- There are no custody papers.
- There are no custody papers but there is a pending divorce/separation/paternity action.

By checking one of the boxes directly above, I acknowledge that both parents listed above have access to the student listed above. This includes access to educational records, access to his/her teacher, the right to eat lunch with the student, the right to check the student out of school, and the right to withdraw the student from school without the permission of the other parent (FERPA 1974).

I also understand that if there is any legal action or should there be any in the future, I am responsible for providing the school a final order that addresses custody and educational arrangements.
