To our Bryn Mawr Bulldog Families!

Wonderful Bryn Mawr Community School Families,

Happy Women's History Month! We look forward to highlighting and celebrating many of the amazing contributions of women in American history.

As we enter March, I would like to remind students and caregivers of the importance of dressing appropriately for the weather. We know temperatures can change quickly from arrival in the morning throughout the day before dismissal. The change in weather also means that our Lost and Found Table continues to add to its inventory. We invite you to please come in and find your child's items should they go missing.

I continue to be amazed at how quickly the school year flies by! Thinking about the fact that we have now entered the month of March is unbelievable. February flew by in the blink of an eye, especially due to all the exciting events and celebrations which occurred: Newcomer Family Night, African American Parent Involvement Night, field trips, and Student of the Month.

Budget information is on its way to Bryn Mawr. We will be evaluating our allocations and sharing the information with our Site Council very soon. Please see a Site Council member with any questions.

Sincerely,

Principal Oldenburg

HAPPY WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

~ KINDERGARTEN ~

Kindergarten is busy at work learning how to read. We are working on reading decodable words (consonant-vowel-consonant). We are also learning to read sight words that we call "heart words" because we need to know them by heart.

In math we are learning to make number combinations for 5 and 10. We are also working on story problems for addition and subtraction.

We had a great time on Friendship Day giving each other cards and celebrating being together.

Science

All of our students got to experience making a cloud with condensation in the science room. Check out this simple at home experiment on how to make a rain cloud!

Rain Cloud in a Jar

Materials:

- Mason jar or glass cup
- Water
- White shaving cream
- Food coloring

Procedure:

1. Fill cup or mason jar 3/4 full with water
2. Add a shaving cream cloud on top of the water
3. Place drops of food coloring on top of the cloud
4. Wait to see what happens with the drops - add more if needed

What happens to the drops?

How many drops did it take to rain?

What caused it to rain?

Counseling Corner

We want to hear from you!

- Do you know what the School Counselor does?
- Do you know that the School Counselor supports students in their academics, social-emotional learning and career and future planning?
- Have you heard of Xello?
- Would you like to learn more?

Please complete the School Counselor Caregiver survey →

We look forward to connecting with you and having an ongoing partnership and dialogue

We are scheduling a Caregiver focus group in the spring of 2024 to gain more input from families on the goals and services of our elementary school counseling programs district-wide.

Please let us know if you are interested!

BRYN MAWR ENGAGEMENT TEAM

We are excited to announce the 2024 return of All School March Madness Tournament of Books! Modeled after March Madness in college basketball, this is a single elimination tournament where books go head-to-head with the winner of each matchup, which is decided by kid votes. Winners advance until there is a champion. The tournament runs March 1-28, and each grade level will read the same ELITE 8 kids books. We will vote on our favorites until 1 winner remains! Stay tuned to learn what books our Bulldogs choose.

HAPPY READING!
