Unfortunately, the Boys and Girls Club was not present at the board meeting tonight.

HEARING OF INDIVIDUALS ON NON-AGENDA ITEMS

Mr. Damon informed the public who were in attendance that there will be a 15 minutes time limit for each non-agenda topic.

Topic #1- GracePastor Ed Hall

Pastor Ed Hall expresses his intention to speak about Grace. He feels well-versed on the topic. Regarding Superintendent Mr. William Brown, Pastor Hall requests the board to extend grace towards him. The community has expressed a desire for his return over the past few months. Pastor Hall believes it would be a positive effort for the board to consider bringing him back and addressing any necessary resolutions. He expresses appreciation for this consideration.

Topic #2- Student SuccessBrittney Jenkins- Former OUHSD Student / Coach

Brittney Jenkins, a former OUHSD student and coach, addresses the board to acknowledge the challenging circumstances but stresses the importance of the issue. She advocates for fairness, highlighting OUHSD's history of racial discrimination. Ms. Jenkins praises Mr. William Brown's positive impact and urges the Board to reinstate him to address racial disparities. She expresses concern about the decision to place Mr. Brown on leave and emphasizes the Board's ability to rectify racial disparities and rebuild trust. Ms. Jenkins refers to Mr. Mike Walsh's support in December and cautions against changing the initial decision of hiring Mr. Brown. She urges the Board to reinstate Mr. Brown, emphasizing community, student, and staff support.

Pastor David Goodson

Pastor David Goodson addresses the board, emphasizing the need for effective leadership in achieving student success. He highlights the challenges faced when a school district falls short of academic standards, stressing the importance of motivated leadership with a fresh perspective. Pastor Goodson points out the necessity of change when results are lacking, cautioning against repeating the same actions and expecting different outcomes. He uses the analogy of the definition of insanity to emphasize this point. Pastor Goodson supports Superintendent Mr. William Brown, describing him as a "Super Bowl Superintendent" hired to bring positive change. Pastor Goodson acknowledges the capability of OUHSD teachers but emphasizes their need for supportive and inspiring leadership. He concludes by expressing that there comes a time for new leadership, urging the board to give Mr. Brown the opportunity to complete his job. Pastor Goodson emphasizes the importance of providing the necessary support for the hired superintendent to lead the district towards success.

Diana Castillo- Oroville High School Teacher

Diana Castillo speaks about Student Success, emphasizing the need for great teachers, administrators, and a visionary superintendent like William Brown. She highlights the importance of a leader gaining buy-in from staff, citing Mr. Brown's success in various initiatives. Mrs. Castillo notes the significant support and trust Mr. Brown has garnered from teachers, students, and the community, translating into student success. Despite the short timeframe, she asserts Mr. Brown's capability to address longstanding issues in the district. Mrs. Castillo encourages trust in teachers' judgment that Mr. Brown is the right leader to navigate the district out of its current challenges. She concludes with a reminder that people buy into the leader before the vision, urging the board to bring back Mr. William Brown.

Paul Montanez- Targeted Case Manager, Prospect High School

Mr. Montanez wishes to emphasize the values of safety, respect, and responsibility that we aim to instill in our students. He states we teach these principles not as punchlines but as essential life values to help them do better than past generations. He reports Mr. William Brown exemplified respect by showing it to him when he became the new Target case manager. He states we teach kids to be responsible in navigating life and providing for their families. Mr. Brown's actions, such as going to troubled kids and providing lunch on his own time, demonstrate his commitment to responsibility. Despite teaching safety daily, the administration failed to apply the same principles to Mr. Brown, who sought positive change but faced resistance. Mr. Montanez states if we can't ensure safety, respect, and responsibility for Mr. Brown, it contradicts the values we teach our kids. Mr. Montanez feels those who voted to sideline Mr. Brown compromise the values we strive to instill.

Topic #3- Mr. William Brown

Brian Guthrie- Teacher, Prospect High School

Brian Guthrie shared the positive feelings about Superintendent Will Brown within the school staff, highlighting Mr. Brown's hopeful vision for Oroville's community. He emphasized Mr. Brown's impactful words on inspiring, encouraging, and supporting students in his July letter to the district. Mr. Guthrie recounted his personal interaction with Mr. Brown, discussing Prospect's needs, the necessity for more hands-on courses, and potential Art or Career and Technology programs. He states Mr. Brown's visionary plan to transform the district property behind Prospect into a Construction and Technology Center, including student transportation, trade education, and a t-shirt press business, was presented. Mr. Guthrie conveyed the inspirational essence of Mr. Brown's vision and its significance for the community. Mr. Guthrie encouraged the use of collective power to uplift and enhance the district. He supports the reinstatement of Superintendent Will Brown, emphasizing the positive impact it would bring for the community.

Ruby Thomas- Community Member

Ruby Thomas, an Oroville resident, expressed concerns about the lack of positive changes in the school district. She mentioned her disappointment with the education her sons received while in the district, prompting her to attend meetings seeking answers. Mrs. Thomas raised questions about ongoing lawsuits, teacher turnover, and the board's awareness of the Department of Justice (DOJ) report. Mrs. Thomas addressed the absence of information about Superintendent Will Brown's status, emphasizing the need for transparency. She questioned the effectiveness of the board without a clear superintendent and sought details about Interim Superintendent Mr. Willenberg's interactions with students and employees. Mrs. Thomas questioned the district's focus on sports facilities and equipment over educational tools and expressed dissatisfaction with the board's handling of personnel matters.

Mrs. Thomas urged the board to address the community's concerns promptly, emphasizing the impact on student futures. She urged the board to take meaningful action and pointed out their personal agendas, emphasizing the need for accountability and transparency in decision-making.

Frank Johnson- Community Member

Mr. Johnson, reports he has been an Oroville resident for over 40 years, He expressed concern about staff changes within the school district and questioned the decision to let go of a qualified individual such as Mr. William Brown. Mr. Johnson advocated for the return of Mr. Brown, highlighting positive changes he made in a short time. Mr. Johnson emphasized the importance of dedicated educators like Mr. Brown, especially in helping troubled students. He raised concerns about the special education buses and urged the board to address issues. Mr. Johnson urged the board to prioritize student well-being, deliver high-quality education, and be proactive in meeting the needs of students and teachers.

Teisha Hase- Center for Independent Studies Teacher / OSTA President

Mrs. Hase expressed confusion over the unresolved situation of Mr. Brown being on leave. She acknowledged the rarity of exceptional employees, citing experiences with administrators, both negative and positive. Mrs. Hase highlighted an instance of a principal who had 17 grievances against him in the past. She raised concerns pointing out issues with a current manager who has high turnover rates and may be facing upcoming lawsuits, as well as violating board policies. Mrs. Hase commended Mr. Brown as an outstanding employee who garnered broad community and staff support in just six months. Mrs. Hase emphasized his skills as a communicator, unifier, and justice champion. She underscored Mr. Brown's role in mobilizing the community and schools for student success. Addressing potential ultimatums, Mrs. Hase urged the board to consider the impact of losing someone like Mr. Brown, emphasizing his exceptional leadership as the Superintendent.

Pastor Kevin Thompson

Pastor Thompson raises concerns about the lack of information regarding the decision to put Superintendent Brown on administrative leave. He emphasized the community's involvement and expressed a commitment to seeking resolution, even involving media outlets like the LA Times. Pastor Thompson urged the board to provide an explanation for Superintendent Brown's departure and emphasized the community's persistence in seeking answers.

Topic #4- Student Safety

Yvonne Jensen, ATC Para-Educator

Mrs. Jensen, expresses her concerns about the safety of Special Education students in the OUHSD district. She works with adult students with disabilities in the Adult Transition Center (ATC) program and brings up several safety issues with the transportation provided to these students. She reports the district replaced larger 10-passenger vans with smaller, older 8-passenger vans, which are in poor condition. The vans lack proper safety features such as functioning seat belts, 2-way radios, and cameras. Despite complaints and safety concerns raised to the transportation department, no action has been taken. Some vans have mechanical issues like shaking from warped rotors and cracked tires, which have been reported but not addressed. Mrs. Jensen feels that advocating for student safety leads to retaliation from the transportation department supervisor anytime the concerns are brought up. She questions why student safety isn't prioritized when staff members are subjected to strict background checks and drug tests. Mrs. Jensen urges the district to prioritize student safety and suggests visiting the program and experiencing the transportation firsthand. She also reflects on the leadership of Dr. Brown, who was proactive and involved with students, expressing a desire to see the district become the best in the county. Jensen believes this goal can be achieved with collaboration and a focus on student safety.

Topic #5- High School Counselors

Teisha Hase- Center for Independent Studies Teacher / OSTA President

Mrs. Hase expressed appreciation for OUHSD's acknowledgment of OSTA's involvement in the CTA presidential release time, noting that she had her first release day yesterday. Mrs. Hase also addressed concerns regarding the counseling situation at Las Plumas, where it has been proposed to delay hiring until next year using one-time funding. She emphasized that this marks the third consecutive school year of inadequate services for these students. Mrs. Hase finds this unacceptable, especially considering the available funds. She reports there is currently an intern working at Las Plumas, and suggested considering hiring that person. During discussions at the bargaining table, concerns were raised about finding a quality candidate. While it's possible no one may apply, we need to take that step to ensure our students receive the support they deserve this year.

Topic #6- Special Education / ATC

Judy Tatom- Adult Transition Center Teacher

Ms. Tatom addresses the board, emphasizing the importance of accountability among administrators. She mentions her ongoing efforts to collect data and her request for a CDE investigation. Despite consistently providing details since 2016, she finds it challenging to offer specific solutions due to her workload. Ms. Tatom brings attention to incidents such as a student being denied service learning minutes because of a malfunctioning wheelchair van, despite available alternatives. She calls for a closer examination of expenditures, noting an expense for headsets that were never received. Ms. Tatom stresses the necessity of transparency and honesty, expressing frustration with misplaced priorities, such as prioritizing a Ping-Pong table over essential supplies like vans and equipment.

HEARING OF INDIVIDUALS ON AGENDA ITEMS (None)

NON-ACTION INFORMATIONAL ITEMS AND REPORTS

5. Board Comments (None)

6. Superintendent

After the concerns raised at the last board meeting regarding the vans, Dr. Willenberg ensured the safety of all ATC vans by working with the transportation department in taking the vans to the Ford and Chevy dealerships for safety checks and routine maintenance. This included replacing tires, seat belts, and brakes, as well as servicing one of the vans by an OUHSD mechanic. Dr. Willenberg emphasizes the seriousness of student safety and mention that the new wheelchair vans are yet to be cleared for road use. Dr. Willenberg outlines upcoming events such as the LPHS mid-cycle WASC review, a supportive school climate meeting led by Mrs. Lynch, and the February break. Dr. Willenberg also mentioned upcoming tasks like publishing a community bulletin required by DOJ and a differentiated assistance meeting with BCOE to address areas of concern such as homeless graduate and English learner performance in math and ELA.

7. Administration

Mr. Wood discusses the upcoming LCAP stakeholder meetings and surveys to gather input from parents, students, staff, and the community. Listening sessions will be scheduled in February, and interviews with students will be conducted by BCOE. The new LCAP template is more metric-driven and includes a provision called the equity multiplier, which provides additional funding to schools with high student turnover rates or significant numbers of students on free or reduced lunch. Mr. Wood is currently working on incorporating these changes into the LCAP, including additional stakeholder meetings. Regarding THRIVE, meetings are being set up with site administration to implement the Portrait of The Graduate, with plans to discuss further in a full group meeting at the end of February.

Mrs. Watts reports that she and Dr. Willenberg attended the governor's budget conference in Sacramento, where they learned about the changing economic atmosphere in the state. The state is projecting a budget deficit for this year and the next, intending to use funds from the rainy day fund to cover these deficits. Concerns were raised about using one-time money to address ongoing deficits instead of implementing deficit cuts. However, there won't be any immediate reductions in funding for schools. The proposed funding includes the standard COLA, projected to be .76% next year. Mrs. Watts notes the district's recent influx of funds due to COVID relief but highlights potential challenges ahead, such as the loss of attendance deficit relief. She states as we prepare the budget for the next year, we will consider these factors and work to balance the budget accordingly, which will be different from previous years. We will diligently work to provide suggestions and recommendations to address these challenges.

8. DOJ Update

Dr. Willenberg reports that he has been collaborating with Mrs. Lynch to oversee the stipulated agreement, as she has been designated to manage the fifth year of implementation starting from July 1st.

They have shared the discipline data with the Department of Justice (DOJ), as well as with site and district administration. Virtual uniform complaint training is underway, facilitated by an attorney from Dannis, Woliver and Kelly via Zoom, ensuring all employees are trained for compliance with the DOJ stipulated agreement. Dr. Rubalcaba will return in February, after a planned visit on January 30th. The next virtual supportive School climate meeting is scheduled for February 5th at 4 PM, with the agenda to be distributed next week. There has been a decrease in suspensions for the month of December, with 24 students suspended district-wide; 9 at Prospect, 13 at Las Plumas, and 2 at Oroville. Referrals for discipline and mental health services have been made, with positive progress noted in reducing disciplinary issues compared to previous months.
