studies, Nicole has been involved in both basic science and clinical research, as well as community outreach organizations targeting underserved populations. She is currently applying to Internal Medicine residency programs and is happy to connect with students who may be interested in healthcare, medicine, and research.

Kevin Yang Class of '10

Kevin is a Principal Product Manager at Duolingo. After graduating from ISB in 2010, Kevin went on to study at Columbia University, graduating in 2015 with a degree in Operations Research. Prior to Duolingo, Kevin worked as a Product Manager at Bytedance and Didi.

Tina Huang Class of '13

Tina Huang is now the founder & CTO of INGENIUS STUDIOS. INGENIUS STUDIOS raised US$500,000 to build a CRM that supports the creator economy. Tina is an AI and tech content creator with an audience of more than 800,000. She also built a learning platform that teaches students AI skills to work on freelance projects from real companies. Previously, she was a data scientist at Meta. Tina got her master's degree in computer science from the University of Pennsylvania and a bachelor's degree from the University of Toronto.