Davies High School students enrolled in CTE courses at Davies High School will hold an open house for their peers, parents, and the public on Wednesday, December 20 in the wood lab and the house being built by the Construction Trade II students. They will showcase the house as well as products created in other CTE classes. Cookies and hot chocolate will be available for guests as they tour the home and the classroom displays.

In September, Davies students enrolled in Construction Trades II began construction on a single-family home. The student-built house has been purchased by a private party.

Students will also showcase products created in other technical education classes, including photography, woodworking, and construction.

Career and Technical Education is an essential component of the educational system, preparing learners for life, careers, and college. In CTE courses, students develop 21st Century Skills as they communicate and collaborate on activities and utilize creativity and critical-thinking to design projects and solve problems. Teachers work directly with business and industry partners to provide high school students with relevant working world skills.
