Native American Scholarship Information, Paying for College, & Opportunities

- Tacoma Public Schools College, Career, & Counseling Support – Find information regarding advanced programs, applying and paying for college, apprenticeships, career and technical education, vocational & trade school, graduation requirements, High School & Beyond Plan, internships, jobs, community service, scholarships and more!
- Financial Aid and College Preparation Resources for Native Americans
 Native Americans & College Research has found that American Indians and Alaska Natives have a much lower rate of college completion than the population as a whole. Why go to college? A degree or certificate from a college or trade school is a great advantage, leading to a much wider choice of occupations and, therefore, more likelihood of a fulfilling career and a chance to make a difference in your community. In this fact sheet, we suggest some places to find information about preparing for college and paying for college.

Washington State Scholarships

- WIGA – Washington Indian Gaming Association – WIGA College Scholarships - Since 2008, the Washington Indian Gaming Association (WIGA) Scholarship Program has awarded more than $1 million to Native American and Alaska Native students* pursuing bachelor's and graduate college or university degrees, as well as degrees from community and technical colleges. These awards promote tribal self-sufficiency by advancing student potential and broadening higher education opportunities.
 - WIGA Scholarship Program applicants must be enrolled members of Washington's 29 federally recognized tribes, or American Indian/Alaska Native students enrolled in a federally recognized tribe who are attending school in Washington State.*
- WWNAEC – Western Washington Native American Education Consortium Spring Merit Awards are offered to Native American High School Seniors each spring to students planning on attending an accredited two or four-year College, Tribal College, or University, including Career Technical Institutes. WWNAEC is an organization dedicated to furthering the educational goals of Native Youth in Western Washington, therefore, recipients must be tribally affiliated or direct descendants. A minimum 2.00 GPA is required, and the student must be in a school where a native Education Counselor is a member of WWNAEC. WWNAEC offers several awards at $574.00 – 574 being the number of Federally Recognized Tribes.
- Washington Student Achievement Council – American Indian Endowed Scholarship – AIES The American Indian Endowed Scholarship (AIES) helps financially needy students with close social and cultural ties to an American Indian community in the state of Washington. Students can use the scholarships at public colleges and many independent colleges in Washington. The program prioritizes upper division and graduate level students, however, all applicants receive award consideration.

California Native Scholarships

Rodney T. Mathews, jr. Memorial Scholarship for California Indians - This scholarship provides up to $10,000 for 2023-2024 Academic Year and was established to assist California Indian students in pursuing their educational goals through the granting of competitive and meritorious based financial scholarships. For 2023-2024, the Rodney T. Mathews, Jr. Memorial Scholarship for California Indians will provide four (4) awards of $10,000 each to support California Indian students who want to continue their education. Scholarships shall be granted to eligible applicants on a yearly basis (as long as there are funds available). Each award is for a 12-month period, renewable for a second year pending demonstration of exceptional progress. Application is due: June 1, 2024 and must be postmarked by June 1, 2024.

Scholarships for Women (some of these apply to Men as well)

- Scholarships For Women – Native American Women Scholarships

Female Native Americans are often underrepresented within the higher education community. Typically, from a low socio-economic society, female Native Americans do not have access to the resources other student groups do that make it easier for them to attend college. Because of this harsh reality, female Native American students need to search high and low for scholarships and grants to help them afford a higher education.

Anthropology Scholarships

- Plains Anthropological Society Native American Student Award – The Native American Student Award is a grant of up to $1000, intended to help defray the costs of tuition, books, room and board or other expenses for qualifying Native American student(s).

Archaeology Scholarships

- Society for American Archaeology - The Native American Scholarships endowment fund was established in 1988 to foster a sense of shared purpose and positive interaction between archaeologists and Native Americans. Since 1998, the SAA has used endowment income to award the Arthur C. Parker Scholarship. In 2009, the Society added two new awards to support undergraduate and graduate education in archaeology and, in 2021, a new award for Native American women. These scholarships are funded through individual donations, a silent auction held at the SAA Annual Meeting, and external grants. 5 different scholarships are offered. Deadline to apply is January 31st.

Healthcare Scholarships

- NSCDA – The American Indian Medical Scholarship Program - The American Indian Medical Scholarship Award Program (AIMS) was started by the NSCDA in 1928 to give students of American Indian descent the opportunity to pursue careers in nursing. The students are expected to return to work among their people to help improve health care. Some students work on reservations, and others find employment in hospitals in areas largely populated by American Indians. Intended originally to benefit females only, the program has expanded to include males and the career goals now include not only nursing careers, but jobs in health care and health education, as well.

The current goal is to grant a $1,500 scholarship each semester, as long as the student remains in academic good standing. The scholarship money is restricted to tuition and specific academic expenses. To meet the financial demands of their education, many students seek additional government grants and subsidies and maintain part-time jobs.

- Indian Health Service – IHS Scholarship Program

The IHS Scholarship Program provides qualified American Indian and Alaska Native health professions students an opportunity to establish an educational foundation for each stage of your pre-professional careers.

Environmental Science and Related Fields, Natural Resource Management Scholarships

Specific Colleges

- Bacone College - Bacone College is the nation's oldest American Indian institution of higher learning and the oldest higher education institution in Oklahoma. Furthermore, Bacone is the most affordable university option for American Indian students in the State of Oklahoma. No institution of higher education has a longer standing connection to the education of American Indian people than Bacone College!
- Fort Lewis College – Durango, Colorado. Native American Scholarships and Tuition Waiver Qualified Native American students can attend Fort Lewis College tuition free. However, they are still responsible for paying their student fees, room, and board expenses, purchasing books, and any other educational expenses they may have.
- Montana State University Tribal Homelands Waiver (Non-Resident) The Tribal Homelands Waiver significantly reduces the amount of out-of-state tuition and is available to eligible Native American students who are not Montana residents. Recipients of the Tribal Homelands Scholarship pay the in-state tuition rate; the out-of-state tuition portion is paid by the scholarship.
- NYU – New York University – Lenape Scholarship - In honor of the Lenape people and their lands on which New York University was founded, the Lenape Scholarship will be awarded to applicants with a demonstrated participation in or engagement with Native American culture and communities regardless of tribal membership. Preference will be given to members of the Lenape tribal nation, which students may self-certify.

- University of Colorado – Boulder First Nations Scholarship - The University of Colorado Boulder recognizes the history and significance of how the plains and mountain tribes and cultures have shaped our state. We foster and support native culture through scholarships, academic programs, research, events and celebration of native contributions.
CU Boulder offers a limited number of scholarships to academically promising new first-year students who are members of a federally recognized tribe. For those who are a member of one of the 48 tribes with historical and present ties to Colorado, we also offer in-state tuition rates whether you are a resident of Colorado or not. Must submit a completed application for admission no later than January 15th.

Tacoma Area College, Trade/Vocation School Resources

- Tacoma Community College – From our long tradition of education South Sound students to our affordability and high-quality programs, there are many reasons why TCC makes sense for you. Since 1965, TCC has offered students the opportunity to receive top-notch college education close to home-and at an affordable cost. We've educated more than 500,000 students since we started, adding programs, expanding our campus and ensuring that we grow right along with our students.
 - Scholarships
 - TCC Foundation Scholarships - With a TCC Foundation scholarship, you can pay for tuition and fees without having to take on a loan. Each year over 200 scholarships, totaling more than $450,000, are awarded to TCC students to help with the cost of school. A TCC Foundation scholarship is a gift, not a loan, so you won't have to worry about paying it back. Scholarship applications for the 2024-2025 academic year will be accepted starting January 1, 2024 and the deadline is March 31, 2024. - University of Washington Tacoma –

“UW Tacoma is one of three campuses that make up the University of Washington: the 156-year-old Seattle campus, and the Tacoma and Bothell campuses, both founded in 1990. We offer many of the same educational qualities as our sister universities — a vibrant campus setting; top-drawer faculty known for their teaching ability; a rigorous, interdisciplinary curriculum; and high standards of social responsibility.”

“At UW Tacoma, students learn in small classes, getting to know their faculty while participating in research and service projects. First-year students complete an innovative core curriculum, which blends different fields of study into interdisciplinary classes. Courses might mix art and ecology, or business and social science. The result is a rich learning environment where students are encouraged to challenge themselves.”

The University of Washington American Indian Studies Minor - Grounded by a strong commitment to the histories, representations, and political struggles of Indigenous peoples, the intellectual focus of the American Indian Studies minor will use interdisciplinary methods of critical inquiry as a means through which students engage research and scholarship in their major fields of studies.

Tribal College Finder

- American Indian College Fund – Tribal Colleges & Universities
“For nearly 50 years, Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCUs) have provided a path for American Indian students to access a higher education and the opportunities it provides. TCUs allow Native students to take their first steps towards earning a degree on or near the reservation communities they call home. In addition to receiving an accredited higher education, students thrive in a learning environment in which the culture, traditions, and experiences of Native people are woven into the DNA of the institutions—providing a space for them to learn and be understood.”
