LINCOLN ELEMENTARY STUDENTS TO WITNESS THE ‘MAGIC OF READING’ AT FAMILY NIGHT

A good book can give its reader magical abilities. Through books, readers have the ability to teleport to a distant realm, peer inside the minds of other people, and conjure hitherto undiscovered knowledge. Books can even teach readers how to perform magic of their own.

WHEN: Thursday, November 30 from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.
WHERE: Gym, Lincoln Elementary School, 2120 9th Street South, Fargo

Lincoln Elementary School students and their families will discover the “Magic of Reading” at the school’s Family Night on Thursday as they witness a show by magician and comedian Curtis Hed.

Hed’s “Magic of Reading” show uses comedy and magic to inspire children and parents to read. Through his show, Hed shares the important role that reading had in his journey to become a magician. He learned to become a magician by reading books in his school library when he was just 10 years old. He relates that experience to students and parents, telling them that by picking up a book and reading, they can learn to do anything like and follow any path they can imagine.

The event is hosted by Lincoln’s parent involvement committee and will feature a pizza dinner for attendees.
