

Teacher Bill of Rights

The Fulton County School District (FCS) believes that all teachers matter. FCS commits to providing teachers with a professional, collaborative working environment in support of continued growth and development. We therefore commit to these tenets in the Fulton County School District's Teacher Bill of Rights. While this document is not a legal document creating enforceable rights, it is intended to support an environment of reciprocal accountability.

Rights

- To be treated with dignity and respect
- To have timely access to resources that enhance teaching and learning
- To receive timely and accurate communication
- To have access to quality professional learning opportunities
- To work in a school district where safety of students and employees is prioritized
- To have input on matters that impact their professional responsibilities
- To receive timely and purposeful feedback that supports growth
- To be provided with resources to plan for all facets of instruction

Responsibilities

- To uphold the teacher's code of ethics (GaPSC)
- To understand and follow the school and district rules and requirements, including those relating to student and school safety and well-being.
- To provide instruction that is meaningful, relevant, and standards based
- To hold all students accountable for high levels of learning
- To give students accurate, timely, and purposeful feedback
- To treat all stakeholders with dignity and respect
- To effectively prepare for instruction to meet the needs of all students
- To pursue relevant and sustained professional learning
