Lincoln Elementary School is welcoming back the school's students, staff, and parents a day early as the school's Parent Teacher Association hosts a Back to School Schoolyard Party from 2-4 p.m. on Sunday on the school's grounds.

The party will feature fun activities for the whole family, including games, music, face painting, and a snow cone stand.

Attendees are also encouraged to bring sidewalk chalk to help decorate the sidewalks around and leading up to the school. The PTA wants to make sure the school looks as inviting, colorful, and happy as possible to welcome students back to school on Monday.
