A note from Mrs Allan

It has been good to finally see more outdoor learning happen this week, now the sun is out!

This week we have started our new PSHE scheme -it is called Jigsaw. Each half-term there is a different theme, that all year groups will be learning about. This half term our theme is 'Relationships'.

Mindfulness (including Jelli Cat!) underpins the scheme-we will share our new learning with you on Dojo very soon!

On the curriculum page of our website, you will find the half termly learning overviews for each class-please take a look.

Have a great weekend!

We have been made aware of unsafe videos circulating the internet and social media apps. Parents are reminded that children's use of mobile devices and social media should always be supervised.

Most of a child's access to such content happens out of the school day, so we are asking parents for their help in ensuring children are being safe online.

You can find out more on the NSPCC website.

Is your child eating healthy?

We understand that children can be fussy or parents might be in a rush however we have seen a significant rise in the amount of 'convenience' or unhealthy snacks children are bringing into school.

A child's diet will massively affect their cognitive development and ability to concentrate. Every meal and snack matters and it is the fuel that provides your child's body with the nutrients it needs to have a successful day.

Snacks and breakfasts such as chocolate brioche or biscuits do not give our brains the fuel it needs to start the day.

We will be sharing healthier snack alternatives every week for some inspiration.

Let's Talk Snacks!

This weeks healthier snack idea is Popcorn!

Although you may think it is a junk food, popcorn is actually a really nutritious whole grain. Just don't load it with sugary toppings!

Letter from King Charles!

In October last year, Year 6 pupils learnt about palm oil production and its impact upon our environment.

As a result, pupils chose to write to influential figures to try to persuade them to end the use of palm oil in everyday products. This week we received a reply from King Charles! He has written to assure children that environmental issues are at the top of his priorities and to thank them for their concern.

 WALT: Explore the impact of human activity on the environment.
 Dear King Charles III
 I wanted to write to you because I want to talk about the product palm oil that comes from the fruit of the palm oil tree. The reason I just wanted to speak to you just you is because I heard that you like speaking about these types of topics.
 Pollution
 Even though palm oil is a ^{ingredient} ⁱⁿ most foods and products the average human being is causing air pollution when people plant some palm oil. All they have to do is plant for example the Amazon how you may know this cause air pollution well I am getting to this part now. In Singapore schools are having to be closed down because of the palm oil trees being burnt down.
 The Appendix:
 Like I said in the second paragraph palm oil is in most foods and products like butter, shampoo and rice but they come in different forms. I think that it should be clearer that there's palm oil in the product.
 Your sincerely
 Georgia Maguire.

 WALT: Explore the impact of human activity on the environment.
 Dear King Charles,
 Today I am writing to inform you of the devastating effects that palm oil production is having on our environment. Before reading mine I want to let you know what palm oil is. Palm oil is in nearly every product we buy at the shops like Shampoo, bread and chocolate. It is the most used oil in the world.
 Deforestation is causing a lot of what I tell you that palm oil is one of the major problems with the destruction of the Amazon Rainforest. How may you ask? Well when people found out about the oil palm they started to cut down trees and plant palm oil. Then they had to cut down trees to plant more oil palms. The animal was not living in palm oil, now every single day 28 Orangutans die from losing their homes. It has caused oil in 200 years and the whole rainforest is destroyed with such a fast rate. Nearly every animal is getting extinct there is only 173,000 Amazonian jaguars left now.
 Pollution is getting horrible now but we are losing trees. If they keep on burning trees then there will be no trees. They will be hard to breathe. Now 200,000 hectares of the rainforest are being burned in the Amazon each day. Without trees we are losing oxygen. The earth is getting so hot not only animals are dying we might die too. We don't have oxygen. Schools in Singapore are closing because of air pollution.
 Child labour is happening now children as young as eight are being exploited to work when they should.

 WALT: Explore the impact of human activity on the environment.
 Dear King Charles III,
 I am writing to inform you about the big consequences of palm oil. Collecting is having an effect on our environment. Why we have to stop the trees, half 50% of a supermarket has things with palm oil in them and sometimes I don't even know what it is in it. The oil comes from a large range of countries now including the Amazon rainforest. We want all the palm oil so much we are cutting down trees to plant palm trees which is hurting our planet. Please help.
 Firstly, because of people cutting and burning down trees, 25 orangutans a day are dying. Deforestation will make a variety of animals extinct including orangutans and Amazonian jaguars. There are only 173,000 jaguars left, only 173,000 left. If we keep doing deforestation for palm oil, in 200 years there will be no rainforest left.
 Secondly, this is also polluting our air. A form of pollution making climate change even worse. In 2015, the hope from Indonesia for its highest land, close to forest fires that are caused by people burning down trees for palm oil. Over 200,000 hectares of rainforest is burned in the Amazon each day, making bad things go into the air that destroys our earth. You have to defend and help our home.
 Also, palm oil production is creating child labour. In 2016, children as young as eight were being used to collect palm oil. They are working they are missing out on school which is affecting their lives.

Be the best you can be!
