Middle Years Working Together for School Success

Effort = results

The better your middle grader understands that hard work contributes to success, the more likely they are to put in effort. Help them see the connection with these suggestions.

- ◆ Focus on their actions.

Rather than saying what a great writer your child is, you might point out that all the time they spent editing their essay made it better. They'll learn that they have control over the results they get.

- ◆ Encourage persistence.

When your tween faces a setback, recommend that they make adjustments rather than give up. Say they receive a lower—than—expected score on a civics quiz. They could set aside more time to study for the next quiz.

Zero-Low Grade Make-up

In the 5th week of each 6 weeks, students will have an opportunity to make up a zero or low grade from the daily grade category with a "zero – low grade make-up assignment".

Retesting

Except for 6 weeks and semester tests, students may retake any major test they failed. The student must arrange a time with the teacher.

The maximum grade for a test retaken is a 70.

Homework Online

The homework online is a parent's tool to know the homework assignments for their child. All teachers post homework daily.

Follow these steps:

Log onto hebisd.edu

Click on 7-12 (located at top right)

Check the teacher's websites.
There are several ways to display assignments and they don't all use the same method.

10 Important Minutes

The very best academically productive time parents can spend is ten minutes per night checking the completion of homework. This procedure should start with checking "Homework Online" to find homework assignments. When the assignment is completed, parents should check the work for completeness before the students place the homework in their binder.

Warning:

- >Do not accept the excuse, "I left it in my locker." Incomplete work or zeros will be the result.
- >Do not accept, "The teacher took it up." We never take up homework early.
- >Do not accept, "I left my books at school." There is a set of textbooks on reserve at the Eules Public Library.

If students complete and turn in all homework, success is the result. Zeros and/or incomplete work lead to failing grades and behavior difficulties.

Attendance Announcements

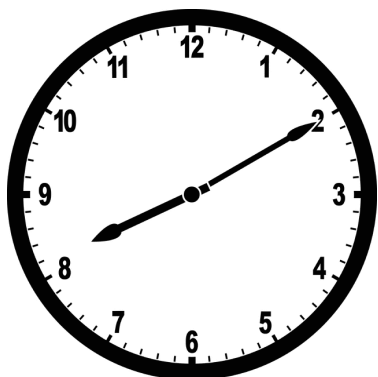

BE THERE!

Being in school all day, every day, helps your child get the most out of school. Encourage good attendance with these ideas:

- ◇ Point out that there is no substitute for being in class. Your youngster needs to be present to hear teachers explain concepts, to participate in group projects and class discussions, and to ask questions.
- ◇ Schedule doctor, dentist, and orthodontist appointments for before or after school hours whenever possible. If you can't, try to arrange them for lunchtime.
- ◇ It will be easier for your child to get up on time for school if he has had at least nine hours of sleep. Set a reasonable bedtime, and make sure he puts away electronic devices so he isn't tempted to stay awake to read messages or play games.

DON'T BE LATE!!

Stallions Strive for perfect attendance!

If your child must be absent from school please call the attendance office at 817-399-3822.

Students who maintain good attendance may receive semester test grade exemptions at the end of each semester. Two exemptions will be given for 0 absences during a semester; one will be given for 1 or 2 absences during a semester.

Eules Jr. High had the highest Staff attendance rate of all secondary campuses in the district for the fifth year in a row.

We are here for the students so that they can have consistent teaching methods and familiar, caring people at the head of each and every classroom.

We ask the same of our students. Show up on time. Look for something new to learn in each class, each day. Be here everyday and set your mind to learning. Find joy in learning something new.

Counselors Commentaries

When your child's homework assignment is online it can be an immense challenge for them to stay on task.

Perhaps they're bored with the assignment to begin with — and one-click away is a treasure trove of funny videos, YouTubers with tips for hairstyles, or watching their favorite gamer on a wickedly high level... it's all a recipe for distraction.

The good news is that millions of teens are in this situation and still manage to get their work done. But the challenges are immense and many kids and teens really struggle with this constant pull.

In today's Tech Talk Tuesday I lay out several ideas that have worked for my family and others. One strategy that has really been helpful is something the brilliant counselor and author Tammy Fisher Ruston says in our new film Screenagers: NEXT Chapter. She says that you have to name more of what you want to actually get it. I have started doing two key things in this regard with my teens that I have found very successful: a) Validating the challenges they face to stay on task, and b) Pointing out times that they do stay focused on homework.

Read more tips on helping your kids stay on task with homework in the digital age.
