

This above all:
to thine own self be true,
And it must follow,
as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

William Shakespeare, 1564–1616
English playwright and poet

- ▶ Examples
 - Playing games by the rules at recess
 - Do your own work
 - Tell the truth even if you may be in trouble
 - Follow the rules when others are not

Super School Story

Once upon a time, there was a school that was so great it was called Super School. All of the students tried their best to follow the rules and do everything right.

Students at Super School did their best work, and finished their work on time. They were proud of their work, and the teachers told them they were doing a good job. They also got very good grades.

Super School's students were respectful and kind. They kept their promises, and helped each other. They did their best to help keep their classroom and their school looking good. They kept track of their own books, pencils, backpacks, coats, and lunch money. The students loved to help the teachers, secretaries, custodians, cooks, and principal. Whenever they had a helper job, they made sure to do their best work and to finish the job on time.

The teachers at Super School trusted the students, and the students trusted each other. The students loved Super School so much; all of them had perfect attendance because they wanted to be there every day and learn as much as possible.

Would you be able to learn at Super School?

Ethical Skills Role plays

- You need markers, you see a new box of markers on the student's desk next to you, but he is in reading group.
- You want to go outside for recess, but you haven't even started your worksheet.
- Another student says he won't be your friend unless you let him copy your spelling test.
- A couple of your classmates are misbehaving for the substitute teacher and they want you to join them.
- You used your teacher's scissors without permission and now she wants to know why they are missing from her desk.
- Another player saw you get hit in the dodgeball game, but you don't want to go to prison because no one ever throws you the ball to get out.
