

Enrollment Deadlines and FAFSA Delays

The Department of Education told colleges that FAFSA applications will not be sent to colleges until the middle of March, or maybe later. Students also will not get correction notifications until mid-March. Delays with FAFSA processing means your Student Aid Report (SAR) may not be sent to you until April or May. The SAR provides high-level estimates of your eligibility for federal student aid including grants, loans, and work study. The SAR will be emailed to you from noreply@fafsa.gov (if you provided your email address) or mailed to you and the colleges you indicated when you completed the FAFSA. Visit here for more information about the FAFSA. Visit here for more information about the SAR.

Once your college receives your SAR, they will process it and mail you an award letter. The award letter shows the financial aid package you are eligible to receive including scholarships from the college/university, grants, loans, and work study. The award letter will not show any private scholarships you win while still in high school. Information about private scholarships won (from Crater Foundation and any others you win that are not associated with the college you are enrolling in) should be sent to the college/university once you've committed to attend

Seniors should still complete their FAFSA, OSAC, and Oregon Promise applications right away. Students can submit OSAC and Oregon Promise before finishing FAFSA but will not be awarded anything until their FAFSA is processed.

- If you confirm enrollment and pay your deposit before receiving your financial aid award letter from OSU and realize you cannot attend due to financial reasons, you can still cancel your confirmation and get a refund until June 1st deadline.
- Enrollment Options for Late Applicants:

- E-campus
- Attend OSU Cascades and apply to transfer to Corvallis when room opens
- Defer a term (Winter/Spring enrollment in Corvallis with required housing is based on availability)
- Start at another college and transfer
- Exceptions to this list
  - If student lives within the 30 mile radius and is living at home
