To whom it may concern:

Potential residency discrepancy in [redacted] athlete zoned for other high school [redacted]

[redacted]

Address changes are to be reported to the school district within 30 days.

Simply owning a property zoned for [redacted] High School does not constitute residency if said student is residing with his/her parents at an address not in the attendance zone of [redacted]

Rental properties do not provide proof of residency.

BCSD proof of residency:

"If it is found that a parent/guardian is knowingly or willfully providing false information to a school district regarding the residency of a child for the purpose of enabling that child to attend any school in the district, the adult can be prosecuted for providing false information, a misdemeanor with a penalty of up to $200 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days and required to pay an amount equal to the cost of educating the child"

SCHSL by-laws:

"The student is expected to attend the high school which serves the attendance area in which his/her parent or parents, or legally appointed guardian reside."

"Should the feeder school supply students to more than one high school, each student's eligibility on a high school team will be determined by the attendance area of the high school in which he/she lives"

We write this with conflicted hearts and wish to remain anonymous.

We would like to inform you of our concern for a student who will be an [redacted]

We have been friendly with the family for many years since our children were younger. [redacted]

The young teenage years are a difficult time and without proper direction many can choose the wrong path. [redacted]

Our concern is that if a student was previously expelled from a district school and merely goes to a private school for a couple years and is then able to re-enter the public school system without any sort of consequences or rehabilitation, what has the student actually learned or received the tools to successfully be a part of the public school system. It is a big reintegration to go from [redacted] to [redacted] with no support structure in place.

[redacted]

[redacted]

We know only time will tell and we pray for change, but we in good conscience cannot keep witnessing this destructive behavior and lack of help that [redacted] desperately needs.

Thank you.
