Boy Scouts of America

The Boy Scouts of America is one of the nation's largest and most prominent values-based youth development organizations. The BSA provides a program for young people that builds character, trains them in the responsibilities of participating citizenship, and develops personal fitness. The basic premise of Scouting for youth with special needs is that every boy wants to participate fully and be respected like every other member of the troop. While there are, by necessity, troops exclusively composed of Scouts with disabilities, experience has shown that Scouting usually succeeds best when every boy is part of a patrol in a regular troop.

Easter Seals UCP- Child First

The goal of Child First is to reach the most vulnerable young children and families at the earliest possible time and to intervene in the home to prevent and heal emotional and behavioral disturbances, developmental and learning problems and abuse and neglect. This is an evidenced-based approach that utilizes Child Parent Psychotherapy (CPP) as the model. Child First uses a two-pronged approach with a family resource partner who will decrease toxic stress by connecting children and families to needed community-based services and support. A Licensed Clinician will facilitate the development of a responsive, nurturing parent-child relationship that can protect the developing brain. Treatment lasts 6 months to a year average with the two person team in the home at least once week for an hour. The goals include: to support and strengthen the relationship, using the relationship as a vehicle for restoring the child's sense of safety, attachment, and appropriate affect to improve the child's cognitive, behavioral, and social functioning. Over the course of treatment, the caregiver and child are guided to create a joint narrative of the psychological traumatic event and identify and address traumatic triggers that generate dysregulated behaviors and affect. Some of the Child First interventions include: play, unstructured developmental guidance, modeling, emotional support, case management supports, crisis intervention, and linking past to present. Pregnant women or Children 0-5 years and 11 months in which the child is showing difficult behaviors or delays in their development or learning. Married, partner, or single-parent families with many stressors (such as homelessness, drug use, domestic violence, poverty, school behaviors or involvement in the child welfare system).
