SELF-CARE CORNER BY ELLIE FARRIBA

The way we communicate impacts our wellness. As educators, we possess the incredible power to shape young minds and create a positive learning environment. However, it is essential to remember that taking care of ourselves is just as crucial as caring for others.

SPEAK KINDLY TO YOURSELF: Think about your inner dialogue. Are you compassionate and understanding to yourself? Remember, self-talk plays a significant role in shaping our mindset and overall wellbeing. Treat yourself with kindness, acknowledge your accomplishments, and give yourself some grace during challenging times.

EMBRACE OPEN COMMUNICATION: Effective communication is essential in every aspect of life, especially in the classroom. It is also important to communicate openly and honestly with our colleagues. Express needs and concerns when necessary. Sharing our thoughts can lead to a supportive network that understands and lifts us up, fostering a healthier work environment.

SET BOUNDARIES: As educators, we are passionate about the work we do, often going above and beyond for our students. While dedication is admirable, it is vital that we set boundaries to protect our well-being. We need to communicate our limits to our colleagues, students, and administrators. Establishing healthy boundaries allows us to carve out time for self-care, relaxation, and rejuvenation. Always remember that self-care is not selfish; it is necessary for long-term effectiveness and fulfillment.

ACTIVE LISTENING FOR CONNECTION: Whether in the classroom, or with friends, family, or loved ones, we need to practice active listening and be fully engaged in conversations. Deep connections and meaningful conversations promote emotional well-being and positively impact our overall wellness.

SEEK SUPPORT: We need to surround ourselves with a support system that understands the unique challenges that educators face and can significantly contribute to our overall wellness. Taking care of ourselves is essential to providing the best education for our students. By nurturing our well-being through effective communication, we not only become a better educator but also a happier and healthier individual.

NURSE'S CORNER

This is a reminder regarding the administration of medications during the school day.

*No Prescription medications may be administered without proper authorization from a healthcare provider. Medical Authorization Forms are available in paper form from the nurse or online at www.bcsdk12.net under Departments => Students Affairs => School Nursing Services.

Depending upon the medical problem, the authorization may be in place for the entire school year. Each school year a new medication authorization form needs to be filled out and signed for Prescription Medications.

*Students may not self-medicate.

* All medications should be brought to the school by a responsible adult. Students may not bring or carry any type of medications on them, in napkins or in their backpack.

HABIT 3: PUT FIRST THINGS FIRST

Habit 3: Put First Things First is the exercise of independent will toward becoming principle-centered. Habit 3 is the practical fulfillment of Habits 1 and 2. Habit 1 says, "You are the creator. You are in charge." Habit 2 is the first mental creation, based on imagination, the ability to envision what you can become. Habit 3 is the second creation, the physical creation.

This habit is where Habits 1 and 2 come together. It happens day in and day out, moment-by-moment. It deals with many of the questions addressed around time management. But that's not all; habit 3 is about life management as well—your purpose, values, roles, and priorities. What are "first things?" First things are those things you find of most worth. If you put first things first, you are organizing and managing time and events according to the personal priorities you established in Habit 2.

WORD OF THE WEEK

caterwaul

verb

Click below to hear the pronunciation (using the Ctrl key)

cat·er·waul

What It Means

To caterwaul is to make a very loud and unpleasant sound. Caterwaul can also mean “to protest or complain noisily.”

Used in a sentence:

The woods were quiet until the sound of a chainsaw caterwauling in the distance broke the calm. They continue to caterwaul about having to take the blame.

CELEBRATING BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Each week during the month of February, key African Americans will be shared by email and in the POP Newsletter. Check your emails each Monday morning. Have a Fabulous Week!

In Celebration of Black History Month, the theme for 2024 is "African Americans and the Arts," it explores the key influence African Americans have had in the fields of "visual and performing arts, literature, fashion, folklore, language, film, music, architecture, culinary and other forms of cultural expression."

Information submitted by I. Daramanu Youth Apprenticeship Program Student.

Edmonia Lewis (1844-1907)

Also known by her Native American name, Wildfire, Mary Edmonia Lewis was the first professional African American and Native American sculptor. She grew up in New York then went to college in Ohio, but was met with hostility and racism, being accused of several crimes before leaving.

She found a teacher who helped her learn sculpture, and launched a successful career, making sculptures and busts of abolitionists. However, the praise she received often felt insincere, and she worried about being taken advantage of. Relocating to Rome, she found more artistic and spiritual freedom, and her career solidified. Her neoclassical style of sculpture, and passion for abolitionist causes, can be seen in many pieces, such as 'Forever Free'.
