

Dear Linden Hall Community,

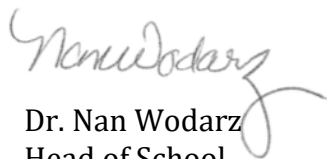

Serving as your Head of School for the past four years has been an immense privilege and honor, one that I will forever cherish. It is with bittersweetness that I share with you today that the 2024–2025 academic year will mark my final year as Head of School at Linden Hall.

During my tenure, I have had the distinct pleasure of working with a remarkable team of educators. As I reflect on our collective accomplishments, I am filled with pride. Together, we have achieved significant milestones, from improving the operations of the school to developing innovative programs that have enriched the academic and residential experiences of our students. Our commitment to fostering a nurturing and inclusive environment has been at the forefront of everything we do, ensuring that every student feels valued, supported, and empowered to reach her fullest potential. We have managed the financial resources of the school well and have developed plans that not only care for our aging buildings but also anticipate facility needs in the coming decade.

While I will be stepping down from my role as Head of School, I am incredibly optimistic about Linden Hall's future. With a dedicated team of administrators and faculty, supportive parents, proud alumnae, and talented students, I am sure that Linden Hall will continue to provide an exceptional education for students while preparing them to be leaders in a dynamic, global society. I am deeply grateful for the trust and support you have shown me during my time here. Together, we have built a community that is truly outstanding, one that will always hold a special place in my heart.

As we complete this school year and embark on our final year together, I look forward to working with each of you to ensure that our students are prepared to emerge as leaders, innovators, and creators, ready to realize their dreams and shape the world around them.

With warm regards,

Dr. Nan Wodarz
