Alex's Lemonade Stand Has Positive Message

By John Bodkin,
TuskerTribune Staff

This week's event was Alex's Lemonade Stand. It is a great foundation. The total number of donations as of today nationwide is $100 million dollars. The money is used it for 500 research projects.

To me the message Alek's lemonade stand is that children get cancer too and they are still changing and have special needs and I think that Alex's Lemonade Stand supports that to help children with cancer.

As you know, in advisory they gave you the basic run down of the charity but here are some facts that you did not know...

1) $50 will be used to fund one hour of research

2) $400 will be used to fund one day of research

3) $2,000 will be used to fund one week of research

4) $8,000 will be used to fund one whole moth of research

All these reasons are pretty good things and I think that every one should help and donate for kids who have cancer because life is important.
