Homecoming Week (Introducing Milton!)

Students, faculty, and staff showed their Mustang pride and spirit from October 16 to 20 in celebration of Homecoming Week! Students celebrated the week by dressing up for Tacky Day, School Colors Day, Movie Madness Day, Twin Day, and Favorite Sports Team Day.

One of the highlights of the week was the pep rally held on Tuesday. Students, faculty, and staff cheered on our fall sports student-athletes, including the soccer players, ahead of the soccer championship that afternoon. Parents joined in the celebration at a tailgate held during the soccer championship on MSA's soccer field.

During the pep rally, Mill Springs Academy's new mascot was officially revealed! Two lower school students were also presented with certificates for naming the new mascot. Welcome to MSA Milton the Mustang!

MSA Senior Designs Mascot for Atlanta United FC

MSA senior Shannon C. noticed that Atlanta United FC didn't have a mascot, so she created her own, representing the tradition of the team! She sent the picture of her mascot design to the team, and they surprised her with a custom-made plush of her drawing. She was also asked to be the Honorary Captain for the game on Wednesday! Shannon got to sit on the field for player warm-ups, walked the team onto the field, handed the game ball to the referee, and was featured on the halo board.

MSA Senior Call "Play Ball"

Senior Thomas Bayman had the honor of announcing that "It's time to play ball!" at the Atlanta Braves game this week! Great job, Thomas!

One Act Play

Congratulations to the cast members and director of MSA's One-Act Play. They placed 2nd overall at Regionals and State, performing "Almost, Maine."

At regionals, Greta W. and Owen G. won Best Performer awards, and Claire M. received an honorable mention for Best Performer. At State, Lexi M. also received an honorable mention for best performance.

Hackathon

MSA parent Tom Lowry coordinated a partnership between his employer, Fiserv, and colleagues at EY. They partnered to host MSA students for a Hackathon at Fiserv's Alpharetta campus. Students worked with more than 20 volunteers from both companies to gain hands-on experience in coding. The MSA hackers were incredibly grateful for the experience.

Spooky Story Contest Winner

6th grader Caroline Smith was encouraged by her teacher, Daniel Mines, to enter a story into the 6th annual Georgia Writers Museum Spooky Story Contest. Submissions from across Georgia were reviewed by a panel of teachers and published writers. Caroline's short story, The Haunted Castle's Secret, won second place in the sixth-grade division!

The Haunted Castle's Secret
By Caroline Smith

Ella stared at the screen, playing the clip from her favorite movie again and again and again. It was always what she watched on Halloween–the classic horror movie The Haunted Castle, but why did it feel wrong this time? Ella kept on thinking she heard her name instead of Tennyson, the main character and victim, and she swore one time the killer looked directly at her, but that was probably her imagination, right? She scowled, thinking of her roommate Salena, who had straight up laughed in her face about this.

Speaking of which, Ella thought, here she comes.

"Well hello there. Still worrying about that dumb horror movie?" Salena said.

"Shut up!" Ella yelled back.

Salena laughed, in an annoying, shrill way, and said, "Whatever you say. Could you leave the room for a second? I need to take a phone call."

Before she could finish her sentence, however, Ella was already storming off.

The nerve of her! she thought.

In the other room, she heard hushed voices. Suspicious hushed voices. Still fuming but equally curious, Ella pressed her ear against the wall. Ella thought she'd heard that voice but…. It couldn't be!

"….going great. I suspect we could do it now, unless it's too early."

That horribly familiar voice snapped at Salena, obviously impatient about something. "I've been waiting for this my whole, miserable life! I am not going to be delayed because of a coward like you!"

Even without visually seeing it, Ella could tell that Salena was cowering. "Okay, okay! So, now?"

She couldn't listen anymore. It made her feel sick, and an awful theory formed in her head. But then again, it still couldn't be true, right? Without a moment's warning, her roommate rushed in, shaking but with an annoyed expression on her face.

"It's your turn to wash the dishes. Do them now if you want anything to eat on," Salena barked.

"But," Ella replied, "Isn't it-"

"Now!" Salena shrieked.

She sighed, followed Salena, and then it happened. Tennyson, her favorite horror movie's main character, was staring at her from the TV.

"Let's get this over with. We won't need introductions. I'm tired of dying every time someone watches this idiotic movie I'm stuck in. You are going to take my place, okay?"

Tennyson paused, then said, "I was like you once. Confused on why a movie character was talking to me. Maybe you'll do this one day too. Ooooo, I've never noticed how nice this apartment was. I can't wait until we trade places. Such nice hardwood floors! Alright, this is getting boring. Salena, shove, what's her name, Ellen? No, Ella right? Yep, Ella. Salena, shove Ella forward."

Not even a second later, Salena pushed her into the TV, before Ella could even reply. And no one ever saw Ella again, except for on TV, of course, but they won't realize that. How do I know this? Well, I am Ella. And it's my turn to trade places with you.

Alum Spotlight

Jake Martin '18

Jake Martin enjoys returning to Mill Springs Academy to assist Coach John Hanrahan with the wrestling team. Jake, a graduate of Mill Springs Academy, was also a 3-time State medalist in wrestling during his time at MSA.

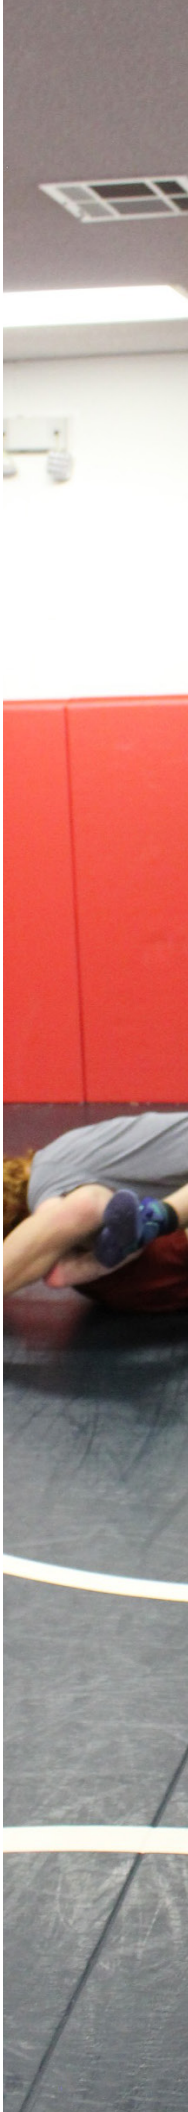

After graduating from MSA in 2018, Jake attended Coastal Carolina University in Conway, South Carolina. He graduated with a major and minor during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic. He's currently working a few part-time jobs, including as an assistant coach for the Mustang wrestling team, as he hunts for the right job fit.

Jake credits the culture and fantastic faculty at Mill Springs for his success in college and as he starts out in the workforce. Jake credits MSA with helping him create meaningful and long-lasting connections with friends. During his time here, Jake credits the school with teaching him self-advocacy, giving him the tools and confidence to communicate with his professors in college about what he needs to be successful in class.

"Develop good habits while teachers care for their students and want them to succeed, because in college, they will let you skip class and fail without saying a word."

Jake's favorite memories of Mill Springs were being crowned homecoming king and getting the opportunity to travel abroad to Australia and China during his time at MSA. Jake advises current and upcoming MSA students to "try all the sports and activities while you can because, in college, people start to tell you no or to reconsider."

We look forward to seeing what Jake and all of our outstanding graduates accomplish next!

Congratulations to the Class of 2023!

Blues Brews & BBQ

On Saturday, May 6, 2023, 120 of Mill Springs Academy's parents, faculty, staff, alumni, and friends gathered at Roswell Historic Hall for the Blues Brews & BBQ auction event, which raised nearly $50,000 for MSA students and faculty! The event featured a spirited and competitive live auction, a mobile auction that saw bidders from as far away as California participate, savory barbecue provided by the Zimmer Family, and remarks by four of MSA's Upper School students. Ryan Zant '23 talked about the transformation he experienced at MSA from a kid who needed a lot of support and monitoring to an independent young man about to embark on a college career at Kennesaw State University. Junior Avery Horwitz talked about finding a home in the theater program and how fine arts has influenced her development. As a CommArts student, Thomas Bayman '24 gave guests an insight into the critical support the program's small community and involved advisors have had on his educational experience, as well as how MSA's athletics have shaped him as a campus leader. Daryn Asrael '26 delivered a heartwarming and personal testimonial about how much being a part of the MSA community means to her.

We are grateful to our students for thoughtfully sharing their experiences with our guests and to everyone who made this special night a successful one!
