PARENT-SCHOOL COMMUNICATION

Parents are important partners in our schools. Their input and awareness of our vision, goals and programs are the key to our success. To this end, school personnel will make every effort to keep parents informed about educational and co-curricular programs, policies, procedures and individual student progress.

From time to time, it is inevitable that parents will have questions and/or concerns about various issues. In such cases, the Board of Education believes that the best possible means of resolving any issue is to address it directly with the individual involved. If, after a good faith effort to resolve the issue at the point of origin, no resolution is reached, the matter may be directed to a building level supervisor and then, if necessary, to Central Office.

Different types of issues warrant the attention of different individuals within each school. Each school will publicize who parents should contact to address various issues in its annual handbook.
