High school and middle school students of the Gulfport School District may maintain and operate student councils, thus offering further opportunity for training in the democratic processes.

Such councils will assist in improving the general welfare of all students. The councils will have no authority to make policies for the District or regulations for the school. Nor will they have any disciplinary authority, except for recommending removal of one of their members from the council.

However, a council may make suggestions to the administration on any topic of student concern.
