TEACHING WITH TRADE BOOKS

UNIT 2: A Starry Home

Integrating Trade Books with myPerspectives

These titles provide students with another perspective on the topic of what we might find in deep space, touching upon many of the ideas found within the unit selections.

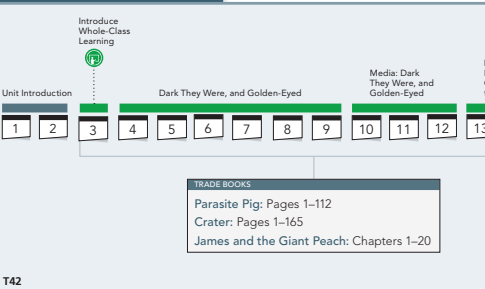

Depending on your objectives for the unit, as well as your students’ needs, you may choose to integrate the trade book into the unit in several ways, including:

- Supplement the unit. Form literature circles and have the students read one of the trade books throughout the course of the unit as a supplement to the selections and activities.
- Substitute for unit selections. If you replace unit selections with a trade book, review the standards taught with those selections. Teacher Resources that provide practice with all standards are available.
- Extend Independent Learning. Extend the unit by replacing independent reading selections with one of these trade books.
- Pacing. However you choose to integrate trade books, the Pacing Guide below offers suggestions for aligning the trade books with this unit.

Trade Book Lesson Plans

Trade book lesson plans for Parasite Pig, Crater, and James and the Giant Peach are available online in myPerspectives.

Suggested Trade Books

Parasite Pig

William Sleator
Lexile: 750
Stuck at boring afterschool job, Barney deals with aliens that no one except him believes in.

Connection to Essential Question

Though destructive and bizarre, the aliens are wondrous. The book’s answer to the Essential Question: Should we make a home in space? depends on how the reader views this tradeoff.

Crater

Homer Hickam
Lexile: 910
An orphan who works as a miner on the moon must go on a perilous journey.

Connection to Essential Question

Moon miners’ lives are hard, but they produce energy that Earth can’t do without. In this novel, the answer to the Essential Question: Should we make a home in space? is largely positive, but it leaves some room for considering the inequality it might spark.

James and the Giant Peach

Roald Dahl
Lexile: 870
After a house-sized peach grows in his yard, a young boy is swept up into a fantastic adventure.

Connection to Essential Question

The peach’s flight leads to both danger and adventure as James take off into the ocean and eventually into flight above the earth. The travelers meet the Cloud-Men. The story explores the feasibility of a life outside the normal, casting a surprising and fantastic light on the Essential Question: Should we make a home in space?

The Call of the Wild

Jack London

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

A fearless adventurer, Jack London (1876–1916) grew up in Oakland, California. His family was poor, so when he was a child he delivered newspapers, worked on an ice wagon, and set up pins at a bowling alley. After London left school in eighth grade, he worked at a cannery. While a teenager, London joined the crew of a seal-hunting boat. He sailed to Hawaii, Siberia, and Japan. When he returned home, he worked in a power plant.

In 1897, London joined the gold rush in the Yukon Territory of Canada. This is the setting for The Call of the Wild, which was published in 1903. After returning to California in 1898, London decided to earn a living as a writer. He published more than twenty novels, as well as plays, essays, and stories.

BACKGROUND

In The Call of the Wild, Jack London vividly captures his firsthand experiences in the Yukon Territory. In 1896, gold was discovered in the Klondike region of the Yukon. Soon, thousands of prospectors streamed into this arctic wilderness, hoping to strike it rich.

London arrived in the Yukon in 1897. He camped in freezing cabins and walked for miles carrying heavy packs filled with supplies. He met colorful figures, including grizzled miners, native Alaskans, and a dog named Jack. Jack became the model for Buck in The Call of the Wild. Although he did not

2. Why does Manuel kidnap Buck?
3. (a) What happens to Buck after he leaves Judge Miller’s home?
(b) What cruel treatment does he endure?
4. (a) Where is Buck taken?
(b) Identify the forms of transportation used to move Buck.
5. Describe the setting where Buck ends up. What feeling do the details of the setting give you about the place?

WRITING ACTIVITY Write a “lost dog” notice that might be published in a Santa Clara newspaper by Judge Miller.

CHAPTER 2

Discussion Questions

1. What are two shocks that Buck experiences after he arrives in the Yukon?

2. (a) What conflicts does Buck face in the Northland?
(b) What things does he do in order to survive?
(c) So far, how has this new setting influenced the novel’s plot?
3. In your own words, explain the “law of club and fang.”
4. What “ancient song” does Buck hear at the end of Chapter 2?

WRITING ACTIVITY Imagine that you have been asked to write a book about sled dogs. Write a list of three survival tips based on the experiences of Buck and the other dogs.

CHAPTER 3

Discussion Questions

1. Why do the huskies attack Perrault’s camp?
2. (a) What happens to Buck and the other sled dogs as a result of the attack?
(b) What wounds do they suffer?
(c) What happens to their food supply and equipment?

TRADE BOOK LESSON PLAN: THE CALL OF THE WILD

CHAPTER 5

Discussion Questions

1. Give examples of the ways Hal, Charles, and Mercedes behave in the wilderness that show they are inexperienced.
2. What happens to Dub, Billee, and Koonah?
3. How is the conflict between Buck and his brutal masters resolved?
4. What happens to Hal, Charles, Mercedes, and their sled dogs?
5. What harsh realities of life in the Yukon does London describe in this chapter?

WRITING ACTIVITY Write a letter to an animal rights group, explaining how you feel about the way Hal and Charles treat their dogs. Support your opinion with facts, reasons, and examples.

CHAPTER 6

Discussion Questions

1. Briefly describe John Thornton’s personality.
2. How does Buck feel about Thornton? Give examples from the story that illustrate Buck’s feelings.

PULLING IT ALL TOGETHER

WRITING List five dos and five don’ts outlining how to train and care for sled dogs, based on your reading of this story.

MULTIMEDIA PRESENTATION With a small group of classmates, plan a multimedia presentation about the Yukon Territory. Collect information about plants and animals, climate, geography, and important historical events. If possible, include photographs, videos, maps, timelines, diagrams, excerpts from The Call of the Wild, and recordings of wolf calls. Then, give your presentation to the class.

SENSITIVE ISSUES

Scenes of violence, acts of cruelty against animals, the violent deaths of humans and animals, and Native American stereotypes may offend some readers.

ANSWERS

CHAPTER 1

1. Buck, half St. Bernard and half shepherd, is Judge Miller’s dog. He weighs 140 pounds and is strong, healthy, and muscular. Buck is dignified, noble, and proud.
2. Manuel, a gardener’s helper, has gambling debts. He kidnaps Buck to sell him for money. Dogs like Buck are in great demand for use as sled dogs in the Yukon.

3. (a) Buck is mistreated by Manuel, by the saloonkeeper, and by the man in the red sweater. Then, he is sold to be used as a sled dog. (b) He is not given enough food and water. He is teased, choked, and caged in a small crate. He has a fever after a vicious beating.

“ Sometimes you’re going to be faced with situations where the line isn’t clear between what’s right and what’s wrong. Your heart will tell you to do one thing and your brain will tell you to do something different. In the end, all that’s left is to look at both sides and go with your best judgment. ”
