Sphinx and the Giza pyramids

Dear Wellesley Alumna,

The Egypt of the Pharaohs has been the object of endless fascination in the Western World ever since Herodotus traveled there in the middle of the 5th century BC and recorded what he could gather of Egyptian customs, traditions, and religion—an account that we now know to be full of inaccuracies and misunderstandings, but which nevertheless remains a delight to read. This journey, specially curated for Wellesley College alumnae, includes visits to most of the sights Herodotus would have encountered, as well as to many he could not possibly have seen because they had been buried beneath desert sands long before he arrived.

Just outside Cairo, in Giza, marvel at the sole remaining Wonder of the Ancient World, the Pyramids of Giza and the great Sphinx, and in Cairo proper, explore the acclaimed Egyptian Museum. From Aswan, near the massive dam that finally in 1970 allowed authorities to control the flow of the Nile, visit Abu Simbel, whose Great Temple is dominated by immense statues of Ramses II and his wife Nefertari. Also discover Elephantine Island and the ruins of ancient Abu, dating to about 3000 BC. After boarding the elegant riverboat, M/S Regent, sail north on a 3-night voyage includes the temples at Kom Ombo and Edfu before docking in Luxor for two days. From Luxor (ancient Thebes), explore both banks of the Nile: the temples dedicated to at Luxor and Karnak on the East Bank, and the tombs of the Valley of the Kings on West Bank, easily one of the most famous archaeological sites in the world because it is where King Tutankhamun's remains were discovered.

We are privileged to have as our Wellesley lecturer on this journey Kimberly Cassibry, Associate Professor of Art, whose expertise in ancient Mediterranean art and her work on the preservation of antiquities both in museums and in situ will lend a fascinating dimension to your learning experience.

This truly is a beautifully designed introduction to the glories of ancient Egypt. I hope you will be able to join Professor Cassibry and fellow Wellesley alumnae and friends to explore the land of the Pharaohs along the Nile.

Warm regards,

Kathryn Mackintosh '03

WELLESLEY FACULTY

KIMBERLY CASSIBRY

Associate Professor of Art

Kimberly Cassibry, Associate Professor of Art at Wellesley College, is an art and architectural historian specializing in the ancient Mediterranean. Her interests include monuments and memory, the politics of cultural heritage, and the histories of museums. Both her teaching and her public outreach emphasize the modern lives of antiquities. In collaboration with Smarthistory (the Center for Public Art History), she has published on Egyptian obelisks as cultural heritage, the Dying Gaul as an ethnic stereotype, and the portraits of the Roman empress Julia Domna from Syria.

Travel is her greatest passion, and her book Destinations in Mind: Portraying Places on the Roman Empire's Souvenirs (Oxford, 2021) explored how ancient residents of the Roman empire visualized their favorite spots on collectible vessels. Her work has been supported by the Getty Foundation and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. She has received Wellesley's Pinanski teaching prize and has served as president of Wellesley's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

During this trip she plans to lecture on the temples and tombs along the Nile, on portraits of powerful women in ancient Egypt, and on the massive Aswan dam project and the equally massive effort to protect the cultural heritage it threatened.

GIZA AND MEMPHIS

After breakfast, tour the sole remaining Wonder of the Ancient World, the Pyramids of Giza. Built as massive tombs on the orders of the pharaohs nearly 4,000 years ago, their extraordinary shape, impeccable geometry, and sheer bulk stand as tributes to the achievements of ancient Egypt. Ponder the Sphinx, a limestone statue of a mythical creature with the body of a lion and the head of a human, believed to have been built during the reign of pharaoh Khafre. After lunch at the Marriott Mena House Hotel, travel the short distance to Memphis, capital of the Old Kingdom of Egypt during the period when most of the pyramids were built. Also visit the Necropolis of Saqqara, site of the famous Step Pyramid, designed by Imhotep and believed to be the oldest stone-hewn building complex ever constructed. (B,L,D)

Tuesday, September 17

EGYPTIAN MUSEUM AND MANIAL PALACE

Start the day at the acclaimed Egyptian Museum in downtown Cairo, one of the world's most important collections of ancient artifacts, including those of King Tutankhamen. Other masterpieces in the museum include the Narmer Palette, a 5,000-year-old ceremonial engraving; the statue of Khafre, builder of the second pyramid at Giza; and the Tanis collection, an extensive selection of glittering objects unearthed from six tombs in 1939. Lunch at the Steigenberger El Tahrir Hotel is followed by a visit to the Manial Palace and Museum, a fascinating blend of architectural styles—Ottoman, Moorish, Persian, and European Rococo. Located on Rhoda Island in a minor branch of the Nile, the compound is surrounded by Persian gardens, themselves ensconced within an extensive English-landscaped park. Dinner this evening is at the hotel. (B,L,D)

Wednesday, September 18

CAIRO/ASWAN/ELEPHANTINE ISLAND

After breakfast at the hotel, an early morning flight brings you to Aswan. Check in to the Sofitel Legend Old Cataract Hotel, your home for the next two nights. Lunch is followed by an excursion to the Aswan Botanical Gardens on Kitchener's Island, named after the late-19th-century army commander who transformed it into a vast garden of flora from East Asia, India, and Africa. The island now abounds with birdlife as well as hundreds of species of plants. From Kitchener's Island, it is a short boat ride to Elephantine Island, whose southern end is the site of ancient Abu. Founded at the beginning of the 1st dynasty as a fort to guard Egypt's southern frontier, Abu quickly became a busy trading center, and remained strategically important throughout the Pharaonic period as a point of departure for military and commercial expeditions into Nubia and further south. Dinner is at the hotel in Aswan. (B,L,D)

Thursday, September 19

ASWAN/ABU SIMBEL/ASWAN

Travel today via round trip air excursion to Abu Simbel, home to the immense statues of Ramses II and his wife Nefertari. Abu Simbel's Great Temple is 98 feet high and 115 feet long, with four colossal statues depicting Ramesses II on his throne at the entrance. Beneath these giant figures are smaller statues depicting Ramesses' conquered enemies: the Nubians, Libyans, and Hittites. The structures were created, at least in part, to celebrate Ramesses' victory over the Hittites at the Battle of Kadesh in 1274 BC. In the 1960s some remarkable creative engineering saved the temple complex from the rising waters of the Nile caused by the erection of the Aswan High Dam. Return to Aswan for an afternoon at leisure, with lunch and dinner served at the hotel. (B,L,D)

Aswan Botanical Gardens

Friday, September 20

ASWAN/EMBARK

Breakfast at the hotel and check out before joining an excursion to the Aswan High Dam. After 11 long years of construction, the dam was finally completed in 1970. More than two miles long at its crest, the massive $1 billion project ended the cycle of flood and drought that had plagued the Nile River basin for millennia. Its control of the flow of the river helps keep agricultural land irrigated, improves navigation, and generates electric power. From the dam, continue via motorboat to Philae, an island downstream from the Aswan Dam that is home to a temple dedicated to the goddess Isis. Learn about Philae's history on a guided tour that includes its courts, colonnades, and halls. In the afternoon, embark the five-star M/S Regent for a three-night cruise on the Nile. Lunch and dinner are aboard the ship. (B,L,D)

Saturday, September 21

ASWAN/KOM OMBO/EDFU/LUXOR

This morning, Regent calls at Kom Ombo for a visit to a temple that is unique in Egypt for the fact that it is dedicated to two different deities. Two nearly identical sets of halls, courts and sanctuaries line each side of the complex. The southern half of the temple was dedicated to the crocodile god Sobek, god of fertility and creator of the world, while the northern part of the temple was dedicated to the falcon god Haroeris. Over lunch, sail to Edfu to visit one of the best preserved of all Egyptian temples. The inscriptions on its walls provide important information on language, myth and religion

LUXOR

The modern town of Luxor is the site of ancient Thebes, the capital of Egypt beginning in the twelfth dynasty and reaching its zenith during the New Kingdom. This morning tour the Temples of Karnak and Luxor on the town's East Bank. Karnak is the name of the ancient Temple of Amun at Thebes, believed to have been an observatory as well as a place of worship. The largest temple complex ever built, this site represents the combined achievement of many generations of architects and craftsmen. It consists of three main temples, smaller enclosed temples, and several outer temples located about 2 miles north of the main complex. Then move on to Luxor Temple, also dedicated to Amun, king of the gods. An avenue of sphinxes connects it to the Temple of Amun at Karnak. The Temple of Luxor has been a sacred site throughout history. After Egypt's pagan period, a Christian church and monastery were located here, followed by the 13th-century Mosque of Abu el-Haggag, which continues in use today. Overnight aboard Regent docked in Luxor. (B,L,D)

LUXOR/DISEMBARK/CAIRO

Disembark after breakfast and tour Luxor's West Bank. Your first stop is the Valley of the Kings, the Necropolis of Thebes, where you visit tombs from various dynasties, cut into the mountainside. One of the most famous archaeological sites in the world (a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1979), this valley is where the remains of King Tutankhamun were excavated. Continue to the Temple of Queen Hatshepsut, the only woman ever to reign over Egypt as pharaoh. Hatshepsut died in 1458 BC, and she is buried, like her male counterparts, in the Valley of the Kings. The last stop on the West Bank is the Colossi of Memnon, two monumental statues representing Amenhotep III (1386-1353 BC) of the 18th Dynasty,
