Eagles Elementary School is hosting a Glow Party Literacy Night on Tuesday for the school's students and families. The Title I Literacy Night, featuring activities involving glow in the dark and neon glowing items, is hosted by the school's Family Engagement Team and Parent Teacher Association.

Participants will make glowing-in-the-dark bookmarks; design glow-bead bracelets with a message; write secret messages with an invisible ink pen and black light; play wall Boggle; complete a glowing reading scooter course; draw with neon glow; and read books with a glowing flashlight.

Students will receive glowing necklaces and bracelets to wear throughout the evening. Snacks will be provided to guests.
