MARCH 2024

Message from the Principal

Dear Waggoner Families,

Spring is in the air, and it looks beautiful! We are currently in the middle of conferences; our teachers are excited to share updates with you. Our school Book Fair is in full swing this week, students have been enjoying buying some of their favorite books. We also were able to have an Illustrator visit with our students. Jim Paillot is the illustrator for the My Weird School Series and was able to give tips on how to start the process of illustrating as well as having confidence in yourself while practicing this art form. We have a busy first week of March! Our students will be celebrating Neurodiversity Day and “rocking their socks” on Monday, March 4. Our PE teacher, Mrs. Levy, and PTO have organized Field Day on Tuesday the 5th, don’t forget to wear tennis shoes and bring water. Our 4th graders have been working hard on their Wax Museum research and presentations, we are excited to see them on Wednesday, March 6. One Book One School will be ongoing this week as well. Our culminating activity will be Chalk Art Day on Friday, March 8, where our PTO volunteers and classroom teachers will end the week and kick start the beginning of Spring Break! I hope that you all have a very relaxing break, enjoy your time together.

Sincerely,
Marcie Romero
Principal

Illustrator, Jim Paillot, gave our Wildcats tips on the process of book illustration.

Kindergarten had fun with the Nerding STEM activities made possible with Tax Credit and PTO donations.
