The Family and Consumer Sciences (FACS) Culinary Arts students at South High School have reached the most competitive portion of their baking unit, “Cupcake Wars: Spring Fever.” On Wednesday, May 3, the bakers-in-training will face off in teams to see who can bake the best cupcake as decided by a panel of impartial judges. The competition is fashioned after the hit Food Network show “Cupcake Wars.”

The students will be tasked with baking the most delectable confection they can while using at least two of the “secret” spring theme ingredients: rhubarb, lemon, basil, raspberry, and iced tea. Both the cupcakes and frosting need to be made from scratch.

A panel of judges will sample the cupcakes and declare a winner by the end of the class period.
