No calculators will be provided to students, so be sure to bring an approved calculator to the examining session.

General Restrictions Concerning the Use of Calculators on the Exams:

- Telephones, pagers, calculator-watches, personal computers, and personal data assistants are not allowed in any subject examinations.
- Only the manufacturer's operating system may be used.
- Computer Algebra Systems Enabled (symbolic manipulation, whether inbuilt or programmed) calculators are not allowed.
- Calculators with wireless/infrared communication are not allowed.
- Examination questions must not be stored in or recorded into the memory of a calculator.
- Peripheral hardware must not be taken into the examination room.
- Calculators cannot be shared or exchanged during examinations.
- Calculator manuals cannot be taken into the exam room.
- More than one calculator per candidate can be brought into the exam room. However, a spare set of batteries is the preferable alternative to several calculators.
