Hauser junior Juan Palomino displays his model of teeth in Dental Careers II at Columbus East (right). After making the casts, students labeled and color-coded the teeth to “cement” their knowledge. Another pair of dental students focus on the process, below.

"Just in case you were curious, blueprint reading comes in handy for an Engineering Major. So, thanks for that. Most people didn't know how to draw them and didn't know what a hidden line was, so people were surrounding me and asking for help."

Kendra Pastrick, in a recent conversation with her former instructor Mr. Gratz. Kendra is a C⁴ Welding graduate, now working at Noblitt Fabrication three days a week and going to IUPUI for engineering two days a week.

This week, Cosmetology students enjoyed a visit from C⁴ community partner Ulta Salon. Manager Carla White and two employees demonstrated eye makeup and brow techniques. Follow the class on Facebook at “Cosmetology BCSC” and find details on C⁴ Cosmetology hours, pricing and specials posted on the C⁴ website.

Lots of samples...

Mrs. White and Columbus East senior, Cheyenne Vaughn

Quote for the week -

“Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you.”

- Satchel Paige
